

ROGERS TIMIDLY OFFERS IDEA ON RUNNING PRISON

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 13.—Uncle Joe Grundy, born on Sunday, started lobbying on Monday, investigated on Tuesday, made a senator on Wednesday, investigated on Thursday, back to lobbying on Friday, got tariff raised on Saturday, and that's not near the end of Uncle Joe Grundy. Some new plan has to be worked out in our prison system. Of course this may be a radical suggestion, but couldn't they fix some way where the guards carried the guns instead of the prisoners?

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

THIS IS DECEMBER 13—DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY SATURDAY MORNING.

Pa New would like to have a new railroad station in its stocking even it is hung up on Christmas eve.

This was anything but a Christmas looking day. With a heavy downpour of rain during the night, there was a misty hangover this morning and the temperature was mild, nearly 50 degrees.

Pa New noted that the street cleaners were equipped with brand new steel brooms in their work yesterday. Fine.

And by the way, the weatherman seems to have taken a hand in this program of scrubbing the streets prior to the holidays.

An immense Christmas tree has been erected near the east side Pennsylvania station, in preparation for the east side programs. Merchants in that district have an excellent Christmas program planned.

Today is Friday, the 13th, but one scarcely needs to worry about passing under any ladders, as little outside work is being done today on account of the weather.

Pa New could rather see another cold snap come along than have to bear with this kind of weather. It is not healthful and far more disagreeable. Much sickness has resulted, doctors report.

Some idea of the benefit which will result from the removal of the Rosena dam can be seen this morning. Although almost an inch of rain fell during the night, the rise in the stream is barely noticeable, due to the fact that the water is being carried away at a rapid rate. The rate of the stream has been increased materially.

This is Friday, the 13th. It will be lucky for those who get their Christmas shopping done early.

The weather man doesn't seem to be able to decide what kind of weather he wants to give us. It rains, then it stops, and rains again.

The detour on the New Castle-Elkwood road at Cascade park is still in use. It was hoped that this detour could be eliminated before winter, but

Decorative Lighting System To Burn Until After Holidays

With all arrangements completed for the turning on of the current in the Christmas lighting system, members of the committee in charge are looking forward to this evening with some apprehension, because of the rainy conditions which prevailed early today.

It was announced this morning that the program as mapped out will be carried out only in the event of favorable weather. If it rains, the program will be abandoned, but snow will not interfere.

The program as arranged by the committee will start promptly at 7:30. At this hour, the fire whistle will be blown, and Mayor W. H. Gillespie will throw the switch turning on the lights. At the same time, bands stationed on various sections adjacent to the business section will march to the Diamond, where they will converge.

Choruses To Sing

Here, a program will be carried out, with three choruses of children, rendering Christmas numbers. Rev. C. B. Winger, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, will deliver the invocation, following which he will make a few remarks. The program will be opened with the playing of America by the Senior High School band at 7:45.

At 7:50, the Children of the Margaret Henry Home, under the direction of Miss Margaret Henry will sing

REVOLVERS KEPT IN CONFINEMENT

Durnford Praised

(International News Service)
AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 13.—With "iron handed" firmness, Auburn prison officials continued their search today for eight pistols which, it is believed, convict survivors of the violent jailbreak attempt that took nine lives Wednesday hid away for future use.

Four pistols were found in the prison, two during the day yesterday and two last night, after prison guards aided by troopers scoured many out of the way crevices inside the prison. Prison authorities are certain that twelve pistols were used by ringleaders of the convict mutiny in their daring but vain struggle for freedom.

Close Confinement

Meanwhile punitive close confinement is rigidly enforced. All meals are being served the convicts in their cells. No exercise periods are granted. These rules will be kept in effect until the missing pistols are found.

Seven convict survivors of the sanguinary battle for freedom are facing first degree murder indictments for the killing of George A. Durnford, principal keeper of the prison who was slain right at the outset of the outbreak.

Probes Under Way

Two investigations into the cause of the outbreak, the second to occur here within six months, are in progress. The results of the investigation will be used as evidence in punishing surviving leaders of the jailbreak.

One investigation is being conducted by the Department of Correction. The other is being made by District Attorney Ben Kenyon of Cayuga Co. who expects to ask the Grand Jury

Debate On Dress Length Before Women Is Draw

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The first open forum debate on the burning question of the hour, shall dresses be long or short, had ended in a draw today.

The long and short of the issue was fought out here yesterday before 600 women in a debate sponsored by the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

For two hours the battle waged bitterly, but courteously, the feature being talks by Gertrude Lawrence, actress, and Rita Weiman, playwright.

"Suggestion," declared Miss Lawrence, clad in the long, clinging mode of the moment, "is more effective than revelation." "We must not become meal tickets for foreign style mongers," countered Miss Weiman.

JURY DELIBERATES
SEVENTEEN HOURS

Prosecution Moves To Drop
All Charges Against Miner Following
Verdict's Reading

By WILLIAM C. McILVAINE
International News Service Staff
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Salvatore Accorsi, former Cheswick, Pa. miner

today walked from the court house a free man. He was formally acquitted of charges of slaying State Trooper John J. Downey, when the jury of 11 men and one woman reached a verdict shortly before 11 o'clock today after deliberating more than 17 hours.

Drop All Charges

Immediately after the verdict of acquittal was returned, Assistant District Attorney George P. Langfitt announced that all charges against Accorsi would be dropped and the case considered closed. In addition to the indictment for first degree murder, Accorsi was also charged with voluntary manslaughter.

Accorsi, who testified in his own defense that he had not been at Acmetonia, Pa., on August 22, 1927, when Downey was shot and killed while assisting fellow troopers in dispersing a Sacco-Vanzetti protest meeting, was greeted joyfully by his wife and three children after the favorable verdict. He was arrested while working on Staten Island last June, having moved there, according to his own testimony, when he was unable to obtain work in and near Russellton, Pa., where he said he had lived with his brother, John Accorsi, for several months after Downey was shot.

Deliberate 17 Hours

Two witnesses for the commonwealth, Sergeant W. M. Brown of the Greensburg barracks of the state police, and Andy Copalan, a miner who testified that he had witnessed the shooting of Downey, had identified Accorsi in court as the man who had fired the three shots that ended Downey's life.

The defense, however, called a veritable stream of witnesses who testified that Accorsi had spent most of that day working on his automobile in the yard of the home of his brother at Russellton. Accorsi repeated this story when he took the witness stand. The case was given to the jury late yesterday and after deliberating for more than 17 hours returned the verdict that freed Accorsi.

Smith Visits At Washington, Seeks Big Mooring Mast

Cigar As He Visits
Washington

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—His Famous Brown Derby cocked jauntily on his head, and the inevitable cigar tilted upward in a corner of his mouth, Ex-Governor Al. Smith came to Washington today to see about getting some governmental cooperation in the construction of a dirigible mooring mast atop the towering New Waldorf Hotel which is to be built in New York.

Although he is a business man now, and his trip to the Capital has no connection with politics, the former Democratic candidate found it utterly impossible to escape the crowds and the spotlight of public attention that have been his lot in recent years.

Cheered to Echo

When the former governor showed up at the Navy Department at 10:15 o'clock for a conference with Secretary of the Navy Adams, he found the crowded hall, gathering in volume until it became a veritable bedlam of cheers and hand-clapping.

So great was the crush in the halls that Gov. Smith could hardly get through to the door of Secretary Adams' office. He was escorted by police, and they with the guards about the building, finally cleared a narrow passageway after much shoving and pushing.

Embarrassed Somewhat

"Al" took it with his customary grin, although he plainly was somewhat embarrassed at it all.

"Hey," he said once, "this is a business trip." The former governor came to the Capital in the private car of his friend, "Bill" Kenney, which he used to extensively during the campaign. He left New York at midnight, and arrived in Washington early this morning. He plans to return to New York this afternoon.

Despite the early hour of his arrival, there was a small crowd at the station to see him, and when the familiar brown derby hove into view there was cheering and hand-clapping. He walked through the station and climbed into a taxicab.

"Al's" lack of familiarity with Washington caused him to be slightly

LEGISLATION CHANGING FEDERAL PRISON SYSTEM IS GIVEN TO CONGRESS

Both Branches Of Congress
Get Legislation Reorganizing Federal Prisons System

Recent Riots In Prisons Show
Need For Immediate Attention; Must Enlarge Buildings

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The Hoover administration's plan for a sweeping reorganization of the federal prison system was laid before both houses of congress today with pledges of prompt consideration. Sen. Norris (R) of Nebraska and Rep. Graham (R) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the judiciary committee of the senate and house, have introduced the legislation.

Attorney General Mitchell is expected to take the lead in the movement for enactment of five separate measures, aided by Sanford Bates, who was chosen superintendent of prisons to effect a reorganization.

To End Congestion.
The program is designed to end congestion in prisons, condemned by a special house investigating committee, provide employment, revamp the parole system and broaden the power of the department of justice to effect emergency changes.

Although the administration's reorganization plan has been in the making for some time.

Execute Officials For Profiteering

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—Fourteen Soviet officials were executed at Astrakhan after being convicted of profiteering in the sale of caviar and speculating with municipal funds, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Tiflis stated today.

Five peasants also were executed at Preluki, in the Ukraine district, after being convicted of concealing grain and aiding others in burning grain supplies in order to keep the price up, the dispatch added.

Tax Reduction Plans Taken Up Before Senate

Grundy Now Formally Enrolled As Senator From

TAX REDUCING BILL

Grundy Silent Through All
Of Attacks Upon Him
On Thursday

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—

Administration leaders in the senate planned to lay aside the tariff bill to consider tax reduction while welcoming Joseph R. Grundy, the new junior senator from Pennsylvania, into its midst.

Grundy was formally enrolled as a senator, but a resolution declaring him not entitled to retain his seat was pending before the senate committee on privileges and elections. It declared Grundy should be ousted because he contributed $410,000 to the campaign fund of Gov. John S. Fisher in that three million-dollar Pennsylvania primary of 1926. This was the primary, in which William S. Vare won a senatorial nomination but in which he spent so much money the senate finally refused to seat him.

To Reject Resolution

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Nye (R) of N. D., will be rejected in the end, since a majority of the senate has declared the appointing power of Governor Fisher cannot be questioned. It will serve however as a foil for debate in the future over Grundy's appointment by Fisher, a debate which raged for three hours in the senate yesterday before the oath was administered to the senator-designate.

The epithets applied to Grundy and Fisher were without precedent in the senate's recent history. In the past, senators spoke of Harry F. Sinclair, Albert B. Fall and Charles R. Forbes with far less severity. Through it all, Grundy sat silent, gagged by the senate's rules.

Today, however, he will be able to speak on a par with other senators, but the rules will prevent him from replying in like terms. It may have been a mere coincidence but the critics of Grundy could denounce him in such violent terms only so long as he was not a member. They did so yesterday but henceforth they must observe all the senatorial courtesies toward him and may never impugn his motives.

Will Watch Closely

The senate will watch closely the battle in Pennsylvania between Vare and Grundy for the Republican senatorial nomination, next May.

Vare Recovering At Atlantic City

(International News Service)
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 13.—William S. Vare, who is here after his futile fight for recognition by the Senate as senator from Pennsylvania, was resting comfortably today. Mrs. Vare told newspapermen today.

She said that Mr. Vare spent a restful night in his Chicago home, and that he was quite cheerful.

Arthur Mometer

There's a hitch somewhere in the weather plan, and somebody must be wrong. Just a few weeks ago we had winter here, with a cast that was going strong. Then along came spring with its April showers, with a run of a couple of weeks, and now we're afraid that we'll get a flood from the constantly rising creeks. It's weather like this so the poets say that bring out the flowers in May, but what of December that offers the same, it's high fifty-eight today. For whoever heard of the flowers out in the closing months of the year, as I said before there has been a mistake, and some one is wrong, I fear.

Caliphs Have Big Ceremonial

Hundred And Fifty Candidates Initiated Into Mysteries

In spite of rain and fog and icy roads to the north, the Caliphs of Bagdad drew their usual large crowd Thursday evening, Dec. 12, when the fall ceremonial was held in the Cathedral.

An estimate of the attendance was 1,500, with about 150 of the crowd as candidates. Chief Caliph Howard B. Richards officiated for the evening and saw that the candidates for the degrees were cared for well. Among some few there is a suspicion today that his attentions were a little too well done.

Following the degree work a program of entertainment was presented, with a group of vaudeville artists showing their wares. The entertainment was the equal of that of a big city theater and was enjoyed thoroughly.

Closing the evening was a buffet lunch in the dining room, with candidates and members alike doing their share of wreckage. The roads out of Franklin, Emlenton and Oil City were covered with a thin coat of ice, according to the weather department of the Caliphs of Bagdad, and this held down the crowd somewhat.

FALSE ALARM IS SOUNDED LAST NIGHT

Apparently it will remain. It is not in the best of shape. There were no lights on the temporary bridge last night and it was really a hazard to traffic with the fog and rain.

LEGISLATION CHANGING FEDERAL PRISON SYSTEM

ing for a long time, the riot of last summer at Leavenworth and riots at state prisons have added to the determination of the justice department to obtain changes in the law.

Program Mapped Out

The program includes: Building of three new prisons, one west of the Mississippi, two east of it. Creation of a single board of parole to replace present system of a board for each institution composed of officers with other duties.

Authorizing employment of prisoners in building roads and in national parks and their loan to states for public works purposes; authorizing of maintenance of road prison camps.

Building of new institution for criminal insane, now used at St. Elizabeth's, Washington, D. C., which is overcrowded.

Authorize establishment of temporary jails if local or state authorities refuse temporary jailing of prisoners awaiting trial.

Increased funds for ending offenders, as one means of ending present congestion in federal prisons.

The proposal to permit general employment in prisons is regarded as one of the most sweeping changes. Of 11,000 prisoners in federal institutions but 2,000 now have regular employment, according to Superintendent Bates. A canvas bag factory is maintained at Atlanta and shoes are made at Leavenworth.

The employment law is hedged with restrictions designed to reduce competition with free labor to a minimum. The proposed new law makes it the duty of the attorney general to provide employment for all physically fit inmates.

Would Use Labor

Use of prisoners in building roads is particularly desired in public parks and through public lands in the west. It is understood. Prisoners could be used in building levees on the Mississippi river and for other flood control work.

More liberality in the parole system to reduce congestion is predicted by prison authorities if a single parole board is created. Over 9,000 cases were heard last year by the various parole boards, which include wardens and prison physicians. The boards have been unable to give prompt attention to all demands for parole. It is asserted.

TAX REDUCTION PLANS TAKEN UP BEFORE SENATE

ed up in the senate today for immediate enactment.

The senate laid aside the tariff bill temporarily to give a $160,000,000 tax slash as a Christmas gift to the American people.

The tax bill was taken up by unanimous consent, Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, making the request. He announced he expected its passage before night fall.

The only important amendment pending was one proposed by Senator Couzens (R) of Mich., to extend the tax reduction to capital gains and losses. He suggested a slash in this tax from 12 1/2 to 10 per cent to be effective in 1931.

Grundy On Job

Washington, Dec. 13.—Joseph R. Grundy, the grand daddy of all lobbyists got to work on time today as he assumed his new duties as junior senator from Pennsylvania.

Grundy was one of the first senators on the senate floor when that body convened at 11 o'clock. He was accompanied again by Senator Reed (R) of Penna., and was warmly greeted by a number of his new colleagues.

The senate's reception was very friendly, both Grundy and his critics apparently "forgetting" the tirade of abuse heaped on him yesterday.

His presence gave the senate a full quota of 96 senators for the first time since the fall of 1926 when the late Senator McKinley (R) of Illinois, died in office. From then until Grundy took his oath, the highest membership of the senate has been 95 while at times it fell as low as 93.

Meets Robinson

Grundy was all smiles as he entered upon his senatorial duties. One of the first to greet him was Senator Elaine (R) of Wisconsin, who directed a fire of questions at Grundy when the latter was a witness in the lobby probe. They chatted together for ten minutes with all the appearance of being old time friends. Then Reed brought Senator Robinson (R) of Arkansas, the minority member, across the chamber and introduced him to Grundy. Again the Pennsylvanian was all smiles.

The new senator took his seat, the last in the last row at the extreme left corner of the chamber. There was a pile of books on his desk and Grundy picked up the top one. It was a copy of the tariff bill and he looked it over casually as though meeting a well known friend.

Grundy listened to debate for a while and then disappeared through the cloak room doors—just like a veteran senator.

The meeting is open to all church members and is being held each Friday evening for the next three months, with speakers from various denominations speaking on the subject of "The Higher Christian Life."

Open Gas Light Causes Blaze

Damage Of $300 Sustained In Fire In Dewey Avenue Home Last Evening

Third ward firemen and Truck B. from Central station were called to the home of E. R. Leasure of 1112 Dewey avenue at 5:35 last evening, by an alarm from Box 33, where it was found that an open gas light had set fire to the home.

There was a brisk blaze in progress when the firemen arrived on the scene, but it was soon headed off and extinguished.

It is believed that a curtain hanging near the gas light became ignited, and set fire to clothing in a clothes press, which the curtain covered. The walls and ceiling ignited and the flames were heading for the attic when the firemen arrived on the scene.

Damage of $100 to the house and $200 to the contents was estimated by Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn.

Sergeant George H. Sullivan, acting warden of the prison continuing in charge, Warden Edgar S. Jennings, who was captured by the convicts and held hostage before being rescued by state troopers, has returned to his quarters in the prison but is still felling the effects of tear gas he inhaled and a blow he received in the struggle which resulted in his rescue.

Sullivan is determined to make the convicts regret the killing of Durnford whom he termed the bravest, squarest man in the state. He has asserted that they need expect no leniency while he is in charge.

Federal services for Durnford will be held Saturday afternoon. He will receive military honors as he was captain of the headquarters company of the 108th Regiment, N. Y. National Guard.

ly tardy for his conference with Secretary Adams. He told the taxi-driver he wanted to go to the State, War and Navy Building, and the obedient taxi-driver promptly deposited him there—just across the street from the White House.

Then it developed that where the ex-governor really wanted to go was to the Navy Department, the Navy having moved out of the state, War and Navy Building, some eleven years ago. By this time, the taxicab had departed.

"Oh, let's walk," said "Al" after getting directions. So trailed by a small crowd, he left a swift pace down Seventeenth street, past Memorial Hall, and the Pan-American building to the new home of the Navy.

So late was ex-governor for his conference with Secretary Adams, that their talk necessarily had to be brief, for Adams had to hurry away for the usual 10:30 meeting of the Cabinet at the White House.

Sitting in the conference with Smith and Adams were Assistant Secretaries Jahncke and Ingalls, and Rear Admiral Wm. A. Moffett, chief of naval aviation.

"Heark, Heark, the Angels." At 8 o'clock, the St. Mary's Boys Choir under Rev. Father Clifford will sing several numbers, followed by music by several numbers by the children of Sts. Philip and James' Polish church under Rev. Father Stancelewski.

Musical numbers will also be rendered by the bands.

Bart Richards will be chairman of the evening and will make the announcements.

Turn On Lights

In the event of rain, the program will be called off entirely, but the merchants will unveil their windows as planned, and the lighting system will be turned on.

The Chamber of Commerce has offered a prize of $25 to the best decorated Christmas window in the downtown section.

Work of installing the lights is completed. The system extends from the West end of the Diamond to the East Washington street bridge, and up North Mill street between Washington and North.

DIRECTORS WILL MEET

New directors of the New Castle Fair association will meet at their headquarters on S. Croton avenue this evening. Last Friday evening an organization meeting occurred and a report was given of the progress of the stock selling.

BUILDING WALL

Mulcahy Bros. have commenced working on the erection of the retaining wall along Neshannock creek at the end of Apple Alley.

At Berlin, Md. they were the guests of their son Paul Rhodes, who is the proprietor of a large mercantile business at that place. At Piedmont, W. Va., they visited their son, Prof. Cyrus Rhodes, superintendent of the Piedmont schools. After spending several days in Washington, D. C., they returned by way of Philadelphia where they visited at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Blanche Kay. Weather at the southern points was very cold for this season of the year, according to Mr. Rhodes.

Foundation Being Laid For Church

Weather In Past Few Days Delays Work On New Epworth M. E. Church

When the weather permits, work of laying the foundation for the new Epworth M. E. church proceeds very rapidly. The past several days, however, it has been impossible to do any work because of the weather conditions.

The work will take several weeks, according to George Lusk, contractor, if the weather does not enable the men to work every day.

The new church will be erected at the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue.

Excavation work was completed last Monday.

Ministers Will Meet Monday In Y

The Ministerial Association of New Castle will hold their regular session Monday at 10 a. m. in the Y. M. C. A. The paper for the day will be read by Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church on "Christmas and the Cross," an appropriate topic for the season.

There will be a report of the committee on religious books in the public library. All ministers attending are asked to suggest authors and books to this committee.

HONOR AGED MEMBER FOR ANNIVERSARIES

The Women's Missionary Society of the Jerusalem Lutheran church gathered as a surprise Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Taylor, near Preston, in celebration of two anniversaries that marked this week for her. She was 83 years old on Monday of this week and her 62nd wedding anniversary occurred Thursday, Dec. 12.

Her daughter, Mrs. William Harlan, was in charge of arrangements for the affair. During the afternoon the members finished a quilt for the orphan's home in Zelnople and also decided to donate a gift of money to the home for Christmas.

A delicious dinner was served to the women at noon. The society will next meet at the home of Mrs. William Harlan near Preston on January 8.

1919 Kensington

Mrs. James Jackamo entertained the members of the 1919 Kensington in her home on Ray street Thursday evening. The hours were socially spent in needlework and music. Mrs. Paul Smith was a special guest.

At a seasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Christoffer and Miss Florence Benadict. Luncheon was served in Christmas colors and suggestions.

The next meeting of the club will be their Christmas party on December 23 with Mrs. W. H. Rodgers of Fairmont Avenue.

Announce Engagement

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Chester Grigsby, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Grigsby, 322 East North street, to Miss Helen Moseley of Chicago. Both Miss Moseley and Mr. Grigsby are graduates of Michigan University. Mr. Grigsby is employed by the American Steel Foundry in Chicago.

The wedding date has not been announced.

POST GRADUATE CLASS HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Post Graduate class of the First Methodist church held their annual Christmas dinner in the church dining room Thursday evening at 6:30. A miniature Christmas tree formed the centerpiece and small lighted candles in green holders marked places for 26.

Miss Weiss, one of the deaconesses, was a special guest. After dinner a business session was held and officers for the coming year were elected. The tally of ballots showed those chosen to be:

President—Bernice Sloan.
Vice President—Ellen Wood.
Secretary—Agnes Freeman.
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Harry Thompson.
Treasurer—Ethel Pabst.
Business Manager—Harry Thompson.

The committee in charge of the dinner arrangements included Fred Armstrong, David Bollard, Winifred Horan, Lena Sloan, Sylvia Shaffer and Irene and Mina Mathews.

The church parlors were beautifully decorated with Christmas greens and candles, soft lights from the candles being the only lights used throughout the evening.

Mrs. Carl Myers led the carol singing, with Mrs. William Thomas at the piano. Mrs. C. E. Dean gave a number of readings in her original manner that were greatly enjoyed.

A playlet, "The Reformed Christmas," was cleverly put on by the members of Mrs. Robert Meerman's class. Mrs. Meerman was assisted by Mrs. DeLace Cole and the members of the caste were Gretchen and Dorothy Myers, Louise Mitchell, Mildred Layton, Rosalie Gurgio and the teacher, Mrs. Meerman.

At the close of the program Mrs. W. L. Beal and her committee served light refreshments.

O. D. 500 Club

The O. D. Five Hundred club met Thursday evening with Mrs. Harvey Davies of Dushane street. This was the club Christmas party and gifts were exchanged. Mrs. W. C. Klingensmith was a special guest.

The evening was spent in five-hundred. Prizes were won by Mrs. R. Wehman, Mrs. Russell Crane, Mrs. Louis McKnight. The club prize was awarded Mrs. R. Wehman.

At a seasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Announcement of the next meeting of the club will be made later.

Mary A. Ralph Class Party

The Mary A. Ralph Class of the Highland United Presbyterian church held their annual Christmas party in their rooms in the church Thursday evening with 30 members present. A Christmas tree and exchange of gifts featured the meeting.

The class decided upon filling a number of Christmas baskets for some needy that were brought to their attention.

After an evening spent in good fellowship the committee in charge of arrangements served a delicious lunch.

P. O. E. Sisterhood Meeting

N. C. T. CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The members of the N. C. T. club enjoyed a Christmas party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Turner, Arlington avenue. During the evening two tables of 500 were in play and high scores were held by Mrs. Trevor Richards and Mrs. Louis Leddy, for which they were presented with lovely prizes. The club prize was awarded to Mrs. Earl Keefer.

After play the guests were invited to the dining room where the table was cleverly decorated with appointments suggesting the Christmas season, places being marked with dainty favors in red and green. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

During the business meeting officers were chosen to serve during the coming year. Mrs. Carl Turner will act as president, Mrs. Jack Haupt secretary, Mrs. Louis Leddy treasurer, and Mrs. Sol Davies will do the reporting.

L. C. B. A. Meeting.

Regular monthly meeting of the L. C. B. A. branch 467 of St. Joseph's church occurred at the church hall Thursday December 12, at 8 o'clock.

This being the last meeting of the year the officers for 1930 were elected. Mrs. Edna Fyfe was again elected president; Mrs. J. Segers was re-elected first vice president and Mrs. James Brown second vice president.

Mrs. Clara Mariacher was re-elected recorder and Mrs. Metz assistant recorder. Miss Frances Costello was elected financial secretary and Mrs. Katterson as treasurer. Miss Adelaide Frey was elected marshal and Mrs. Brochart is again guard. The trustees are Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. A. Krueger, Mrs. Stroebel, Mrs. Scott and Miss Virginia Katterson.

Plans were made for a Christmas party to be held December 17. The committee in charge are Mrs. L. Frey, Mrs. A. Brown, Miss Frances Costello and Miss Adelaide Frey.

After the election of new officers a short speech on the success of the branch was given by the Rev. Fr. A. Weissenger spiritual adviser of the branch. Meeting adjourned at 9:45 with prayer.

Intermediates Meet

The Intermediate mission study class of the Third United Presbyterian church met last evening at the home of Lucille Kison, 326 East Wallace avenue, for their regular study period. Dr. T. J. McPate took up the fifth chapter of the study book, "The Promise," and reviewed it in an interesting and capable manner. At the close of the study period a caterer lunch was served by the hostess mother.

A social hour was enjoyed during which the artistic ability of the guests was tested by being given slips of paper with names of songs written on, which they were to illustrate on a blackboard. Much amusement was caused by this stunt.

Cooper-Davis Nuptials.

The marriage of Ruth Ida Cooper daughter of Mrs. Maude Cooper of 13 East Laclede avenue, Youngstown, to George James Davis of New Castle was solemnized by Rev. Frank W. Sayers in the First Baptist church Thursday at noon.

The couple were unattended and returned to the home of the bride's mother for a wedding dinner. The bride was groomed in blue georgette with a silver cloth hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis left on a trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco and upon their return after the holidays will reside on Florence street, this city. Mr. Davis is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Simple Simon Club.

Simple Simon Stitch club met last night at the home of Misses Eleanor and Patricia Adams. The hour was spent in sewing.

One new member was taken in, Miss Elaine Hall. At 5:30, a very delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Adams. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Betty Kirtley in the form of a Christmas party when the girls will exchange gifts.

There will be no meeting during Christmas week. Further announcements will be made later.

Rambling Rose Club

Miss Sophie Ziemicki, South Jefferson street, entertained the Rambling Rose Club at her home Wednesday evening. Sewing and chat were the diversions of the evening and later dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ziemicki.

Miss Mary Jaskiel, Hanna street, will entertain in three weeks.

M. B. O. Club Luncheon

The M. B. O. club met for a one o'clock luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. C. Burnside, Highland avenue. Covers were laid for 11 at attractively appointed tables.

During the afternoon Christmas gifts were exchanged among the members and a social time enjoyed.

ART CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS TEA

Mrs. Charles Greer of North Jefferson street was hostess to the members of the Art Club in her home on Thursday afternoon for the annual Christmas tea. There were 31 members and several guests present. The home was artistically decorated in keeping with the yuletide season.

At the business session the petunia was selected as the club flower and three new members were added to the roll, Mrs. P. H. Bridenbaugh, Mrs. Fred Halthorn and Mrs. Edwin Wilson.

An interesting program was in charge of Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, who introduced Mrs. R. C. Lutz, whose paper on "Exterior Christmas Decorations" was highly enjoyed. She emphasized the use of colors found in nature. Miss Jane Emery was the guest speaker and demonstrated mantel decoration and a short talk on the Christmas color scheme.

During the social hour gifts were exchanged and prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Hodgkinson and Mrs. S. D. Pearson for the most artistically wrought gifts.

Dainty refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Roy Conner, Mrs. Effie Eakin, Mrs. E. J. Conner and Mrs. Thomas Elliott.

The next meeting will be January 16 in the senior high auditorium, when the club will join with other clubs of the city in presenting Homer St. Gaudens, one of the foremost lecturers of the country.

Class Meeting.

Open Door Bible class of the Third U. P. church met Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Minick of 1408 Hamilton street.

After a business meeting the class presented the teacher, Mr. Minick, with a lovely gift. There followed a social hour of games and music and a Christmas gift exchange. Later dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nowak, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Millison and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burdett and daughter Phyllis, Mrs. Claire Lutz and son Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. George Kuder and daughter Dolores, Willard Tribby and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Minick.

E. N. C. Club Party.

Covers were placed for 10 Thursday night at the home of Mrs. E. N. C. club in her home for a 1 o'clock luncheon. The table was artistically trimmed with evergreen and holy, with mistletoe being the featured decoration it being the gift of a former member Mrs. James Stuart of Healdton, Okla., who sent it as her offering to the success of the Christmas party.

After an elaborate menu had been served the guests enjoyed an afternoon of games in which Mrs. Edward Dean and Mrs. I. Lytle were the prize winners. An exchange of gifts was made.

Mrs. John Miller will be hostess to the club January 17, 1930.

Swastika Club

Mrs. C. G. Alexander was hostess to the members of the Swastika club in her home last evening for the annual Christmas party. The house was decorated with suggestions of the holiday season and two tables of 500 were in play during the evening, honors for high scores being awarded to Mrs. Fred Fike and Mrs. James Blaine.

After play there was an exchange of Christmas gifts and delicious refreshments were served at tables centered with tall red tapers in crystal holders. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. James Blaine of Dewey avenue.

The club will be entertained in three weeks by Mrs. James Blaine, Dewey avenue.

1927 Bridge Club

Members of the 1927 Bridge Club enjoyed a tureen dinner in the home of Mrs. C. D. Minick, Temple avenue, Wednesday evening. A delicious dinner was served at 6 o'clock, with covers arranged for ten. Holiday suggestions were used in decoration. The hostess had as aides, Mrs. P. E. Eakin, Mrs. Harry Hammond, and Miss Ruth Harris.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening.

Wednesday January, Mrs. Maurice Sadler, Laurel Boulevard will entertain.

Jolly Twelve Club.

The Jolly Twelve club met at the home of Mrs. Carl Riney, 715 South Ray street, Thursday evening for the regular meeting.

Three tables of 500 were in play during the evening and Mrs. Albert Brooks, Mrs. Frances Johnson, and Mrs. Harold Andrews were holders of high score, for which they received prizes.

After play a delicious lunch was served by the hostess with Mrs. Robert Ray, Mrs. Pearl Young and Miss Sylvia Black as her aids.

B. Y. C. Club.

Mrs. Fred Moser of Bedford street was hostess to the members of the B. Y. C. club in her home last evening. Two tables of 500 were in play during the evening and prizes were won by Mrs. Harold McBride and Mrs. Gilbert Cox. Mrs. Roger Francis was a special guest of the club.

The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of play. Arrangements were made to hold a tureen dinner December 19 at the home of Mrs. Harold McBride, 414 Elizabeth street. This will be in the nature of a Christmas party.

Mothers' Club Party.

A delightful time was enjoyed at the International Institute on Pennsylvania avenue, Thursday evening when a Christmas party was given by the Mothers' club in charge of Miss W. J. N. Sroczynska, Polish worker.

The evening was spent with various games. Delicious refreshments were served later in the evening and Christmas presents were exchanged.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Bartsch of Wislow avenue entertained a number of friends at dinner Thursday evening in honor of their son's second birthday. At a table beautifully decorated with Christmas suggestions covers were laid for 14.

Many lovely gifts were received by the baby and the evening was spent with music and games as pastimes.

COUPLE TO HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fulkman of New Wilmington will celebrate the golden anniversary of their marriage in their home Wednesday December 18 and will be at home during the hours from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9 to receive the felicitations of their neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulkman were united in marriage December 18, 1879 by the Rev. McCollough, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Mt. Jackson. Mrs. Fulkman was Miss Ada L. Kelso prior to her marriage and was a resident of the Mt. Jackson district.

D. B. T. Club.

Mrs. Amanda Dandy and Mrs. Edna Crane were joint hostess in the former's home on East Main street last evening to the members of the D. B. T. club. Games were the diversions of the evening and prizes were won by Clara Cunningham, Louise Johnston. The bean contest was won by Lillie Edmunds and the bingo contest by Clara Cunningham, Ruth Walker, Lillie Richards, Marie Haering, Maude Zeigler, Mrs. Gertrude Halboth, Jessie Richard, Gladys Erwin, Belle Kennedy. This was the Christmas party of the club and gifts were exchanged. In two weeks the club will be entertained by Mrs. Grace Hoover of Winter avenue.

Ladies Scottish Club.

The Ladies Scottish club met last evening at the home of Mrs. David Levanan, Cunningham avenue for the regular session. The house was lovely with Christmas decoration and the members exchanged Christmas gifts.

After a pleasant evening at games in which Mrs. Andrew Watson won the prize the hostess assisted by Mrs. Andrew Watson served a delicious lunch.

CITY WILL TAKE ON FESTIVE ATMOSPHERE

TONIGHT will see the culmination of several weeks of enterprise on the part of the Woman's Club of this city, with the co-operation of merchants, in the inauguration of the new holiday lighting system in the downtown business area.

The light festoons have been erected on the streets here for the holiday season, and the lights will blaze tonight for the first time, being turned on with ceremony.

The usual Community Christmas tree and decoration on the public square will also be in evidence in this augmented decorative plan this year.

The special lighting has a two-fold purpose. It will stimulate the Christmas spirit in the city, as the lights will burn every night until after Christmas, and it will also be quite an attractive decoration for the city during the State Educational Association convention here on December 26 and 27. Several thousand delegates will be here from all sections of the state and the holiday features will greatly aid in making a lasting impression upon them.

Individual property owners are also arranging to add their bit to the Yuletide decorating, while community trees will be located here and there about the city.

Come down town tonight and take part in the ceremonies!

CHANGES IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

Much is being said and heard of law enforcement and obedience to law. Everybody who has some law he especially desires enforced and obeyed is preaching enforcement of and obedience to that particular law. If they do not desire to appear prejudiced or to have a selfish purpose they make such specious claims as, "You must enforce all laws or no laws."

When Stephen A. Douglass, in the course of a political campaign, declared "It is the first duty of all citizens to obey the law," this was an agricultural country, with few laws to be obeyed and still fewer enforced. Douglass could not practice today what he preached before the Civil War, except to devote his whole time to the task and then he would be liable to arrest for vagrancy.

Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School, states that "much of what seems current disregard for law is connected with the change from a rural agricultural society to an urban industrial society. From the head of a big business, chafing under legislative restrictions on the conduct of his business, with well-paid counsel to advise him how to evade them, or the owner of a new Ford, who can see no sense in the latest traffic regulation, there are infinite gradations of self-reliance, righteous protest, indifference, lawlessness and crime."

One may be surprised to hear from Dean Pound that "we have got to learn the art of administration," and that "our whole science of law in the past has ignored the subject of enforcement." Many believe, with Dean Pound, that legislatures in the future will not pass laws impossible of enforcement and that the future will bring revolutionary changes in methods of law enforcement.

MISPLACED POLITICS

Every chapter in the history of income-tax reduction taught the administration at Washington and the public what to expect from anti-administration forces in congress in the way of reaction to the Hoover-Mellon proposal of further reduction next year. Objections were inevitable but not because there was anything objectionable in the proposal.

Opposition is based on two weaknesses, so called. It is argued that the cut should come in 1931 on the tax on 1930 incomes because a cut in next year's tax, which would be retroactive on this year's income, would benefit past endeavor not future enterprise. This argument is best countered by the quite general belief that national prosperity demands immediate relief for over-taxed business.

Secretary Mellon and the president, adopting the policy that it is unwise to burn the bridges behind you, urge congress, in the face of the usual partisan opposition, to make the tax cut operative for only one year now and if conditions warrant it to authorize another cut in 1931 by joint resolution of congress. Objection to such a fair and safe plan could be actuated only by the pettiest of partisan and personal politics.

Immediate action by congress is imperative, for business is now making its 1930 budget. A tax cut may not determine whether factories will shut down or expand, but it will create that confidence upon which national prosperity is founded. The taxpayers favor no delay and warn the politicians not to make a partisan issue out of a non-partisan one.

Prisons, Rebellion, Crime.
Our Fly-Catching Parents.
A New Standard Lady.
Women May Preach.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features Syn., Inc.)

Something is wrong with our prisons. There is something to think about seriously in connection with our desperate crime wave.

For the second time this year convicts in Auburn prison have risen in rebellion, following desperate uprisings in other prisons, seizing the warden and a dozen guards, having killed the head keeper.

Bombs, bullets, tear gas and extermination will end this rebellion. The men are desperate, defying death. But the intelligence of their leadership is not high.

The public will wonder at these repeated outbreaks in American prisons, the most desperate of all only recently in the state of Colorado, five prison uprisings within a few months.

How is it that crime diminishes in Europe, with prisons offered for rent for industrial or other useful purposes, while we have a steadily rising crime wave in this country?

Is it that bootlegging has financed crime on a gigantic scale, or is it part of a general disregard for law promoted "respectability," the "upper classes" flouting a prohibition law because it happens not to please them?

Whatever the cause, the results are serious, and the nation will have to do more than talk about them.

William J. Bryan used to say "You can have monkeys in your family, but I don't want any in my family."

What could he think if Dr. Harriet Cutler Waterman, learned lady of the American Museum of Natural History, could tell him that one of his ancestors was the "fly-catching lemur," an inferior cousin of the ape, that walked around on his hind legs, leaping into the air catching flies and birds with his hands?

That's what the learned lady says and she can prove it.

But what difference does it make? All life on this planet comes from the same source which rules the universe.

Why should we complain if we had humbler forms in the beginning?

Mr. Bryan would have been much surprised to see himself as he looked eight months before he was born. A flycatching lemur would look like Michael Angelo's Moses, compared with Bryan at that age.

United States bureau of standards says the ideal woman is 5'6" tall, feet 34", not the "perfect 36" of days before the "boyish figure."

If your bust is 36, your waist should measure 31 inches, hips 39 inches. Thirty-four bust, 28-inch waist, 37-inch hips, is the "standard lady," according to the bureau, which, however, knows nothing about it.

Abraham Lincoln's mother wasn't a "standard 34" nor was "Bertha With the Big Feet," mother of Charlemagne.

For a cloak model, the "perfect 34" is ideal, perhaps.

For an efficient mother, which is what counts, bigger busts, bigger waists, bigger hips.

St. Paul said women must not sit in church with bare heads, or preach. Samuel Johnson said: "Sir, a woman preaching is like a dog's walking on his hind legs. It is not done well, but you are surprised to find it done at all."

Nevertheless, the Presbytery of Baltimore decides that women may now be ordained as pastors and ruling elders.

One clergyman reminded his fellows that Christ had only men among his 12 Apostles. Somebody might have replied, but didn't, that if 12 women had been chosen there would probably have been no Judas.

There is a good deal of money left and C. E. Mitchell, head of New York's National City bank, has some of it. Wednesday he bought for his bank and syndicate $65,000,000 of New York City 4% per cent corporate stock and bonds.

He paid a premium of $1,526,657 above par a good price for securities that pay only 4%. However, they are free of income tax, which makes a difference.

Heavy floods in parts of England, the Thames three miles wide in places, swollen rivers and dangerous flood conditions in France, the storm that has wrought such havoc continues roaring along Europe's west coast.

Italy's steamship Leonardo Da Vinci, has safely reached Gravesend with a precious cargo of art treasures. The field of Runnymede where Magna Charta was signed is a lake.

In China the storm is worse than in Europe, for it is a storm of hatreds, bloodshed and civil war.

Shanghai residents of the Chinese quarter, fearing for their lives, seeking to force their way into the international settlement, were repulsed by force.

Be grateful that we live in a country so peaceful in spite of bootlegging, crime and Wall Street earthquakes.

Twenty-eight years ago the great Italian, Guglielmo Marconi, listening on the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, picked up the single letter "S" sent by wireless transmitter from the southwest end of England.

Today, Marconi, in a London studio, will talk to his friends in the United States, his voice coming perfectly distinct over a 25-meter wave length.

Marconi himself could hardly have believed, 28 years ago, that the thing would ever be done.

A genius is one who won't do burn work to rush a second book or picture on the market while suckers are lurching for the hook.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:14.

It seems to us that some of the lawyers around the court house seem to be there just to look around.

He who talks in his sleep is to be commended over many who speak in wakefulness. He disturbs only himself—or his wife.

If Some of the Vicious Auto Drivers Would Only Stay on Their Side of the Road They Would Be Doing Something Highly Commendable.

Next to a stepladder the most dangerous thing to have around the house is an old rusty gun.

DIDN'T OWE A CENT. The man orders a slice of chocolate cake in a lunch stand but sends it back, canceling the order, and orders a piece of apple pie instead. He gets it up and is about to leave when the waiter accuses him: "Say you haven't paid for that pie yet!" "What?" replies the man indignantly. "Didn't I give you the chocolate cake for it?" "But you didn't pay for that either." "And why should I? Did I eat it?"

The Hints and Dints Man has a fairly general knowledge of people and an acquaintance above the average in Lawrence county, but when he looks at the men and women serving as jurors in the local court he wonders where they live. And these people are mighty fine people and we realize how little we know about the people of this country.

He is a day laborer and will be all of his life. He blames his "hard luck," but his failure to get on in the world is due wholly to the fact that he never has learned to do anything well.

Thousands of men who now sit at desks owe their promotion from the ranks to the fact that some one in authority saw them doing a small job well and knew they could be trusted with a larger one.

Doing things well is a habit. The size of the job doesn't matter. The man who does unimportant work perfectly well does important work with equal skill and the man who bungles a small job will most certainly bungle a large one.

In the parable the man who made good was told by the Master: "Thou has been faithful over a few things. I will make thee ruler over many."

The same sound logic prompts Big Business in its selection of lieutenants and to realize that is to know the secret of success.

He is a man who does perfect work cannot evade Opportunity for all the world is searching for him. Promotions are offered faster than he can accept them. He can name his own price for the world has many affairs to manage and finds few men it can trust to manage them.

Perhaps you think these are truisms and platitudes. Would it surprise you to learn that not one person in 50 can or will do a simple task as it should be done.

Ask an experienced employer—one who has explained and cajoled and almost wept in fruitless effort to get a simple thing done right.

The man doomed to failure is incapable of visualizing perfection or else he thinks shoddy work good enough and is suddenly determined not to do better to please a "fussy" boss.

The man content with shoddy work must be content with shoddy clothes. They go together.

In political campaigns these days the mud thrown is either wet or dry.

We read where bandits were driven from a theatre when they heard a talkie. These things may be good burglar chasers after all if nothing else.

Customer—"Looking down at his number 13 guinea pig." "Do you think shoes will be sold that way?"

When General Mason Patrick and party of Washington, D. C. were hunting down in the hills of Virginia, a wild turkey flew out across the clearing in front of the General and before anyone could fire, the fowl was seen to drop to the ground at the edge of the woods where it remained motionless. The General advanced stealthily and upon examining the bird found that it had broken its neck by striking a tree limb. That's what we call winning a battle without firing a shot. The wisest person out of a turkey like that should bring more real luck than a rabbit's foot.

Frivolous Christmas activities should be curtailed if the more substantial things are badly needed. Feeding one hungry person means more than making a hundred grin with frivolity.

It is said that a pillow had been invented that will prevent snoring. This is indeed good news for we know some people who snore just like an amateur trying to play a solo on a bass horn; and the only way known thus far to break up their hon cave melody, is to bring down an old fashioned pillow violently over the exhaust and then soak the pillow hard with the palm of your strongest hand.

The Hints and Dints Man Has Offered a Prize of Five Dollars in Gold To Every Baby Born in the Jameson Memorial Hospital During Christmas Week. That is a Longer Period Than We Have Ever Made Such an Offer in Before. The Money is Ready Now For All Who May Get a Prize.

But we have parity now, haven't we, if three Yankees can lick nine of any other breed?

When you hear of something that should be published in a newspaper, write it and sign your name to it and send it to the newspaper. That is one way to get into jail quickly.

Some people put off their Christmas shopping until the last minute and then find that many of the choice articles have been purchased by others. It's a good thing to shop early and avoid the rush.

Many Demand Peace For Haiti But Few Can Suggest Methods

Opinions Differ As To Advisability Of Leaving Island, But Hope Expressed That Commission Will Find Solution

There is plenty of emphatic sentiment in America in favor of settling the Haitian situation, if press comment may be taken as an indication. But there are few solutions offered. While agreement is general as to improvement in sanitation and education under American intervention, there is much condemnation of the bayonet as a stimulus toward civilization on the one hand and stern retribution on the other. These episodes have given good arguments to those who set up the bogey of Haitian good behavior on the other, American imperialism. They encouraged our South American neighbors to hate the "Gringo" and laugh at his claims of a altruism.

It is the opinion of the NEW YORK EVENING POST that the President has acted firmly and promptly in the present emergency and that as to the Haitian responsibility, "if we had not taken it, if we had dodged it, we might reasonably have expected to see a landing of French instead of American Marines. The Post also states: "We have done pretty well with it. We must cut short much of the cruelty and oppression, we have prevented the shanghaiing of the poor blacks. We have restored order and made life more safe. We have built roads, a great system of transportation, where none had existed before."

The JERSEY CITY JOURNAL concludes as to the situation: "In the meantime, the process costs us money, costs us lives of marines, may cost us ill-will throughout small nations of Latin and South America, and certainly provides substantiation for President Hoover's plea that Congress name a competent commission to investigate and report, and that Congress then attempt to provide the nation with a better thought out program for the future relations of the United States with Haiti."

It should not require a commission to convince so thoroughgoing an American as the Courier-Journal believes Herbert Hoover to be that the way out of the Haitian situation is to get out, and stay out."

"We have a clear responsibility for President Borno," avers the NEW YORK EVENING WORLD. "We have supported him and he, in turn, has been subservient to us. His reliance by the twenty-one members of the Council of State, all named by himself, is not conclusive as to the attitude of the people toward him. The peering that accompanied him to the water's edge when he came here immediately after his resignation is an indication of the popular feeling. The harsh rule, which may surely be described as tyrannical, accounts for the hostile sentiment. Thus we have a very clear responsibility for what is happening in Haiti today, and it is time that we make an inventory of our successes and failures there and seek a new policy with the desires of the people there while safeguarding all legitimate American rights."

As President Hoover says in his message," according to the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "the American intervention has accomplished signal results in the improvement of the material condition of the people of Haiti. That has been notably true in respect to sanitation, the maintenance of public order and suppression of banditry. The Administration knows it has ample justification for its present policy in Haiti and it cannot settle for its responsibilities there."

Holding that "the trouble lies in the utter untidiness" of the government of a large majority of the Haitian people," the PETERSBURG, VA. PROGRESS-INDEX argues: "A commission composed of capable men interested and unbiased should be able, in a short time to put the President in possession of the essential facts necessary to the formulation of the proper policy to be pursued by this country in dealing with Haiti. Such a commission might be empowered to look into the affairs of Santo Domingo while down in that quarter of the world. Personally we are convinced that neither the Haitians nor the Dominicans have reached the point where they are able or willing to establish and maintain stable, efficient and honest government."

"President Hoover recommends as the ultimate aim of this government," states the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE, "withdrawal from Haiti as soon as a responsible native government can be set up. Our first duty then is to restore order and suppress insurrection. That duty may have to be discharged at the cost of further bloodshed, though it is to be earnestly hoped that calmer counsels will prevail among the insurgents and induce them to abstain from challenging the marines and the police. The establishment of a strong and responsible native government is a difficult problem, but it must be faced."

Declaring that the problem in Haiti

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Breakfast Idea Fine

Success has crowned the breakfast meetings of the Ben Franklin Hi-Y Club so far. Charles Ford, state secretary for the Y, reports that the New Castle organization is the only one holding early morning meetings in the state. The boys meet at the school at 7:30, under the direction of Daniel Racioppo, faculty advisor. Quarter members include: Joe McArthur, Samuel Rick, John Thompson, Eugene Schweinsberg, Jack Barnette, Harry Francis, George Zorica, Bob English, Harold Sanders, Bob Musoman, Bill Barnes, Ed. Schlosberg, Reed McCaskey, Elmer Martin and Jack Armstrong.

Scioto Street Boys

Boys of the Y. M. C. A. Scioto street club will gather at the neighborhood house this evening at seven o'clock for their regular weekly meeting. Plans will be discussed tonight for a Christmas entertainment which will be given the different clubs by the Phalanx fraternity of the Y.

Curb And Paving Jobs Discussed

Davies Says Curb Not Fixed;
Tyler Says Arlington
Paving 'To Go'

Judging from councilmanic outbursts during a session of solons at the city building today the city has asked some companies and bondsmen to make good while others have gone "scot free". In other words it was evident from the discussion that there are contractors who have done work which is allegedly poor.

After one of the city engineers today had reported North Mercer street paving not as it should be, Councilman Davies asked:

"How about the other contractors?" Davies declared that some contractors apparently are held to their work and others not.

"We have some defective curbing he said.

"How about Arlington avenue?" asked Tyler. "Why not send the engineer there? You gentlemen know what is going to happen there. The avenue is 'going to go'."

"Burns didn't do his work," said Davies.

The affair ceased before any definite action was taken. Meanwhile the city will write a letter to Olsen Contracting company and the bonding concern.

Two Walnut Street Stores Are Robbed

Hundred Dollars Worth Of Merchandise Is Stolen From Grocery Store And Meat Market

Burglars robbed the stores of T. Nesle and H. C. Waddington, at 207 S. Walnut street, between midnight and 7:30 this morning. The loss is estimated at $75 to $100. The stores are both in the same building.

Small change from the cash registers were taken, a ham, a box of bacon, butter, and four cases of fruit. The side window of the Waddington store was jimmied and it is thought that the thief or thieves made their exit through the back back.

It is very rare that goods of such bulk are stolen. The robbery was discovered early this morning.

Midgets To Have Stunt Day Frolic

Games And Swimming Meet Are Planned For Y Boys Saturday Morning

Midgets of the Y. M. C. A. will frolic Saturday morning, the occasion being their annual stunt day. Under the direction of the Y secretaries an elaborate program has been planned. Different games and stunts will start things off promptly at 10 o'clock and a swimming meet in the pool will follow directly afterward.

New Castle Man's Record Is Broken

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 13.—What is believed to be world record for paving block cutting was established here recently when Augustus Johnson, employed at the Booth and Flinn company quarries at Torr, near Blairsville, Pa., cut 700 blocks in a standard eight hour day's work.

Shortly before Johnson's achievement, the record had been claimed for a New Castle, Pa. man who cut 606 blocks in one day.

Kiwanis Board Meets At Noon

To Direct Policies
"To shape and direct major policies as occasion requires, a small committee, which can meet more frequently and act with greater dispatch, has been appointed to summarize and weigh the information obtained through the larger contact committee," Barnes said. "In selecting this smaller committee so that it would not be unwieldy in size it has been necessary to choose from a wealth of proven leadership, ability and character."

"In enlisting the service of the members the chairman of the conference, with his associates, has been guided by many considerations. Geographical distribution has been taken into account, but greater weight has been given to breadth of experience. Many of those selected have had this experience in various fields of business and in the direction of different types of industry. Necessarily, in making up a small committee it was impossible to include many outstanding men of tried experience and judgment or to include representatives of every line of business, many of which are of great importance."

"The small committee will be called into consultation at an early date, but nothing of an emergency character exists in the present business situation to require undue haste in its work."

Famed Astronomers Arrive At Harvard

(International News Service)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 13.—Four astronomers of international reputation have arrived at Harvard Observatory to carry on researches among the stars.

Dr. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, British Columbia, will spend two weeks here. He is a special student of the rotation of the Galaxy, and has in his charge the second largest telescope in the world—the property of the government of Canada. Dr. Plaskett is the father of Professor H. H. Plaskett, of Harvard Observatory.

Professor Svein Rosseland has been called to Harvard as lecturer in Cosmic Physics for one year. He is director of the University Observatory at Oslo, Norway, and is one of the leading men of Europe in theoretical astrophysics.

Bart J. Bok, of the Kapteyn Astronomical Laboratory in Groningen, Holland, has joined the observatory staff for a year to carry on researches in spectrophotometry and stellar statistics.

Dr. Leon Hufnagel, of Poland, is here for a few months to continue his astrophysical researches.

British Golfers Protest Loss Of Nineteenth Hole

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—British golfers are rallying to the defense of the "nineteenth hole." To their American brethren the eighteenth green, but to the Briton, the old-fashioned bar at the "nineteenth" is still a reality.

The Royal Commission on drink supplies threatens the hole's existence by restricting the hours of sale. The views of the golfers is that they are prevented from obtaining refreshment at such times as the State gives them permission in that their starting times for a round are not entirely under their control. Often they reach the "nineteenth" during a prohibited hour.

The National Golf Club Protective Association has started a campaign to have the commission extend the hours during which liquor can be legally sold.

Bo-Broadway
by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The proprietor of a small Harlem department store has on his payroll the name of a once prominent Russian military man who, back in 1914, commanded a division of the czar's army. When the Red Menace overwhelmed his country The General slid out by way of Siberia and Manchuria. He underwent three years of picturesque hardship, details of which he has preserved in water color in the pages of numerous sketch books.

He has a fine-pointed intelligence and gifted fingers. No art dealer in New York to whom he has submitted his discerning water-color notes, has evinced brains enough to purchase them. Some day, without doubt, they will be seized upon and made much of, after the unfortunate chronicler in pigment has passed beyond the domination of mundane circumstance. Meantime he exists in humble lodgings on a porter's scanty wage, and for recreation serves Russian tea to others of his unfortunate compatriots, all of them men and women of rank and title, who foregather several evenings a week in his diminutive quarters, to journey together over The Road to Yesterday.

AID CHILDISH MILLIONAIRES

And then, by way of contrast, there's another Russian gent loose in Tammany Town—a grand duke, I believe, whose nondescript baggage burdens the dimly-lighted, shabbily-carpeted corridor of a little sidewalk hotel in the melancholy environs of Madison Square, and who ekes out a precarious existence by conferring upon wealthy saps the privilege of wearing the Order of the Imperial Double Eagle, or some such grimy-rack thing.

Shortly after he began his exile here the grand duke found out that there exist certain childish millionaires who like to attend dinners with multi-colored ribbons draped across their expense of shirt front.

"If," said the grand duke to himself, "the good Lord sees fit to throw across my path gentlemen who nurture a desire to go around in their evening clothes resembling the smoke stacks of so many railroad ferryboats who am I to say them nay?"

VERY EXCLUSIVE LECTURES
Nor must we overlook our old friend Mme. Jonnesco of Roumania, widow of the prime minister back in the days before Queen Marie's now defunct liege came to the throne.

The Madame, at the death of the prime minister, found herself with a beautiful estate, heavily entailed, and not a buffalo nickel in the exchequer to keep it rolling with.

Then she got the dazzling, three-cornered idea of trotting over to the United States once a year in the late fall with a sheaf of "exclusive lectures" tucked away in her old Saratoga trunk.

She gives four lectures in New York in a season and you can't shoo her into one of them unless your social standing is unquestioned. You have to qualify twice before Madame will accept your 25 bucks for the four lectures. You must be in the Social Register and, in your presence on earth, Brother Bradstreet must discern no cause for offense.

Last season Mme. Jonnesco sold a thousand tickets at 25 snacks a throw and in the spring, it is said, was able to set up a new henhouse and put in an extra patch of begonias on the old estate in far-off Roumania.

THREE GENERATIONS IS RIGHT

Finally, there's the little Russian princess, descendant of one of the noblest families in Europe, antedating the Romanoffs, who was just a little girl when her folks lit out of Russia at the time Lenin and his Boy Friend took hold.

The princess holds down a job back of a counter in one of the Fifth Avenue Boob Bazaars.

"Princess," said I the other evening, upon being presented, "how do you like these here United States of America?"

"My only kick against America," she said, replying in the vernacular, "is that it's dawg-gone trying on one's dawgs. I sometimes think my poor little feet will drop off before 5 o'clock 'ell's round."

"Princess," said I, "it requires at least three generations to develop a capable pair of department store counter dawgs."

She smiled a wry smile and shrugged, beautifully.

Parents Given Warning On Dread Infant's Disease

Medical Attention Should Be
Symptoms Are Shown

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 13.—Infantile paralysis can be recognized by a headache followed by nausea and a fever around 103 in the early stages before complete paralysis sets in, said Dr. S. D. Kramer, of the Harvard University Infantile Paralysis Commission, in warning parents to be on the lookout for symptoms.

The fever and headache are accompanied generally with a stiff neck, the paralysis expert said.

"On the first day, when the mother notes any of these symptoms, especially in the early summer or fall she should call a doctor qualified to give treatment or notify one of the clinics."

He said that one in every 1000 is stricken with the disease, and it is on the increase, although this year has not been as bad as the epidemic years. One case in every 2000 is severe, he said records show. The first case was recorded in this country in Vermont in 1894, and the first case in Europe was in Norway in 1907.

"Do not run away from the disease," he declared. "You cannot run away from it."

"There is only one thing to do and that is to keep children as much as possible out of public places and public conveyances such as street cars, at times when the disease is rampant. It is best to remain at home, and near to medical aid."

Dr. Kramer said there is no preventative for the disease, but a convalescent serum given to the child before paralysis sets in has accomplished much in checking the disease.

Dancing Beats Walking

Orchestra Leader, Making Investigation, Finds 10-Mile-A-Night Average, Which, At Two Dances A Week, Is 1,000 Mile A Year

Leo Reisman reads pedometer (shown inset) attached to ankle of Ethel Revere, whose partner is William E. Cook

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Do you know that the average couple, going out for a night's dancing, covers a distance of ten miles on the ballroom floor?

That the girl who steps out twice a week records a dancing mileage of 1,000 miles each year?

And that the debutante, during four years of her social activity, dances a distance that would take her from coast-to-coast?

At least, such are the conclusions reached by Leo Reisman, orchestra leader.

By Means of Pedometers

Reisman has just finished conducting the first intensive research in the subject. By attaching pedometers to the feet of some of the couples dancing at the Central Park Casino, he was able to get an accurate mileage table for each dancer in each type of dance.

After averaging these results, he found that the distance covered during a fox-trot was slightly more than that covered in a fast walk; that the slower tempo of the waltz registered a distance equal to that of walking; and that the legato of the tango went a bit under the walking pace. A fast, old time one-step (now declassé) made the dancers hit a clip three-eighths of a mile an hour faster than the fox-trot.

How He Figures It

"The average couple," says Reisman, "does about two and one half hours of dancing an evening, exclusive of time taken out in intermissions, eating and drinking. In our casino, and in most of the leading hotels, each dance last half an hour, followed by a ten or fifteen-minute rest period. At private social dances, the dances usually are shorter but more numerous."

"While a ten-mile hike may tire a person unaccustomed to such activity, ten miles of dancing does not. The psychological effect of pleasant dance music is the chief factor in the difference."

"The exercise derived from such dancing, in my opinion, contributes greatly toward the fine bearing and good health of our younger people. The results of such finer physique will be passed on to subsequent generations."

Predicts Waltz Popularity

In 1930, Reisman expects, there will be one major change in the tendency of the dance.

The waltz, he says, "will again come into popular favor. Whether this is the cause or the effect of the long skirt, I can't say. But the fact is that with the lengthening of the lady's dress is coming the demand for the dance that will show it off to the best advantage—a condition best met by the gliding waltz."

All of which offers poor comfort to the old-timers who know only the hop-skip-jump one-two-three variety of the value of a bygone day.

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 13.—The colonial exposition which will be held in Paris in 1931 will include a "retrospective" section, which will evoke the work done by French pioneers in America, Africa and Asia.

The organizer of this section, M.
Duchene, Counselor of state, is counting upon the cooperation of the many foreign friends of France for the collection of original material in the different countries.

France itself is rich in souvenirs of these heroic colonial days. The Museum of St. Malo will contribute a fragment of the Belle Hermine.
Jacques Cartier's ship and the An-also understood that a well known Breton citizen is contributing the most magnificent collection of porcelains of the India companies.

Junior High Manual Off Press Next Week

Prof. B. K. Thacker, principal at the George Washington junior high school has announced to the teachers and student body that the "Manual of Administration, Outline of Home Room Study and Activities" will be off the press and ready for distribution some time during the latter part of next week.

The book will contain about 80 pages and will be nine inches in size, attractively bound and will be sold to teachers and students at George Washington.

The manual has been carefully prepared by Donald P. Copson, who has directed the organization and work of activities in the new school. Not only is this publication the largest manual ever prepared by any New Castle school but so far as it is known, it is unique in being the first book of its type issued by any school in this section of the country.

Arrangement of the book falls into five sections, special features being: school objectives and ideals, the school administration, courses of study, and a student's section called school practices, customs and traditions.

The organization of every extra-class activity now functioning at the school is also presented. Clubs, student government, school paper, assemblies, class athletics, music activities, debate, thrift and inter-class contests. For the special benefit of teachers some 30 programs outlined for home room study, with references, are given. A detailed description of the awards plans, covering all features of school activity designed by Mr. Copson, and put into operation at the opening of the present year, is also included. A picture of the building in the front of the book will make it more attractive.

The manual will be on display at activities exhibit in the senior high school building during the days of the state educational convention.

NEW MEDICINE HELPED HER IN WONDERFUL WAY

Local Lady's Several Ailments Relieved By Ten Herbs; Whole System Benefited

One of the pleasing things about Ten Herbs, the famous new herbal medicine with the ten wonderful health-restoring products of Nature, is that it not only ends the ailments for which it is intended—stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness—but also cleanses and invigorates the whole human system, bringing new feelings of health and strength over the body in general. No wonder so many words of praise for Ten Herbs are heard at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where this highly successful compound is being introduced.

"Ten Herbs not only relieved my ailments, but also helped my whole system," was the recent statement of Mrs. Mary Oleszycki, 1902 Penn Avenue, New Castle. "Your medicine really benefited me in a wonderful way. Before taking Ten Herbs, I was in a badly run-down condition, being very weak. My appetite failed me and what little I ate caused pains, due to indigestion. I seemed to fill with gas, and a sour substance came up in my throat. I was so nervous that the least thing would annoy me. Severe headaches came on me, and at times I got terribly dizzy. There were sharp pains in my back and loins, and my rest was broken by my having to arise several times during the night.

"After reading about Ten Herbs in the paper, I started taking your medicine, and it soon put me on the road to health. My stomach improved, and I had a better appetite. Gas, pains and nauseated feeling were relieved. Dizzy spells disappeared, and I gained relief from headaches. My nerves became strong, and the pains in my back and loins were relieved. Then I began to enjoy a good night's rest. My strength picked up so that I could work without feeling exhausted. I have recommended Ten Herbs in the past, and will continue to endorse your medicine in the future."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Detroit Man Held As Slayer Of Man Who Stole His Wife

Meeting In Street Of Hamilton,
Ohio, Causes Tragedy; Motive For Crime Given

(International News Service) HAMILTON, O., Dec. 13—Albert Bowling, 45 of Detroit shot and killed Fred Philpot, 50, on a downtown street here Thursday.

Former Sheriff Frank E. Pepper one of the witnesses, apprehended Bowling and turned him over to city police. The Detroit man, police declared, told them it was the first time he had seen Philpot in two years, when Philpot allegedly stole the affections of his wife.

Arthur Eaton, who was with Philpot at the time of the shooting, said Bowling walked up to Philpot and said, "How are you, Fred?"

Then, Eaton said, Bowling pulled a revolver and shot Philpot in the forehead. The victim died instantly.

"Do you think I did this without a reason?" Bowling told police in explaining his motive.

CLAIMS TITLE OF CHAMP HITCH-HIKER

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 13—Otto Paul Preusser the man who claims to be the champion hitch-hiker of the world recently arrived here on a lap of a journey which took him all the way across the continent from New York in 12 days.

Preusser claims to have hitch-hiked more than 48,000 miles during the time he has been on the road.

New England Industries Are Using More Coal

(International News Service) BOSTON, Dec. 13—New England industries consumed more coal during the first nine months of 1929 than in the corresponding period in 1928, according to a report made public by the New England Council.

The receipts of bituminous coal in New England for the first nine months of 1929 showed a gain over the same period last year of 38,120.

BEEF CROP PLEASES CANADA'S SUGAR MEN

(International News Service) RAYMOND, Alberta, Dec. 13—Officials of Canadian Sugar Factories

Limited are pleased with the results of the present year's beet crop. The tonnage promises to exceed the earlier estimates by 5,000 bringing the total to 65,000 tons. The sugar content is running high, promising a record. Last year it reached 17.35 and this year it is expected to exceed 18.

Polish Spies In Russia Active, Police Report

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MOSCOW, Dec. 13—The Soviet government has uncovered amazing revelations of Polish spy activity in Russia.

Vassily Ullrich, presiding justice of the military division of the Supreme court, relates a tale involving past and present Polish assistant military attaches, diplomatic couriers, consuls and Roman Catholic bishops and priests.

The revelations are obviously intended as a counter-blast to accusations in Warsaw of Communist propaganda and espionage. Further, it is no secret that Poland and Soviet Russia exchange "prisoners of war" even today when there is no war, the prisoners being persons under death sentences for any one of many reasons, usually espionage.

"It is not without significance," Justice Ullrich said, "that the Roman Catholic Bishop of Vladivostok, Karl Silovsky, was publicly decorated by the Polish President Ignacy Moscicki and Premier Casimir Bartel with the Commander's Cross of the Order of Regeneration of Poland, a distinction accorded only to high army officers for bravery on the field of battle."

"The Bishop is a Soviet citizen," Justice Ullrich adds ruefully, "and we didn't even arrest him!" Ullrich then notes the growing espionage activities of Polish subjects on the territory of the Soviet Union. He lists a dozen cases in which more than 20 spies were arrested and condemned to death by court martial. One of the condemned was Captain Schmidt of the Polish Frontier Guards. Sixteen allegedly confessed that they were special agents of the Polish general staff. Ullrich does not say whether any of the spies were actually shot.

Opened Bookshops
Ullrich said the Assistant Military Attaché of the Polish legation in Moscow, Captain Dobjansky, opened up a chain of bookshops in a dozen large cities of Russia, including Moscow, Leningrad, Charkov and Tiflis. It turned out that these bookshops were posts to which scores of spies employed by Poland reported and received cash awards.

Yaviga Hjonschanskaya, a woman clerk in the Polish consulate at Leningrad, Ullrich said organized a secret society of Polish youths through which she obtained military intelligence information. Two Russians in her employ are said to have obtained Soviet military secrets.

Sweden's Public Debt 3rd Lowest In Europe

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, Dec. 13—Only three European countries have lower public debt averages than Sweden, according to Dr. Karl Hildebrand, chairman of the Swedish Public Debt Commission.

They are Finland with 77 kroner, Germany 125, and Czechoslovakia 281, in each of which the past war deflation brought about unusual circumstances. Great Britain ranks first with 3,031, France next with 1,671, then Belgium 724, Norway as an average of 588, The Netherlands 566, the United States 551, Italy 429, Switzerland 388, and Denmark 336.

Specialists Warn Public To Employ "Flu" Precaution

DECREASE SHOWN OVER LAST YEAR

International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Less than 2,000 cases of influenza had been reported to the public health service today for the week ending December 7, as compared to nearly a half million cases a year ago. Experts said that there had been a slight increase in influenza during November and early December, but it was normal for the season. November 16 there were 1,296 cases and November 30, 1,100 cases. Fifty thousand persons died of "flu" last year, bringing the total deaths from this cause since 1918 to 800,000. The epidemic of 1918 killed 500,000.

No Epidemic in Sight
There was no epidemic in sight today, the public health service said. Experts cautioned, however, it would not be safe to predict that there will be no epidemic, as disease apparently runs in cycles and it was considered recurrence this year was improbable. Nevertheless, "flu" specialists advised the public to use special precautions in the case of "bad colds" and should influenza develop, remain in bed. Preventative measures were given as plenty of fresh air, good food, exercise, sufficient clothing and avoidance of sudden chilling.

Check Being Made
A close statistical check was being kept in the entire country. Should influenza break out in any particular section the health service will send in experts to make a special investigation and to assist in preventing spread of the disease.

An exhaustive survey of the 1924-1925 epidemic was made by the public health service, with the co-operation of states, municipalities and private medical authorities. The study did not result in much additional information as to this disease, which continues to be a problem to medical science.

Are Studying Germs
Last year's epidemic, although not as alarming as that of 1917-1918, was sufficiently serious that Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming called in conference many of the state and municipal health officers in an effort to devise a plan to prevent spread of the disease in the future. Officials said the exchange of ideas resulting from the conference was highly beneficial.

The public health service was still making a laboratory study of influenza through the medium of small animals, but so far the "flu" germ of germs have not been isolated.

American Naval Delegation Will Not Visit Paris

Secretary Stimson Says That American Delegates Will Not Stop Off In France

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—There is no present expectation that the American delegation to the London Naval conference will stop off at Paris for conferences with French officials, enroute to London, Secretary Stimson said today.

"I have no idea of going to Paris," Stimson said. The exact date of sailing, as well as the vessel, are still matters to be finally determined, the secretary said. The conference is due to open in London Jan. 21, and Secretary Stimson wants to arrive there somewhat in advance of that date.

Probe Death Of Youthful Bandit

(International News Service)
WHEELING, W. Va., Dec. 13.—An official inquiry into the death of Lester Murray, 18, of Columbus, O., killed in a gun battle with police, was scheduled for late today. Murray was fatally wounded and a companion, Lloyd Terry, 17, Rome, O., was captured, when they were trapped by state police at Elmgrove, W. Va., the youths were alleged to have held up a gas station at Claysville, Pa.

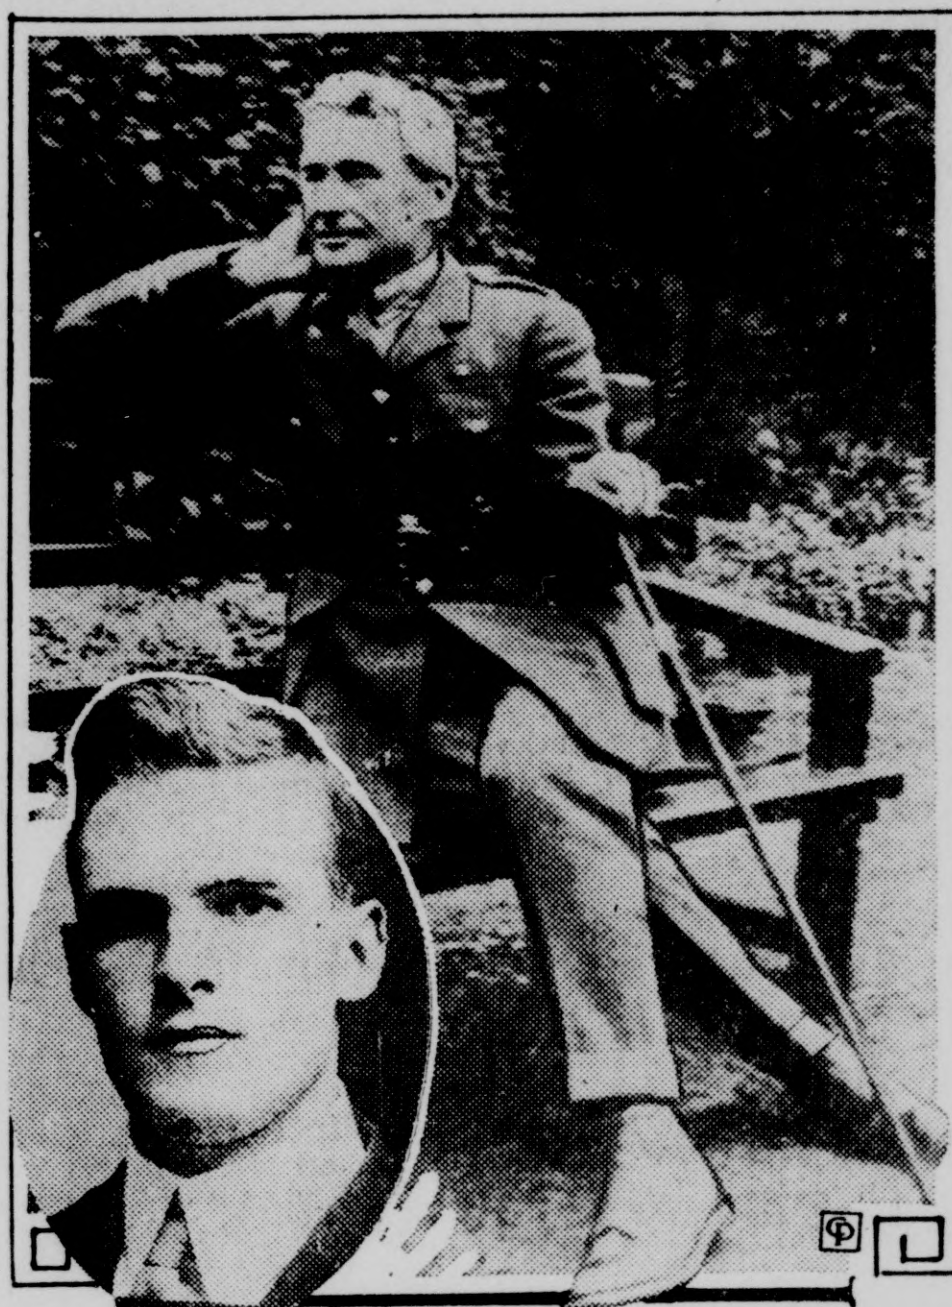

Although Terry is facing a felonious assault charge, Federal, Ohio and Pennsylvania authorities have lodged claims for him. Prosecuting Attorney A. C. Schifferer will decide what will be done with him following the inquiry today.

EX-PREMIER'S SON DENIES TARRING

An alibi will be the defense of Charles Oliver, 36, inset, of Penticton, B. C., son of the late Premier John Oliver, who faces trial as one of a party of four men said to have kidnapped and tarred and feathered Dr. B. C. Latimer, above, 64-year-old physician. Dr. Latimer declares he recognized Oliver's voice. Dr. Latimer is alleged to have made overtures to Oliver's wife, who had been his patient. Latimer denies the allegations and alleges Oliver threatened him with death if he did not leave town.

New York Central Railroad Ready To Effect Big Merger

Michigan Central And Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago And St. Louis Lines Merged

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The New York Central Railroad, it was announced today, plans to put into effect on February 1, its $2,000,000,000 merger scheme, the largest merger in point of property value to be consummated in the United States.

The lines which will be joined with the New York Central are the Michigan Central and the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis.

Last January, the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the Central's acquisition of the two lines on condition that provision be made for the acquisition of certain short lines in the territories served by the merged roads. These short lines have not yet been obtained, but it was learned that the Commerce Commission believes negotiations for them have proceeded to a point where the New York Central may be permitted to put its merger into effect.

Erect Foundation On Proposed Line

City To Condemn Right Of Way Through S. J. Bratsche Property

It developed during a session of council at the city building today that Samuel J. Bratsche is erecting the foundation of a building on a line with a proposed city storm sewer which would drain the Mercer street-Euclid and Wilmington avenue area.

Mr. Bratsche's attorney appeared before council and asked the city what it proposed to do. At the present time a 50 foot sewer has been built outside the city but by the city bench Wilmington avenue. The sewer was built when the road was reconstructed so the new paving would not have to be removed.

At the time the city voted to put the sewer in, Councilmen Tyler and Burns opposed the construction, believing that the city should wait until the water came into the city. The sewer is not being used but the proposed sewer to Shenango river courses through the Bratsche property.

As soon as the city learned of the foundation being erected Engineer Miller instructed Bratsche to stop work, which he did. Mr. Tyler claims that the weather also had something to do with this. According to the proposed line the city would require a right of way through the Bratsche property.

Solicitor White recommended that he draw an ordinance condemning a right of way through the property and that three appraisers judge the damage to the property. Councilman Reeves fathered a motion and Davies concurred and it was passed unanimously.

4,600 Divorces Set Record In British Courts

Tremendous Increase Since War Days Shown By

STEPS MADE EASIER FOR BORED MATES

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—A record of 4,600 divorce cases will have been brought before the courts in England and Wales by the end of this year.

This is nearly a 500 per cent increase on the pre-war record.

There are three reasons why divorce business since the war has tended speedily and steadily to rise in these countries. The main reason is that grounds for divorce have been equalized between the sexes since 1925.

Easier For Women.

Previously a man could obtain divorce solely on the ground of his wife's misconduct; but the wife had to prove not only misconduct on the part of the husband but also cruelty or desertion. The two latter factors—which were strictly observed by the judges—made the obtaining of divorce by a wife a very difficult matter.

Now, it is no harder for her than it was previously for her husband.

Another reason is that divorce suits may be heard in most English cities at the present time. Before 1925 such cases could only be heard in London.

Less Expense.

This has meant a great saving of expense because it frequently happened that witnesses had to be maintained in London for several weeks at a time.

The third cause of the increase that persons of insufficient means can now obtain divorce practically free of expense. There is now a special quota of lawyers who can be called on, without fees, to take the cases and this fact has widened the scope of the divorce acts immensely.

In Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—On the final business day of the fiscal year of 1929, Pennsylvania boasted 244 airplanes and 265 pilots officially licensed by the department of commerce, the director of the aeronautics branch of the commerce department reports in his statement covering the fiscal period ended in June.

In addition to those planes licensed in Pennsylvania, 117 aircraft in the state had been awarded identification numbers and 280 mechanics had been licensed in the state by the commerce department.

On the last day of the fiscal year, a total of 4,232 planes and 5,641 pilots in the country had been awarded licenses by the department, with the figures for Pennsylvania exceeding only by those of New York, California and Illinois.

Many Folks Susceptible To Diet And Food Fads Says State Health Head

"Many people are very susceptible to fads. They do not appear to be happy unless they are personally indulging in the new ideas of the moment. And this no matter whether it be a philosophy of life, style of dress or an ultra-modern social custom. This type of person is of course an extremist. But there are many others who while not indulging generally in fads, single out a particular one and ride it to death."

One of the most popular of these hobbies relates to food," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health today.

"A recent investigation indicates that literally hundreds of thousands of men and women for no reason at all have adopted one of the many 'specialties' offered by food 'experts' in the belief that a particular diet or type of food will develop or maintain health and produce longevity, no matter how healthy they may have been before their attention was called to it.

"These people forget that we are living in a highly productive age; that the producers and retailers of food commodities by way of high-powered advertisements naturally emphasize every factor that will aid in a sale and that the advantage-to-health appeal has been invoked with telling commercial success.

"And while undoubtedly there is truth in all the claims, it must be remembered that no food or type of food has a corner on the health market. Moreover the average man or woman enjoying good health does not require any specialization. The human system needs, or at least utilizes to its benefit all provender safe for use, extracting therefrom the essential requirements to continue life.

"Speaking generally, unless one is quite ill, quite overweight or markedly underweight, the necessity of special foods and diets is not indicated. To become a faddist because advertisements extol the life and health giving qualities of this and that is an altogether unnecessary performance.

"On the other hand it is a wise thing to give serious attention to the food question from other angles. A well balanced diet of meat, vegetables, milk in some form and roughage, plus a regulation of the quantity eaten, is much more important to health and happiness than becoming specialized on a certain exploited commodity.

"With sufficient exercise each day with due attention and proper regard for mid-meal appetite wreckers and a general use of all types of food the body unless ill, will respond magnificently and will do its job better and longer than if treated with unre-quired specialization. Therefore, separate your stomach from fads."

Bearing in mind the President's injunction that all laws should be obeyed you will of course slow down to 15 miles an hour when reaching the sign which sets that limit.—The Boston Evening Transcript.

Senators are old and age is conservative, but Alas, an old motor expends most of its energy knocking itself.

Dynamite Ice Gorge On Creek

About 300 pounds of dynamite were used yesterday in the dislodging of an ice gorge which had formed in the Neshannock creek at Walkers Mills. The ice was unusually early this year and had formed a jam five feet in thickness. The method used in breaking up the ice was one whereby the dynamite was floated down stream under the ice until it reached the key spot of the gorge where it was shot. It was feared that the ice might do extensive damage if allowed to remain any longer. A small crowd of people had gathered to witness the shooting and were prepared to carry home fish which they expected would be stunned and come to the top water. Strangely, however, none was found.

Acquit Driver In Court Case

E. W. De Pue Is Freed After Trial On Driving While Intoxicated

E. W. De Pue charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated was freed in a few minutes after the jury got the case on Thursday afternoon in court room No. 1. The verdict of acquittal was returned with little delay. The case of the commonwealth against De Pue was not a strong one. No doctor could be secured to examine the man and the motorist whose car was hit by De Pue's and who asked that he be arrested did not appear. The case was the first acquittal of the present term of court.

Star Of Wales Will Nominate

Meeting To Take Place On Saturday Evening; Other Welsh News

By WILLIAM A. JOHNS

(Brython)
A regular meeting of Star of Wales, Lodge No. 60, True Iovites of America will be held Saturday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist church. At this meeting communications from Charles T. Williams, grand secretary of the order, will be read, also an interesting letter from Evan J. Williams, secretary of the Granville, N. Y., Lodge.

Thomas D. Thomas, the financial secretary will give his report which will show the standing of each member of the organization and the veteran John Harvard will render his report on the sick members of the organization.

The nomination of officers for the ensuing year will be held and a number of matters held over from previous meetings, will be taken care of at this time.

M. Arthur of Llanelly, Wales, who called on his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Evans of South Mill street, on his way home from Toronto, Canada, left Thursday for New York, from which place he will sail home on the Baltic. He has learned to like both Canada and the United States to such an extent in the six months stay in these countries, that he is planning to return in the near future and locate in one or the other of them.

The many friends of Mrs. William Phillips of East Reynolds street, will regret to learn that she has been quite seriously sick during the past week. It is now believed that the crisis has been passed and that she is on the road to recovery.

Thomas Charles, formerly of Luton street but more recently of Catherine street at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, is reported as being quite sick at the present time. Rev. Floyd A. Childs, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church and Messrs. William A. Johns, Daniel Williams and John Harvard visited him and his family this week and found a slight improvement.

John Evans is again back on the job after a serious illness of two weeks. Mrs. Evans who has been taking his place in the store, will now be able to resume her preparations for the Christmas season.

D. W. Thomas of Long avenue, is playing the part of Santa Claus to the Emmanuel Baptist church, having announced that he will present the church with its Christmas tree. Daniel Williams of Sheridan avenue, will see to it that the tree is put up for the Christmas season.

New Castle Folks Arrive In Florida

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 13.—With the opening of the winter season here, a great many of the 175,000 visitors expected between now and the middle of April, have begun to arrive.

Included in the number are several New Castle residents, who have taken up their residence here for the winter.

Mrs. Emma S. Devlin and Mrs. Bettina Kissman, 102 Sheridan Ave., motored here for the season and are living in Pinellas Park.

Mrs. Catherine A. Jackson, 407 Lincoln Ave., and William McIntosh, 710 Carlisle St., arrived by rail and are guests at Hotel Dusenberry.

Mrs. Alma Pagley, Harry Pagley, 602 W. Washington St., and Mr. and Mrs. Sarah Ververi, 454 Chestnut St., motored here for the winter and are making their home at 1316 20th Ave. South.

Farrell Man Will Face Deportation

FARRELL, Pa., Dec. 13.—George Stinio, 210 Florida St., Farrell, was removed to Erie today by an immigration agent from the department of labor, and from there will be deported to Yugoslavia for illegal entry into the United States.

According to the agent, Stinio returned to Europe in 1921, married and had two children. He left his family in the old country in 1925 and when denied a passport, booked as assistant cook on a tramp steamer and jumped ship when it arrived here, coming directly to Farrell where he resided since.

Stock Prices Show Action

Early Rise Is Checked As Prices Fluctuate During Day

By W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—After scoring a good rally at the beginning of trading today, industrial stocks were given another dose of rough bearish handling and many of the speculative favorites dipped below the lowest prices reached in yesterday's raid.

The market was in a turmoil as high-priced stocks rushed up and down the price scale. U. S. Steel opening at 167½, rose to 172, dropped back to 164½ and rallied a few points. General Electric old stock was again under fire and at 220 the stock was down 37 points from the high of the move and 12 points for the day. Westinghouse and other high-priced specialties roamed around in a wider price range.

Fox Film A dropped about 8 points to a new low of 34 on rumors of dissatisfaction with the position occupied by the holders of this stock in the capitalization plan of the company. The new selling wave in this stock, together with the weakness in New York Central and other high grade rails, went a long way toward unsettling the whole list.

An increase of $33,330,000 in brokers' loans as reported last night by the reserve board was conclusive evidence of the return of margin traders to speculative ground.

Selling Booze In Air Brings Dispute

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—A lively dispute is proceeding on the question whether it is legal to sell liquor in the air.

"The sale of intoxicating liquor in an aircraft is unlawful at the present time," said O. P. Dowson, government legal expert to the Drink Inquiry commission recently.

"We sell liquors every day in our air liners and have done so for three years," reply the Imperial Airways Corporation.

This is where the issue is joined and it remains to be seen whether the government will uphold the opinion of its representative.

Imperial Airways has never made any attempt to conceal the sale of liquor on its aircraft; it has publicly announced for a long time what its passengers can obtain.

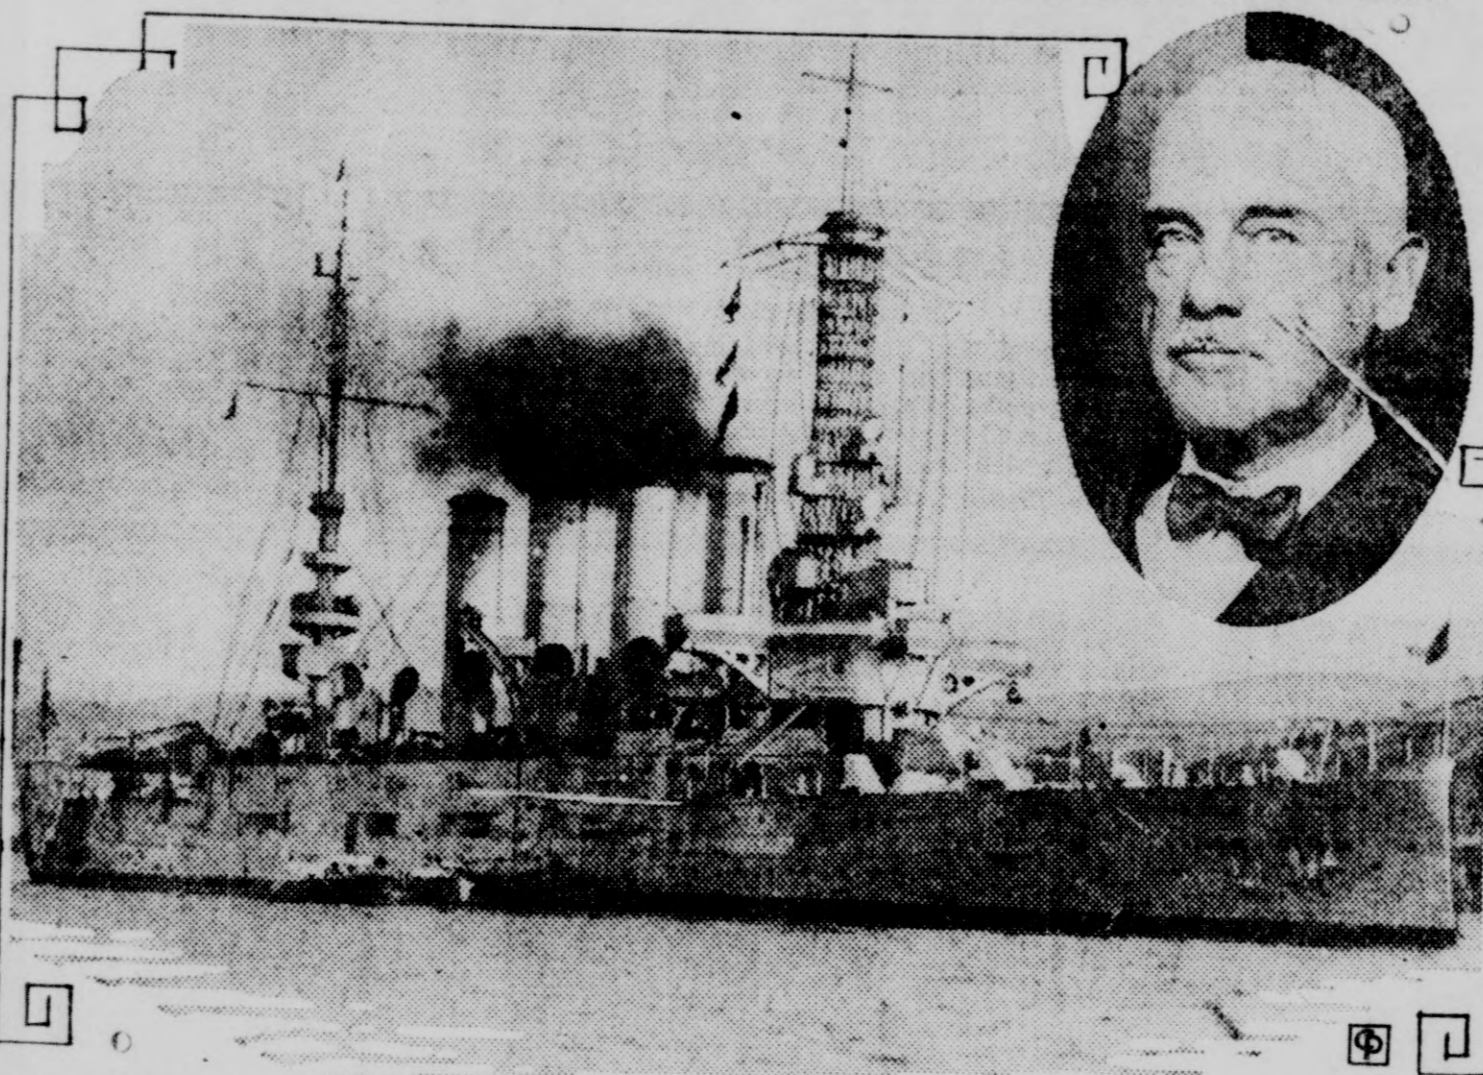

"We publish our list of prices and have done so for three years," says its officials, "and there has never been any suggestion that we were not entitled to it. We take sufficient liquor on each machine to meet the possible demands of the passengers, and the drinks include vermouth, beer, gin, whiskey and brandy."

CONNECTICUT COPS
REGULATE TRAFFIC

(International News Service)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 13.—Aldermen aren't important when it comes to making traffic regulations in Connecticut. The power lies solely with the police department heads, under a law passed by the legislature last winter but New Haven's aldermen have just discovered the situation.

The board of aldermen reversed a certain police regulation of traffic when merchants protested. The police heads were about to agree when the corporation counsel stepped in with a copy of the law and the aldermen had to submit.

Carren Enters Plea Of Guilty Today In Embezzling $15,000

Former Westinghouse Electric Auditor Pleads Guilty Before Court Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Milton L. Carren, former Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company payroll auditor, pleaded guilty today of embezzling $15,000 of the company's money.

"My salary was cut from $200 to $175 a month," Carren said. "I got blue and in a moment of weakness took the money."

Carren had been employed by the company for 20 years, he said, and rose from payroll clerk to auditor of his department. He attributed his popularity he aroused over his activities as an expert back in 1922 as contributing to his mental state which caused him to make away with the $15,000, most of which was recovered. The man was remanded to jail where he will be held until the trial of his sister, Mrs. Pauline Weiss, and Henry Joseph, who are accused of receiving some of the stolen money.

Carren was arrested in Chicago, where he fled after disappearing from his office at the Westinghouse plant with the money.

"During the years I worked for the company I handled between $35,000,000 and $45,000,000 and never took any," Carren said.

BIBLE STILL AT HEAD OF BEST SELLER LIST

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The Bible continues in a class by itself among best sellers, according to a report issued by the Bible Guild in connection with the annual observance of Universal Bible Sunday, Dec. 8.

An estimated total of 36,500,000 volumes were turned off the presses in a single year, according to the report. A 470,000 foot book shelf, long enough to reach from New York to Philadelphia, would be required to hold the Bibles published last year, the report estimated.

McKeesport Wholesale Merchant On Witness Stand In Rum Trial

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Charles Friedman and his business associate bought an average of from 200 to 400 sacks of corn sugar each week in the period from 1925 to 1928, it was testified here today in federal court during the trial of the McKeesport "rum conspiracy" case.

Sam Spiegel, trading as the Keystone Commercial Company in McKeesport, testified that he sold that amount of corn sugar to Friedman and under cross-examination declared that "I do not know for what purpose the sugar was used."

It is Friedman, who has served time in federal prisons for alleged violations of the liquor laws, who is the government's star witness in the case. Friedman has testified that the 31 defendants, including police officers and justices of the peace of McKeesport and that vicinity, were paid sums ranging from $10 to $300 weekly for protection of the liquor sellers in McKeesport.

Steve Garlich Claims Attack Made Upon Him

Defendant Tells Story Of Shooting Of George

ASSERTS MARCOTTA LUNGED WITH KNIFE

Steve Garlich, charged with the murder of George Marcotta at Carbon, Pa., on Sunday November 17, took the stand in his own defense on Thursday afternoon in Court Room number two. In broken English he told of the incidents leading up to the actual shooting.

Garlich said he was born in a little town in Serbia, but came to America in 1906. He went to South Chicago, Ill., first, then on to Minnesota, then Colorado, then Wyoming, and then to Bellaire, O. In the past three years he has divided his time between Carbon and Bellaire, working at one place when the work in the other was slack.

Tells of Argument
On the morning of November 17 he said that Marcotta started to argue with him at Ninedich's store in Carbon and finally stole his hat. Garlich said that he left the scene of the argument and went to the store of Joe Varich to get another hat, then went on home and ate his dinner. In the afternoon he went over to Hillsville, where he told Constable W. J. Edwards of the trouble, and then started back to Carbon.

Sometime around four o'clock he went into a shanty near his boarding house to wash his face and hands, while in there heard Marcotta's voice. Marcotta apparently hunting him. Garlich said he stayed inside until Marcotta left. About six o'clock he was walking past the gasoline station near his boarding house, when suddenly Marcotta jumped out of the darkness with a knife and attacked him. Fearing death, and knowing Marcotta's reputation, Garlich said he pulled a gun and shot him. His testimony was not completed at the end of the afternoon court session Thursday and he will be recalled today.

Eye Witness Testifies
The only eye witness to the shooting, available now as a witness, was George C. Farrington who was called Thursday afternoon and testified. He said that he had been about 110 feet away from the shooting, with Garlich standing between him and the light in the pool room. Farrington said he did not see the first shot fired, but heard it, and saw the balance of the shots. He saw Marcotta on the ground with Garlich pumping bullets into him.

Farrington denied he was drunk on that day, upon being cross examined, and said that he had never told Constable Edwards or anybody else any different story than he was telling on the stand. He said that he had gotten a pillow from Garlich's boarding house, to place under the head of Marcotta, and had sent for an ambulance and a doctor.

Mat Zupor was the first witness called on Thursday afternoon. He had heard the shots while he was in a house getting a top coat. Coming out into the road he saw a man lying there. Zupor said he saw the flash of the gun as the last couple of shots were being fired and that the flash was in the direction of the ground.

Call Boy Witness
Charles Cantlebury, a boy of 16 years was called and said that he had been in front of the barber shop in Carbon when the shots were fired. He saw Garlich come up from the road and start toward Hillsville. The youngster said that after the shooting he ran down to John Cusick's house and told him to get Bill Edwards.

Joe Nenedich, the proprietor of the boarding house where Garlich lived was called. He was eating his supper when the first shot was fired at

Evangelist Begins Mission Services

Series Of Meetings Are Planned; First Service Held Thursday Night

REV. C. E. CUFF

"Seeing Jesus" was the subject that Rev. Charles E. Cuff, evangelist and Bible teacher, chose last night for the opening message of his special Gospel meetings which he will conduct for 10 days at the City Rescue Mission. Mrs. Cuff assists her husband.

Rev. Cuff is a teacher at the White-side Memorial Bible school of Pittsburgh, and the City Mission has engaged his services for 10 days. Despite adverse weather conditions the crowd of last night was good.

This evening Rev. Cuff will preach on "The Power of God" and the Municipal sisters render special music. Praise services during the stay of Rev. Cuff will be in charge of Mrs. B. F. Nicklin.

The general public is invited to the Mission services each evening at 7:30 for the messages of the evangelist are highly inspirational.

Supposed Dead Man Is Very Much Alive

about six o'clock. He ran outside and saw Marcotta lying on the ground. John Miller, a constable of the fifth ward of New Castle was called and testified that he had endeavored to find out who the passenger was who got on the Robb bus in Carbon directly after the shooting. This man is said to have been an eye witness to all the shooting, but has disappeared.

John Cusick, the proprietor of the pool room and barber shop was called and testified that he had heard Steve Garlich say after the shooting, "you.....you lay there and rot like a dog, and I'll lay for you."

At 4:20 the commonwealth rested its case and the defense immediately opened, calling the defendant as the first witness. When court convened this morning Garlich was put through a rigid cross examination, during which he illustrated how he had shot Marcotta. District Attorney J. Elder Bryan, posing for the demonstration. He maintained that he did not shoot until Marcotta had caught hold of him and drawn a knife. He held very closely to his testimony as given in direct examination.

Beaver Falls Council Here

Mayor-elect William Levis of Beaver Falls was accompanied to this city on Wednesday by Councilmen-elect Hanauer, Calvin, McCray and Raisley and Attorney William F. Schutte, when they were the guests of the New Castle council and witnessed the latter body in action.

Their visit was for the purpose of getting some pointers on the operation of a third-class city, which Beaver Falls becomes after the first of the year. These men are the first persons elected to office under the new form of government.

The presence of Attorney Schutte in the party bears out the rumor, according to the News-Tribune of Beaver Falls, that he will be selected as city solicitor when the council of Beaver Falls organizes on January 6.

Newspaper Plant Is Threatened By Fire

One Invention Causes Fire At Sayre, Pa., Newspaper Office, Another Puts
It Out

(International News Service)
SAYRE, Pa., Dec. 13.—It was Friday, the thirteenth, with a vengeance in the plant of the Sayre Evening Times here today.

One invention, a furnace blower, failed to work and destruction of the Times' plant by fire was threatened. Another invention, mechanically callous to superstition, promptly nullified the threat and saved the paper.

When the furnace blower failed to shut off a brisk fire started from the overheated furnace. As the heat became more intense the sprinkler system of the plant began to work, drenching the incipient conflagration. By the time the firemen arrived the fire was out.

New Towboat Type Would Reduce Cost Of River Projects

A development which may be of great importance to this district in its fight for the improvement of the Mahoning, Beaver and Shenango rivers has just been announced by the Department of Commerce. A new type of towboat for use in shallow waterways is being operated on one of the principal tributaries of the Ohio river, and if practical it will mean the utilization of 15,000 miles of inland stream hitherto useless for commercial navigation.

The "caterpillar river towboat," as it is called, is still in an experimental stage, but is believed to have great possibilities. Dr. L. P. Nickell, chief of the inland waterways section of the Department of Commerce, states that it operates at maximum efficiency in four feet of water. If experience should prove this to be true, the canalization of the three local rivers might cost only $25,000,000 or perhaps, much less, instead of $40,000,000, as now estimated, and every million cut from the cost makes the plan more practical and increases the chances of putting it through.

Incidentally, it is worth noting that the Department of Commerce itself is enthusiastic over the new discovery, and that in its own publicity it is pointing out the great advantage the caterpillar towboat will be to industries.

small wing rudders on sides, bow or stern and operate both as pulling boats and pushing boats at the head or the tail of a fleet of barges. The fleet operates in one formation down stream and in a different formation upstream. On the upstream run a large or powerful boat is at the front, pulling the fleet; on the downstream run the same boat is at the rear pushing the fleet.

Under the new system, if it proves practicable, the towboats, which will handle a fleet of barges much as a locomotive handles a train of cars, will be equipped with Diesel electric drive and will burn crude oil and fuel. The barges are designed to load at side or at top and may be equipped for transporting lumber, oil, coal and various other commodities.

Experience in Europe has proved that navigation of such rivers as the Mahoning, Beaver and Shenango is perfectly practicable, and if this new invention turns out well it should make the cost of utilizing these streams much lower than estimated now.

Recent Bride Is Killed In Crash

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Mrs. Wayne Dickey, 25, of Girard, a bride of two months, was killed instantly when her automobile skidded on a Nickel Plate railroad crossing here and crashed into the rear of a west-bound freight train. A companion, Mrs. Florence Morton, 25, suffered only minor injuries.

True, the Orient has most of earth's population; but why worry? The wolf doesn't lose sleep because rabbits are prolific.

Set Record In Tax Payments

Mercer County Taxes All Paid
With Exception Of Four Cases, Report Shows

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 13.—With four exceptions all county tax is paid up to the year of 1928 the record at the office of the county Treasurer shows.

The reduced list of delinquents is unusual.

The four exceptions are cases where it is impossible to collect tax due to impending litigation that has tied up the property.

Under the new tax law taxes will be cleaned up each year. In ten years delinquent taxes will be an obsolete word in the Mercer county.

Starting with January 1st of 1930 tax collectors are empowered with an authority they never before possessed. Tax liens will be filed on all real estate and personal taxes left for collection.

Heavy penalties in both cases are added and where real estate is not paid for the property will be sold on the first Monday of August next.

DESTITUTION REPORTED

Many cases of want and destitution are reported by county nurse Mrs. M. Lyons, in Mercer county.

In homes of miners and farmers alike, lack of the necessities of life are evident the nurse reports.

In the majority of cases it is due to lack of employment of the family bread winner, altho sickness and injury have played their part in these tragedies.

Unless some sort of assistance is extended between now and December 25th there are any number of children in eastern Mercer county who will miss the Yuletide joy and be hungry as well. The condition is said to be pitiable in many instances.

REZNOR IMPROVES

G. F. Reznor, head of the Reznor Company here, is reported improved. Mr. Reznor has been ill for several days with an attack of stomach trouble.

REHEARSAL PROGRAMS

Christmas programs of an attractive nature are being rehearsed in every county high school it is made known by the county educators.

The major portion of the programs will be held on the date of December 20th which marks the close of schools for the Yuletide vacation.

HOLD LITERARY MEETS

Special interest is being taken in the literary contests of this evening due to the fact that for the first time in county history the schools will contest in dramatic sketches. These replace the debates and essays on the program.

CRIME AT LOW EBB

Crime at its lowest ebb in county affairs for many years veteran peace officers allege.

The bootleggers have either not started or given up running Christmas liquor.

MANY ESTATES SETTLED

Inheritance Tax Collector Frank P. Smith of Grove City reports an average of 32 estates a month credited to his department for the last 12 months.

Smith is responsible for the collection of all tax of this nature in Mercer county. The estates vary in size from a few dollars to many thousands.

The number keeps on an average of this total.

GAME SEASON ENDS

All excitement of the big game season happened the first week. Local hunters have returned home either with or without a deer. So far but one bear has been reported shot by a county hunter while the score of deer will easily sum 50 head say the veteran sportsmen.

So far the score on deer in the county totals but three. Two fine bucks are said to have been shot in Worth township, a doe in Pymatung.

FEWER LIENS FILED

The total of municipal liens filed at the office of the county Prothonotary during 1929 will be just half the total of 1928 says Daisy T. Morse. The 1928 figure was 1,000.

Along with this reduction the records show that the number of judgments and executions filed show a like slump.

The year of 1928 was the record of the office for business transacted in every department.

There is no reason to believe that 1929 will break records in any department.

City Mission Asks For Contributions

Superintendent Seeks Donations
For Christmas Basket
Writes Letter

A letter asking New Castle residents to donate money, canned goods or provisions of any kind for the City Mission's annual treat to the poor and needy of the city, has been given out by Rev. Benjamin J. Watkins, superintendent.

Mr. Watkins letter reads:

CITY RESCUE MISSION

Dear Friends:

As we are once again reminded of God's greatest gift to the world, as He gave Himself for us, let us in turn give to Him. He said, "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Last year with your help we were able to take care of about 100 poor families and this year we feel the demand will be greater.

Anyone wishing to help in sustaining our needy folks in contributing money, canned goods or food provisions of any kind call us at Bell 430. We will be glad to call for it or leave it at the Mission.

Thanking you for your interest in bringing Christmas cheer, for God loves a cheerful giver.

Yours truly,
Rev. B. J. WATKINS,
Superintendent.

Anniversary Of George Junior Republic Held

Grove City Institution For De-
20th Birthday

GROVE CITY, Dec. 13.—Officials of the George Junior Republic celebrated the 20th anniversary of the establishment of the institution with an appropriate program, the principal speaker being Attorney L. S. Levin of Pittsburgh president of the board of directors. The program was of a historical nature. Just 20 years ago the George Junior Republic was dedicated.

For the past eighteen and one-half years Earl D. Bruner has been superintendent of the institution.

During the program he gave a very interesting talk upon the progress and accomplishments that has been made through its organization. Mr. Bruner stated that the George Junior was now past the experimental stage and the need of the institution was such that it was now necessary to plan for a program of expansion.

Mr. Bruner said that during the past 20 years, 1,393 boys and girls have been citizens of the Republic and as near as can be estimated 75 percent of these have lived up to their possibilities in a fair degree.

Among the citizens the following report was given to show the effect of the Republic training. The first judge is now 36 years of age and is cashier of a bank, the second is on the editorial staff of a metropolitan newspaper, the third is in business in Pontiac, Mich.

The present judge, Harry Rosequist is a member of the senior class of the Grove City high school and has made quite a record in athletics, being a member of this year's football team. He will enter Grove City college in the fall.

LEAVES FOR HARRISBURG.

E. B. Harshaw left this morning for Harrisburg where he will attend a joint session of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis club and the Dauphin County Agricultural club. Mr. Harshaw will speak before the farmer and banker groups of the meeting.

DECORATE STREET.

The Christmas tree decorations are now being installed on South Broad street and when completed will add much to the appearance of this street for the holiday season. A neat appearing small Christmas tree is being placed at the curb in the hole which was used for the flags and when completed will make a full line of trees on both sides of the street from West Main street to the Bessemer railroad tracks. In addition the electric light department has started work on the stringing of additional electric lights across the street for same distance.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE.

The Grove City public schools will close December 20 and remain closed until Monday following New Year's day.

IN PITTSBURGH

R. M. Leslie, a former county commissioner of Lawrence county, spent Thursday in Pittsburgh meeting with the Public Service Commission, in regard to an improvement he would like to have done in this county.

English Girls To Bring Old Music

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Miss Vera Maconochie, daughter of the well-known "canned food" manufacturer is leaving for America with a group of young singers to make a tour of the states with songs and music of Old England, in reply to American "canned music."

A beautiful girl of 24 Miss Maconochie will be accompanied by a party of four. They will take with them a flute, a harp, an organ and an instrument which dates back to 1770 resembling the spinet.

The old English songs are beautiful and I believe that the Americans will find them inspiring after their hectic jazz.

Local Hunter, Minus His Gun And Shells, Chased By Deer

This is the height of something or other, mostly double absent-mindedness.

It seems that in New Castle where the good citizens are always leading with one thing and another, that it was left to a would-be-deer hunter to pull the fastest one of the season.

A certain hunter (modestly forbids telling his name) started out from New Castle bent on filling some fine buck deer full of lead and then proudly exhibiting his prowess with the firearms.

Together with a party of friends the gentleman proceeded into the dense woods somewhere in Pennsylvania and prepared for the trek that he fully expected to produce a big antler. Lo and behold when the things were unpacked at camp, the gentleman had forgotten his gun in his hurried departure from our fair domain.

Borrowed Shotgun.

Well his friends, being good ones, the kind to have at all times, consented to let him use a big rifle in his quest of the deer. The man started out and slung the rifle over his shoulder, ala the Old Puritan fashion.

It wasn't very long until he could hear a crackling of the brush and undergrowth in front of him and he waited almost breathlessly for the big prize to put in his appearance. It was a big buck deer, with fine antlers and everything. The man in question reached for his shells to get set for Mr. Deer but to his astonishment had forgot to bring any shells from the camp for the gun and the gun being of the modern kind would not shoot minus some incentive.

Of all the predicaments in the world to be in. Oh to be any place but here, to be at home reading The New Castle News, well in fact any place but right here in the Pennsylvania woods faced with a possibility of shooting a fine deer and without any visible means of accomplishing the said deed.

Hides Behind Tree.

The would-be hunter saw the buck was coming right smack down the path towards him, maybe the deer had an intuition that he would live to roam another day anyway he kept getting closer to the New Castle man. Imagine the embarrassment when

Mr. Hunter had to step behind a tree to keep from shaking hands with the buck. The deer raced on and never will know perhaps how near and yet so far away from death he was.

The Indians never starved because they forgot their bow and arrow and if they did happen to be in a hurry and forgot their shooting piece they usually tackled the deer or bear with a big long wicked looking knife, but the New Castle man may not have even had a knife with him.

Anyway the idea of jumping on the back of the deer and wrestling him to a standstill never occurred to him.

Moral—In hunting always use a gun and do not forget shells.

Little Maud Finds That Santa Has Keen Memory

Maud is a very little girl and lives out in the country, not so very far from New Castle. Santa Claus, however, always finds his way there, and Maud is always quite decided on just what she wants him to bring.

Last Christmas it was to be a very large doll, with eyes that opened and shut just when they should and dolly must have a blue dress. The size of the doll was the most important consideration—it must be large!

Christmas morning came. Out of her bed and into the cold living room hurried Maud. In front of the fire place hung two well-filled stockings, but quickly, Maud could see no large doll was hidden in them. There then? She looked around. It was quite impossible that Santa Claus could have overlooked such specific directions.

Disappointed, with her arms full of oranges and toys, Maud went back to bed. After all, bed was such a warm place and she could think it over. Just then, her older sister entered the room.

"Santa Claus forgot the doll," said Maud.

Mail Order House Asked For Pardon

NASHVILLE, Dec. 13.—Efforts of mail order houses to break into the pardon business in Tennessee have gotten away to a bad start.

On the desk of Institutions Commissioner Lyle now reposes a letter from a wife in Memphis, Tenn., pleading that her husband be pardoned of a liquor sentence.

Swarms Of Locusts Working Down The Nile

CAIRO Dec. 13.—Swarms of locusts have appeared in Upper Egypt on their way down the Nile.

One swarm which has settled on the trees at Suint was 2-3 of a mile long and 150 feet wide. The natives are exterminating them and have already killed 1,000 pounds of them.

County Federation

Of Women's Clubs

The splendid record of achievement of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in behalf of American Womanhood, of the American Home, and of the American Nation has been recognized by our government and the cooperation of the United States Department of Commerce has been extended to the federation by its secretary, the Honorable Robert P. Lamont.

Sec. Lamont has named Mr. Ray Hudson, assistant director of the Bureau of Standards, as liaison officer between the department and the federation. Miss Bertha Nienberg, economic consultant of the federation, has been retained as economic consultant in the bureau of standards to assist Mr. Hudson in making available to us the fund of scientific information, the expert consul, and assistance to be found in this branch of our Federal government.

Under the cooperative agreement, the vast amount of actual material which the federation has gathered through its thoroughly conducted home and community surveys of recent years will be made available to the bureau of standards.

Mr. Ray Hudson in acknowledging this new relationship between the federation and the department of commerce said, "Housekeeping or home-making—no longer economics—remains the important business of the world. Government, politics, war, business—none of these exercises so profound an influence over the destinies of man as housekeeping. It engages the hearts and minds of more people and calls for higher qualities in service than any other occupation. Each woman faces it single handed. To keep her house successfully she must know an appalling number of things." He showed his knowledge of woman's many duties by naming forty-on different occupations that must be mastered by the successful "Home-maker."

In regard to the elimination of waste which is so necessary since it leads to higher efficiency and economy in manufacturing and selling; to greater stability in industry and business; and thus to steadier employment, increase earnings and increased consumption of goods and services, Mr. Hudson said, "All this evidence of waste, and the story of effort towards its elimination, sums up into an opportunity for the General Federation of Women's Clubs and its 14,500 member clubs to speed up that movement, so that the savings and benefits will come to you earlier, faster, and in greater proportion."

Mrs. Sippel, general federation president, urges the clubs to approach their problems through this new channel of service. "Because we are most anxious to aid the movement for intelligently planned programs to revitalize community life, let us call upon this bureau first for assistance on community problems. Tell the bureau of standards of your club's efforts and interests. They, in turn, will bring to you information and help in solving the problems."

"For our part," stated Mr. Hudson, "we will be most happy to help you."

Connecticut Airport Named For Bingham

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 13.—A large airport, being laid out on Milford turnpike, a few minutes by auto west of the center of New Haven by private capital, is to be named the Hiram Bingham airfield in honor of Connecticut's senior senator who has been a patron of air transportation for years.

Among structures being erected on the field is a building to house the Yale Aeronautical Society, a body of students industriously engaged in flying.

Mr. Sparano who is attending the Conservatory of Music, is in the advance class of Jean Ten Have, well known French Violinist, but owing to an accident which occurred to his finger, he will be unable to make his debut in Cincinnati.

Four Are Injured When Bus Skids

FRANKLIN, Pa. Dec. 13.—Four persons were injured, two critically, when the Franklin-Meadville bus, bound for Meadville, skidded on the ice covered Hannaville hill, struck a bridge abutment and was wrecked. The bus then took fire. Prompt work of George Strawbridge, a passenger, saved the lives of passengers.

The injured are: Mrs. Clarissa Elliott, Guy's Mills, internally injured, may die; Ed Wagner, 45 a farmer, Cochran, head injuries; Samuel Moore, 27, Franklin, driver of the car, badly cut; Mrs. William Stoughton, 49, Carleton, cut about head and face.

The injured were brought to Franklin hospital.

Vets Auxiliary Planning Party

Arrangements are being completed by the ladies auxiliary to the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the program and card party to be held on Thursday evening, December 19, in the Legion Home.

Proceeds from the event will be devoted to preparing a Christmas box for the children at the Eaton Rapids home for orphans of deceased World war veterans. There are 28 boys and 34 girls now housed at the home, officials of the institution state.

Many visitors from surrounding posts are expected to attend the party Thursday evening, in addition to the local veterans and their wives.

AIRPORT BRINGS ON A PLAGUE OF SKUNKS

(International News Service) NEW HAVEN, Dec. 13.—The process of creating an airport in a salt water swamp in the Morris Cove district here led to an inadvertent plague of skunks for the residents. The animals were dislodged by the workers in the swamp and promptly invaded many blocks of homes.

Firemen in the district, engaged house spent hours slapping the animals which raised havoc for days before they were exterminated. A cynic is merely a ripe boob. ## Plan Nature Exhibit For State Convention

Room 214 of the Senior high school will see a rather unusual exhibit during the state convention of the P. S. E. A. here on December 26 and 27. Here will be found the Nature Exhibit and the probabilities are that it will attract a crowd of visitors.

One of the most interesting subjects taught in our schools today is nature. Every child looks forward to the days when nature is to be taught. Is it any wonder, for who would not enjoy a class room where text books are tabooed and living subjects take their place? In many nature rooms can be found pets a child has longed to possess but has been forbidden to bring home. Some of these pets and the work accomplished by children during their class periods will be found in the educational exhibition.

In order that the child will associate nature's gifts with the time of the year they are to be found, the subject is taught according to the seasons. For this reason the nature exhibit has been divided into four parts. The first division will contain such materials as are taught during the autumn months. The school doors have scarcely been opened in the fall until eager children rush in with specimens of wild flowers, butterflies and moths. These have been mounted and may be seen at the exhibit. Many collections of brightly colored leaves, specimens of the wood of our native trees, seeds, berries and nuts will bear witness of the keen interest displayed in nature. Some pupils have shown their love of nature by making leaf moulds, while others have stuffed and mounted animals and birds. Our first and second grade pupils have developed a unique project on farm life showing the great preparation there is for winter.

The second division contains the material studied during the winter season. The glorious Christmas greens introduce this season. Here we find the many different types of pine and spruce, laurel, mistletoe, holly and poinsettia. A beautiful bird's Christmas tree shows that the children carry the Christmas spirit to their little nature friends. Different types of bird houses and feeding stations will be on display. Perhaps the most interesting project of this season will be that of a beaver dam, worked out by fifth and sixth grade pupils.

The third and final season we are able to study is spring. Most pupils like this season best of all. In the fall they have watched Mother Nature quietly put her children to sleep, but now she awakens them that they might be enjoyed. In this section of the exhibit may be seen an interesting project on seed germination, also one on birds showing the different birds and the types of nests they build and where they are built, a model lawn constructed by one of our boys, and an observation bee hive.

The fourth part of the exhibit is not confined to any particular season, but the pets, aquariums, plants, turtles, and stuffed birds and animals from the various nature rooms in our schools may be observed here. Reference material used in the teaching of nature will also be on exhibition. The correlation of nature and English is shown by a very attractive display of booklets.

Just outside the room in the hall, charts showing such types of work as: the life history of a moth, the results of a Garden club and Junior Audubon societies, winter bird visitors, our migratory birds, the solar system, different types of snow flakes, slides of wild flowers, photographs of flowers and insects, the parts of a flower, and conservation will be on display.

Sweetheart Must Return Lover's Money

WASHINGTON, Pa. Dec. 13.—Jonathan White, of Monongahela was awarded a verdict for $1,600 by a jury in civil court here. The amount had been paid by White to Flora Foreman, of Monongahela, during a courtship, which did not result in marriage.

When the woman failed to live up to her promise of marrying him, White sued for return of the money he had advanced.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS,
Editor, The Farm Journal.

Written for Central Press.

About the time you read this column or a little later the two houses of congress will be deadlocked again over the old question of export debentures for farmers.

That deadlock, I am sure, will be broken the same way it was the last time by a back-down of the senate and a victory for the house of representatives.

The export debenture plan in case you have forgotten is the special pet of that big influential farm organization the National Grange. They adopted it some years ago and have pushed it vigorously ever since just as the Farm Bureau federation adopted the famous equalization fee plan which the federation twice pushed as far as the desk of President Coolidge.

But the Grange has not had so much success with the export debenture. It has the serious defect that it would reduce the income of the United States treasury by two or three hundred million dollars every year and is therefore savagely attacked as an open subsidy or hand-out to farmers and exporters.

In fact some opponents have tried to prove with some success that exporting corporations would collar the whole two hundred million and farmers would get none of it.

However that may be the National Grange has continued to push the plan and only the other day reaffirmed its belief in it at its annual convention in Seattle.

The senate has shown itself consistently favorable to this scheme. Last spring the senate put it into the agricultural marketing act over the objection of President Hoover and only took it out when the house refused to consider the marketing act bill with this in it.

At the present time the senate has again voted the debenture plan into the pending tariff bill in a little milder form. When this comes to be considered in conference with the house I have no doubt the house will balk again and the result will be another defeat for the senatorial forces.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the republic of Poland has just granted export bounties of 11 to 17 cents a bushel to those who will ship out of the country wheat, rye, oats, barley and flour.

Austria at about the same time has put in a system of true export debentures where the bounty is paid, not in cash but in paper certificates which can be presented the same as cash for payment of tariff duties on incoming merchandise of any kind.

These two European countries evidently have faith in the plan. Perhaps their experience with it may give us some light on the subject in the next couple of years.

WE ARE OLD WHEN—

We no longer have a thirst for knowledge.
We no longer thrill at the thought of work.
We no longer laugh at adversity and ignore danger.
We begin to doubt our ability to hold on.
We begin to measure time by the calendar rather than by accomplishments.
We begin our day's task without enthusiasm.
We decide that we must fight our day's battles without the friendship of God.

Industrialism's New Day

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text.

"As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."—Luke 6:31.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

The story of God's people ground under the crushing burdens of Egyptian bondage gives us a glimpse into the Dark Ages of labor's upward struggle in the history of the race. "They did set over them taskmasters to afflict them with their burdens.... And they made their lives bitter with hard bondage, in mortar, and in brick, and in all manner of service in the field." Thus for more than 3,000 years thereafter the blight and curse of human slavery rested upon the mass of earth's toilers as the mark of man's inhumanity to man. It was not that God ordained that it should be so, for immediately after the shackles of the Egyptians were stricken off God gave that eloquent summary of man's duties to his fellow men: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." But man in his stupidity never thought of his slave as his neighbor, so the law of love was not thought of as applicable to slaves.

The Gospel and Slavery.

Indeed not until Christ came with his gospel of brotherly love, and the Golden Rule, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise," did there appear any streak of light to prophesy the dawn of a new day for the world's toiling masses. He came as a father, unashamed of the lot and life of the village carpenter for 30 years, always eager to show mercy upon the burden bearers. He stands forth clearly against a dark background, crying: "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." He did not attack slavery directly, but he did enunciate great fundamental principles of love and mercy and justice which began working silently as leaven in the meal of society and industry toward the evolution of a new era.

The horny handed tent maker of Tarsus caught the spirit of his Master's teaching and embodied it in the gem of tactful courtesy he wrote to Philemon in behalf of his runaway slave Onesimus: "Receive him—not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother beloved.... both in the flesh and in the Lord." In the same spirit Paul urges the Ephesian slave owners: "Ye masters, do the same things unto them, forbearing threatening; knowing that your Master also is in heaven; neither is there respect of persons with him." Thus, the gospel, in no revolutionary manner, but in a quiet, inward evolutionary manner, has established the fundamental principles of liberty, equality and fraternity which in time made human slavery intolerable, and banished it from the earth.

The Unfinished Task.

There is still much to be done before the Golden Rule displaces the rule of gold in industrial relations. Progress has indeed been made toward eliminating the curse of child labor, unnecessary hazards to the laborer, intolerably long hours and starvation wages. But tremendous problems still demand solution. A just and equitable sharing by labor of the wealth it produces; a decent living wage for the years of labor and provision for that rainy day of old age "when no man can work"; reasonable assurance against unemployment for those eager to work; in short, brotherly, Christian consideration by both capital and labor of the reciprocal rights and responsibilities due each from the other, an honest day's wages for the worker and an honest day's work for the employer, for the Golden Rule works both ways; it is as applicable to labor as to capital. And only as both sides apply it will the full dawn of a new and better day be ushered into modern industrialism.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN made him wide-awake and well — doctor prescribed it

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve the prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, laggy and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'"

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better. I felt better and acted better. I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it—relieve it. Just eat two table-spoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Women Have Right To Ride In Club Cars

ST. ALBANS Vt., Dec. 13.—Women have as much right in club cars as men.

That was the ruling made regarding the mooted question on Central Vermont Railway trains. The ruling was made by J. W. Hanley, general passenger and freight agent for the railroad.

It came as result of inquiries made to train crews by women passengers on the "Washingtonian," "Montreal" and the "New Englander" as to the rights to use the club and lounge cars on these trains for smoking purposes.

Thus the rights of fair sex to enjoy smoking privilege with the men was recognized.

Would Change Name Of Connecticut College

(International News Service.)

NEW LONDON Conn., Dec. 13.—Alumnae of the Connecticut College for Women have been engaged in a movement to have the name changed in order to avert a disposition to consider the institution as coming under state endowment. Dr. Katherine Blunt, new president of the college, has come to the aid of these who want the name kept. She insists the name is proper, and has revealed the fact that less than twenty of the 560 students now in the college have scholarships to aid them.

Local Men Enlist In Army Service

New Castle Station Sends Six Recruits To Various Points
During Month

Six men were enlisted into the service of the United States army by Corporal J. W. Thompson in charge of the local recruiting station, during the month just past, his report showed today.

Those men who entered the ranks from here were Frank McKay and Marie Young of New Castle, who went to the Aberdeen proving ground in Maryland; Walter Lapinsky of Ellwood, who joined the air corps at Bolling field, D. C.; James A. Kratochivie of Jeanette, who joined the 34th infantry, Fort Eustis, Va.; Clarence Butcheck of Franklin, who joined the 12th infantry corps at Fort Washington, Md.; and Clyde Hollibaugh of Sharon, who joined the coast artillery at Fort Eustis.

Corporal Thompson's list of vacancies that now exist include the following:

Those in U. S. service: Infantry at Fort Washington, Md.; engineers at Ft. Humphrey, Va.; 12th infantry at Ft. Howard and chemical warfare service at the Edgewood arsenal.

Second corps area, West Point Military academy, for previous-service men. Eight corps area, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, California, infantry, field artillery and cavalry.

Foreign vacancies: Air corps and field artillery, quartermaster's corps, C. W. S., engineers and signal corps for those having a high school education or an equivalent, at Panama.

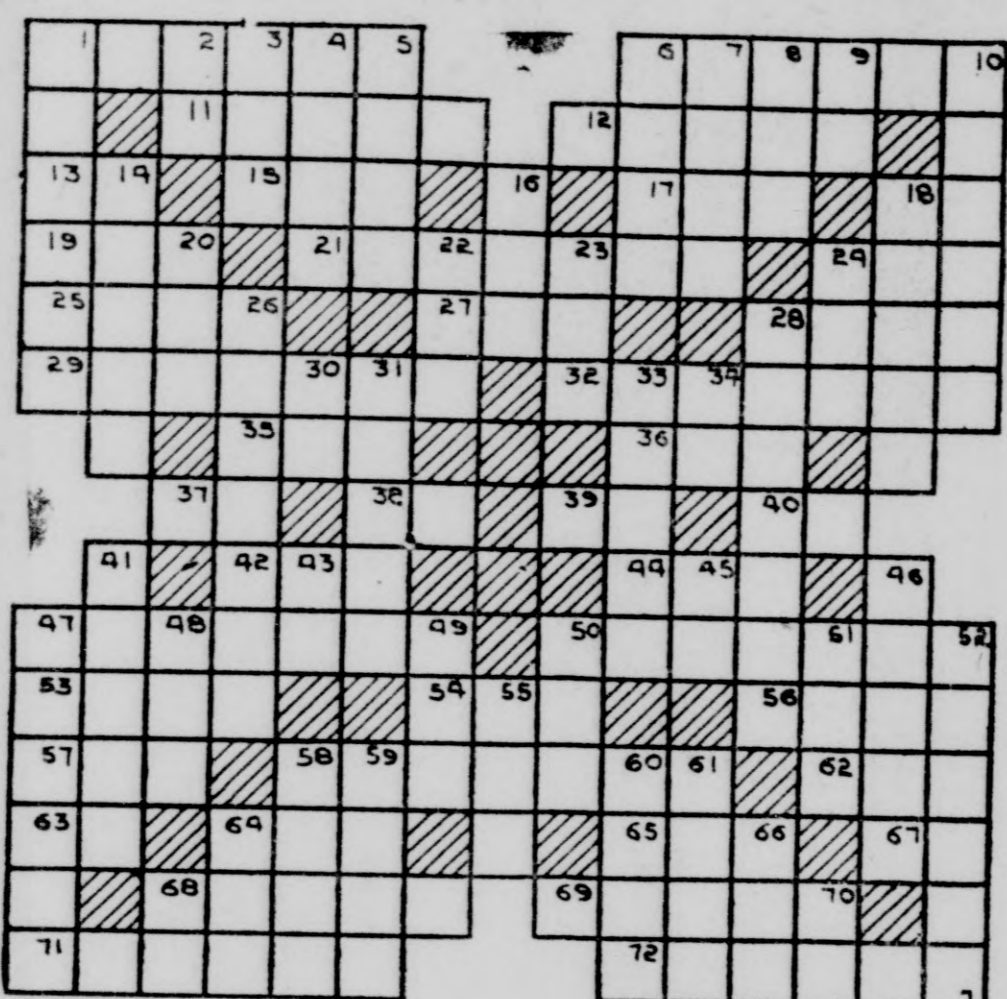

At Hawaii: Air corps, quartermaster corps and signal corps for those with high school education or an equivalent. Previous-service men are also desired for China service.

'Namesake Towns' Tercentenary Plan

BOSTON, Dec. 13.—Preparations for the 1930 celebration of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary include plans for "namesake towns" to exchange visits during the tercentenary period.

Salem, Massachusetts, intends to meet with Salem, Oregon. Springfield, Massachusetts, will play host to representatives from the various Springfields throughout the country. Framingham, the only town of that name in the United States, hopes to receive visits from the the only Framingham in England. New England's Dorchester, now part of Boston, and Old England's Dorchester will celebrate jointly.

Peter's Adventures

UP COME THE HOBGOBLINS!

"Ya, Ya, Ya. He, He, He. Hy, Hy, Hy," chanted Biffer, his voice getting louder and louder. Suddenly Biffer cried shrilly, "Disappear, you old hobgoblins," and stamped upon the ground, and presto change! Behold there were the holes again, and plain to be seen as the nose on one's face.

"I never saw anything so queer in all my life," cried the boy, getting up and running toward Biffer. "Are you a magician? Those holes are there! Can you make them vanish again? What are they?" Peter bent down on one knee to look at the opening that was nearest him.

"Take care," warned Biffer. "Don't go too close to the edge or Tiger might grab you again. If he got hold of your head it would be the worse for you. I will call Tiger out and he will tell you his secret, if he is in a pleasant humor. If he is cross he'll only growl at us."

Being a baffle of his word, Biffer bent down toward the hole and called, "Tiger, Tiger." Out of the hole popped two bright eyes and a large head with toothed jaws. Out of his hair came the queerest creature the boy had yet seen. Out of every hole popped a Tiger. Beetle. The queer fellows formed a circle around Peter and Biffer. For a moment the boy wondered what was going to become of him among so many fierce looking strangers. With one voice the Tiger Beetles cried:

"Well, cousin, what do you want of us?"

"I want you to meet one of my best friends," Biffer answered promptly. The Tiger Beetles bowed their big heads politely, and one among them rose and said:

"I wish to apologize. Had we guessed you were a friend of Cousin Biffer we would never have attacked you, boy! Next time you come our way just call us by name and say, 'El. Ay. Eleja,' since that is the password of our clan and we'll go unharmed."

"Oh thank you," said the boy. I shall do that every time I find a tiger hole. Say, Tiger Beetle, how did you happen to be able to grab me before I even saw you?"

Next: "Family Secrets."

Connecticut Diocese Hundred Years Old

(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 13.—The Roman Catholic diocese of Hartford, which includes the whole state of Connecticut, and a part of Rhode Island, will be one hundred years old next June, and as a part of the centennial observance Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, Bishop of Hartford, will dedicate new buildings for the Seminary of St. Thomas, the leading Roman Catholic educational institution in the state. New buildings now being erected for the seminary will have a capacity of four hundred students as compared with two hundred now.

Since the first church in the diocese was dedicated on June 17, 1830 by Bishop Fenwick, of Boston, who then had jurisdiction over all New England, the diocese of Hartford has grown to have a membership of 602,329.

P. H. C. Elects Officers For 1930

Representatives To Grand Circle Also Named At Session

At the regular session of the P. H. C. Wednesday evening the officers for the year 1930 were elected with Deputy W. M. Shirey, Edna Crain, and Nellie Barber acting as tellers. When the ballots were counted the results showed that the following had been chosen:

President—Helen Hurst
Vice President—David Tucker
Guardian—Helen Ray
Secretary—Lillie B. Jones
Treasurer—George W. Wyman
Chaplain—Mary Patterson Guide—Mildred Back
Companion—Nora McCann
Sentinel—Nellie Ingram
Watchman—Flora Cunningham
Pianist—Harry Hammond
Trustee—3 years—Harry Hammond

Those selected to represent the circle at the Grand Circle meeting were past presidents Irma Halbach, A. L. Conn, Helen Ray, Roy Erwin, Leonard E. Dandy with Belle Kennedy as first alternate and Clara Cunningham as second alternate.

The accountant, George W. Muse, is appointed by the supreme board of directors of Sharon to continue in his duties and is now entering upon his fifteenth year in that office. Lillie B. Jones, was re-elected as secretary and reporter and is entering upon her 14th year in the same office and treasurer George W. Wyman will begin his eleventh year in service for the circle, records of which these officers feel proud.

Owing to the next regular meeting night falling on Christmas day it was decided not to meet that evening but to hold a short business session on Wednesday evening January 1, 1930, which will be followed by the annual party for the children. This party is exclusively for members and their families. The committee on arrangements for this party will include Roy Erwin, trustee, chairman and Margaret Hammond, Ida Patton, Edna Crain, Gertrude Halboth and L. E. Dandy.

The circle will hold another card party Wednesday, December 18th.

Women Leaves $1,000 To Care For Her Cats

(International News Service)
DALLAS, Dec. 13.—A will left by Mrs. Francis A. Snyder, who died here recently created a trust fund of $1,000 for the perpetual care of the woman's cats.

Mrs. Snyder had few friends and spent most of her time with her beloved tabbies.

When the cats die the money is to be turned over to the Hollywood Humane Society.

Honorable Graves For Rebel Vets

(International News Service)
DALLAS, Dec. 13.—Rather than permit the "desecration" of the bodies of Confederate soldiers by students of the University of Texas medical college, Representative Jack Keller has declared he personally will pay all funeral expenses for the old heroes.

A state law now in effect says that the medical college can have the bodies of the soldiers and their widows who are inmates of state institutions if unclaimed upon their death. The college would or course, use them for dissection and experimentation.

Keller said he would attempt at the next legislature to have the law repealed or modified. In the meantime he asked that he be informed of the deaths of veterans or their widows when the bodies were unclaimed by relatives so that he might prevent them from being "subjected to indignity."

To Let Contract For Addition To Vets Hospital

Efforts Of Congressman J. Howard Swick To Be Rewarded, Vets Bureau Head States

$152,000 WILL BE SPENT AT ASPINWALL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—Through the efforts of Congressman J. Howard Swick, Director Frank T. Hines of the United States Veterans' Bureau announces that $152,000 will be spent on the proposed addition to the veterans' hospital in Aspinwall, which would extend the scope of the hospital to include general medical patients as well as the tubercular, to which the hospital is now limited.

Contracts for the addition, which will add 50 beds to the hospital, will be let shortly, and it is hoped that construction will be begun by March 1st.

The announcement of the definite allotment by the veterans' bureau for the addition comes after a long campaign on the part of Congressman Swick, who as a member of the veterans' legislative committee of the house held up the veterans' building program until assurance was given him that an allotment would be made.

Although the veterans' hospital at Aspinwall is the only such institution in western Pennsylvania, it has been necessary to send patients other than tubercular to either the veterans' hospital in Philadelphia or Walter Reed hospital here. The Congressman has taken in general medical and surgical patients also, and tried last session without success to include it in the general building program.

Now that the addition to the hospital is assured, Congressman Swick is working toward an appropriation for a new administration building for the Aspinwall institution.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Riffer, head of the department of German at the senior high school, students who are studying that language presented an interesting program to juniors and sophomores in the regular assembly period Thursday morning.

Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green made the chief address, and among other things said that during the war period the study of German was discontinued. Now, since it has been resumed, and he stated he is glad it has, he hopes more students will elect it to their courses of study.

Principal F. L. Orth followed Dr. Green and declared that he believes German is one of the most important modern languages offered for study.

Students spoke during the remainder of the period, giving their own opinions of the language.

At the start of the program little Jennie Nuccia of the Pollock avenue school made a brief announcement opening the sale of Christmas seals.

Following is the entire program with the student speakers introduced by Robert Wilson:

Devotionals—Principal Orth.

Explanation of program—Miss Mary Riffer.

Address on German—Superintendent C. C. Green.

Bessemer High School Notes

On Monday, Dec. 2, the Royal Holland Bell Ringers gave a performance at the Bessemer high school auditorium. This program proved to be very interesting and entertaining, as there was a great deal of variety.

The buzzer system for signalling classes to change has been installed in the Bessemer high school. These buzzers are regulated by an electric clock in the auditorium, which is run by the same electric clock as the buzzers are.

On Wednesday, Dec. 11, the report cards of the various classes were given out. This concluded the second six weeks period.

The addition to the high school building is finally complete. Every room is now in use. This annex is greatly appreciated, for it relieves the cramped conditions that existed heretofore. The new study hall is also to be the school library. It is furnished with tables and correct posture chairs.

Friday evening, Dec. 13, the Bessemer boys and girls meet New Wilmington at New Wilmington for the first basketball game of the current season.

Old Chinese Relic To Boston Museum

(International News Service) BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 13.—Chinese gold inlay measure, one of the oldest standard measures in existence, which bears a date similar to about 81 A. D., was donated to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, as the gift of Dr. Denman W. Ross. The measure is of pewter, inlaid with gold. At that time, the Chinese used the decimal system, and this measure, about four inches shorter than our foot ruler, is divided into ten parts. Each section is divided into tenths, each division made by gold inlay.

(International News Service) MENA, Ark., Dec. 13.—Citizens of this little city are on the lookout for the meanest thief in the Ozark region, who recently robbed George Counterman, blind and crippled. The blind man was robbed of his only pair of pants and $17 in cash. Counterman was saving the money to pay taxes on a little home he owns near Cove.

Returns To Prison After 13 Years

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Dec. 19.—An ink-smudged check has led to the return here of George Green, alias Jack Edmondson, for the completion of a prison sentence after he had been at liberty for more than 13 years.

Green, thrice convicted for horse-stealing, escaped from the state penitentiary here in 1916. No trace was found of him until a few weeks ago when he was arrested on a charge of passing a worthless check. A smear of ink on the check gave a perfect likeness of his thumbprint, and it was the same as the print on the prison records here.

Ellwood Loses
To Beaver Falls

Good Game Is Played Last Night By High School Teams

(By TONY PASTA)
ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—Coach Lee and his blue and white basketball team traveled to Beaver Falls last night to drop another inter-sectional contest by a score of 20-11. The Tigers were forced to their best to overcome the Tubers in close opposition. Lee's men were slow in starting and the valley quint led at the end of the first quarter, 4 to 2. Dunn scored two goals in the second period to give his mates a 7 to 5 lead at the half. Neither team seemed to get started at the opening of the half until Dunn fouled Hutzley, who made a point. Due to a number of fouls on McKim and Dunn, the Tigers took a lead of 13 to 7 at the end of the third session. During this period McKim and Dunn were forced out of the battle for fouls. The Tubers did not score while the opponents piled up their points. As the last part of the tilt swung into action, another of Ellwood's men was lost as Justine was called out for fouls. The remainder of the fray was without features except that Tachovsky continued his good work to bring his mates a larger lead. Dunn was Ellwood's outstanding performer as he sank two baskets and Rossman the other. King and Justine failed to score any goals as they were closely guarded. Tachovsky was the big star of the battle as he sank four goals and tossed in two from the black line. He was ably assisted by Moore and Murphy. Joe's brilliant performance brought victory to his mates. Next week both Monaca and Beaver Falls return the engagements on the local floor on Tuesday and Thursday nights. These inter-sectional battles will furnish the Ellwood quintet with plenty of practice for the first sectional contest in January. Last night's fray was the second to be lost by the blue and white as they dropped the first of Monaca on Tuesday night. Lineup:

Ellwood 11 Beaver Falls 20
King ..... F ..... Murphy
Justine ..... F ..... Gibson
Fanno ..... C ..... Hutzley
McKim ..... G ..... Moore
Dunn ..... G ..... Tachovsky
Subs: Ellwood—Cavalier for King, Stasik for Justine, Cloak for Fanno, Rossman for McKim, Dudick for Dunn, Beaver Falls—Tuster for Murphy, Keister for Gibson, Gordon for Moore, Murphy for Hutzley.
Field goals—Dunn 2, Rossman, Murphy 2, Tachovsky 4, Moore. Fouls—King 1-1, Justine 2-3, Stasik 0-1, Fanno 0-1, McKim 2-2, Dunn 1-2, Keister 0-1, Gibson 2-5, Hutzley 1-2, Moore 1-4 and Tachovsky 2-5. Referee—Harr.

Seasons Schedule

Miss Cooper's Blue And White
Sextette Will Open Season
Tonight With Oil City

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—Miss Cooper's blue and white sextet will open their season sooner than previously announced, as they go into action tonight with Oil City at Oil City. This is a hard contest for an opener for the local lassies as Oil City girls team went undefeated in their last two years, as did Sharon, whom the local lassies meet next week. Up until this time, nine games have been carded for the local girls. The schedule includes two contests with Alliquippa, New Castle and Beaver Falls while more are being sought by Faculty Manager Shaffer. The sextet this year is led by Miss Virginia Blazin, who last season stamped herself as one of the best forwards in this district. Great work is expected of her tonight against Oil City. She will be paired with Babe Offutt, with Elizabeth Sibole at center, Mary Kuban side center and Bertha Caplan and Ruth Jordan as guards. All of these players received letters last year except Ruth Jordan, who has developed rapidly enough to make the first string. Three more members of the squad who won letters last year are: Mary Thompson and Eleanor Cox, forwards and Evelyn Lindgren, center. Among the other reserves on the list are: Viola Bookamer, Beulah Snare and Ruth King. With two hard contests in sight, the girls must put forth their best efforts to bring home the bacon. They will no doubt look forward to the battle with New Castle which is now being coached by Miss Sarah McGoun, former coach of the local team. The girls are eager to win the opener tonight against Oil City, and it would be a sure way of testing their ability.

CHOICE OF FOUR UPRIGHTS
ONLY $25

Four fine uprights to go at only $25. Two good players at only $65. Baby Grands at correspondingly low prices. Never before in our history have we sold pianos at such ridiculous prices—Come in TONIGHT.

FREE 27 PIANOS FREE

We wish to place twenty-one Upright-Players and Grand Pianos in homes in New Castle and near-by towns free—you pay only the cartage, and you may use the piano until we need it, which will be an indefinite period. This is because Fredericks, the oldest music dealer in New Castle, is quitting business. We do not wish to place these pianos in storage, preferring to lease them with good families instead. You must call personally to make your selection.

We expect to have all these instruments delivered within a short time, so you must call early. Our store will be open every evening from now to Xmas until 10 o'clock.

THREE CITIES JOIN IN BIBLE CLASS CONTEST

At a meeting of representatives of the First M. E. Men's Bible class of Sharon, the Ellwood City M. E. Men's Bible class and the Epworth M. E. Men's Bible class of New Castle, held in the parlors of the First M. E. of Sharon Thursday evening, December 12, a tri-city membership contest was arranged.

The contest will start on January 6th, 1930 and will continue for ten weeks, with the winning class being banqueted in the city of the class finishing third. All of the three classes will participate in the banquet and this will be held sometime in April.

Representing the Ellwood City M. E. Men's Bible class were Rev. R. H. Little, L. W. Monroe, C. P. Cloak and W. J. Campbell. From the Epworth M. E. Men's Bible class of this city were

Rev. S. L. Maxwell, G. G. Stitzinger, William Blews, Wayne D. Stitzinger and Bart Richards.

In past years such contests have been arranged between two cities, but the fact that this takes in three adds to the interest and will undoubtedly develop into one of the warmest contests of the kind ever staged in the two counties.

All three of the classes have a large membership. On the rolls of the Sharon class are about 250 men, on the rolls of the Ellwood City class about 115 and on the New Castle class about 150. In order to equalize the contest, the points will be decided on the attendance and increase based on the average attendance. This gives each class an equal opportunity to win.

Council To Discuss Budget Next Tuesday

Council today designated Tuesday morning as the time, and city council chambers as the place, for the first session of budget making. When the present session convenes they will have Councilmen-elect Treser and Genkinger present.

During council's formal meeting today at the City Hall Mayor Gillespie banged his gavel on the desk and suggested:

"Let us set a day to compile the budget."

Council agreed to meet Tuesday.

The mayor suggested that the councilmen-elect be invited and be present. This met with approval and Councilman Davies went further by asking the city clerk to make the invitation a part of the city councilmanic records.

And to show that the present council desires Messrs. Treser and Genkinger present at all sessions which will deal with their incumbency in office, they invited them to be present Monday morning when Louis Round of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Power Company confers with city officials relative to the 1930 electric light contract.

land, where he was secured by Officer George Kennedy.

He was brought back on a process charging him with skipping his bail bond. He claims that his attorney was to have notified him when to have appeared and that his attorney failed to notify him, and for that reason only he did not appear for sentence.

Plan Punishment For Convicts In Auburn Outbreak

Governor Roosevelt Will Act Immediately To Rectify Conditions At Auburn

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Determined to prevent the recurrence of any such terrifying episode as the jailbreak attempt at Auburn prison Wednesday which cost nine lives, Gov. Roosevelt plans to take immediate measures to punish those leaders of the attempt who survived and to rectify conditions which cause prison unrest.

The governor announced he would appoint a special trial term of the supreme court to sit in Cayuga in order to bring the ringleaders of the outbreak to justice. It is believed first degree murder indictments will be asked against nine surviving convicts involved in the death of George A. Durnford, principal keeper at Auburn.

FACULTY CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Members Are Guests At Pleasant Social Affair At "Eastover"

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 13.—A very delightful winter social affair took place Wednesday evening when Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Russell, and Professor and Mrs. Alan B. Davis entertained the Faculty Club of Westminster college at "Eastover," the Russell home, and presented to this organization the Westminster String Quartet, which presented an evening of chamber music. The program was under the general direction of Professor Alan B. Davis, who discussed "Chamber Music" in a few prefatory remarks.

The Westminster String Quartet, which is under the direction of Eldon B. Murray, of the College of Music, is composed of the following: Eldon B. Murray, first violin; J. George Lutz, second violin; Donald Cameron, viola; and Frank Colegrove, violin-cello.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Quartet in C Major.....Haydn
Entire Quartet
Duet.....Charles DeBeriot
Mr. Cameron and Mr. Murray
Five hymns arranged for String Quartet Quartet in C Minor.....Beethoven
Duet.....Spohr
Mr. Cameron and Mr. Murray
Adagio, from "Emperor".....Haydn
Entire Quartet
Musette.....Bach
Entire Quartet

Fifty members of the faculty were present at the delightful formal affair. The Russell home was attractively decorated with colors suggestive of the Christmas season. Red roses were fittingly used as floral appointments.

Aides for the affair were Mrs. W. Charles Wallace, Mrs. C. B. Robertson, Mrs. James McLaughry, Mrs. A. A. MacDonald, Miss C. Dorothy Kirkbride, and Miss Agnes Martin.

Newspaperman To Face Trial For Threat Letter

McKeesport Newspaperman Will Get Trial In Butler For Threatening Mayor Wick

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 13.—The trial of E. Lee Coombs of McKeesport who is charged with having threatened Mayor or George "Bob" Wick of Butler with an "expose" prior to the election here in November was scheduled for this week, but it appeared likely today that it would not be held until next week. The docket this week has been crowded it was reported at the court house with damage suits taking more time than had been anticipated.

Coombs, a former newspaper man here, is alleged to have written a letter to Mayor Wick telling him that a sensational public disclosure of the Wick administration would be made the Sunday before election day unless the mayor "came through with $1,500."

State Grangers End Convention At Indiana, Pa.

Contrary To Reports Election Of Officers Will Not Be Held Until Next Year

(International News Service)
INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 13.—Delegates to the fifty seventh annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Grange today were enroute to their homes following the closing of the sessions last night. Contrary to previous announcements, election of officers will not be held until the convention next year.

The most important change in policy was the increase in dues from eight to ten cents a year. This increase was approved by the delegates when it was pointed that the expenses of the organization have increased greatly during recent years. The Executive Committee will meet in Harrisburg in the near future to select a convention city for next year's sessions.

Tyrone Man Dies From Broken Neck

Cement Mixer Falls From Truck And Pins Workman Beneath It, Neck Is Broken

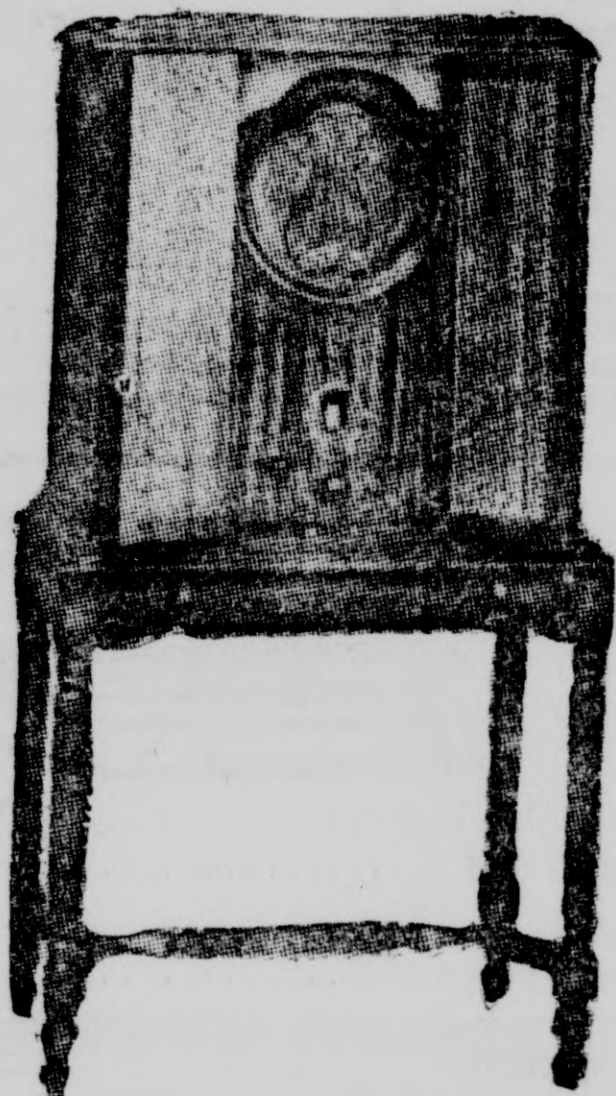

(International News Service)
TYRONE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Earl Mayhew, 35, of Tyrone, was instantly killed here today when a concrete mixing machine toppled from a motor truck, pinning him under it and breaking his neck.

Mayhew, a contractor's helper, was walking beside the truck when it hit a culvert, dislodging the mixer. The widow and five children survive.

Falls Down Stairs, Neck Is Broken, Dies

MAKES COMPLAINT TO POLICE DEPARTMENT

H. W. Lutton, 519 Croton avenue, complained to the police Thursday that when some firemen and officers came to his home to investigate the condition of a hot water boiler, which had resulted in a fire being reported there, that some damage was done to a spotlight and other articles hanging on a partition in the cellar of the house in which he resided. An investigation is being made.

ENCOURAGING SIGN. "Do you think the children are making progress in singing?" "Rather—at first it was only the neighbor's complained but now it's the whole neighborhood."—Lustige Blaetter, Berlin.

Electrifying all the main railway lines of England would mean an annual saving of more than 11,000,000 tons of coal a year according to an expert who puts the saving between coal and electricity at about 20 cents an engine mile.

Illness of 20 people while attending a social gathering at Folkestone, England recently has been traced to the drinking of lemonade which was made poisonous by antimony from the enamel of the jugs in which it was made.

"The World's Most Popular Coffee"—1,442,000 pounds sold each week—75,000,000 pounds during 1928.

This remarkable popularity results from a combination of delicious flavor and very low price. The flavor of Eight O'Clock is so fine and mellow that it won a gold medal at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, and the low price is only possible because of the economies of A&P unified handling from coffee plantation to your local store.

A&P, through its coffee experts in South America, selects the cream of the green coffee crop—then controls every step in the preparation of this coffee for your use—the drying, grading, shipping, blending and roasting.

Eight O'Clock is one of a trio of popular A&P brands which includes Red Circle and Bokar. These A&P coffees are hurried to your local store from centrally located roasting plants under the provisions of the "Time-Control Plan" which makes freshness a definite part of coffee quality.

Judge Eight O'Clock in your own home and confirm the judgment of the millions who serve it regularly.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC CO.

FRESHNESS

Time-Controlled handling means much to the flavor of Coffee. The quicker it reaches you after roasting, the better it will be. A&P with rapid, frequent replacements assures your coffee satisfaction.

Old Battery B Member Dies

One Of Last Survivors Of Famous Battery Passes Away

George W. Pitzer, one of the last surviving members of the famous Battery B, First Pennsylvania Light Artillery, passed away this morning at 5 o'clock at his home, West State street and Grandview avenue after an illness due to the infirmities of his advanced age.

Mr. Pitzer was born in Lawrence county, Pa., September 27, 1840, and was 89 years of age. He had been a lifelong resident of the county and previous to his retirement about 20 years ago had followed the occupation of carpenter. He was one of the best known and highly respected residents of the district in which he resided.

He enlisted June 28, 1861, as a private in Captain H. T. Daprior's Battery B, First Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Light Artillery, Colonel T. Campbell commanding officer.

Among engagements in which he participated were Beaver Dam Creek, Ellison's Mills, Gaines Mills, White Oak Swamp, Malvern Hill, Rappahannock, Gainesville, Second Battle of Bull Run, Cold Harbor, Siege of Petersburg and many others.

He was wounded on the left side of the head in the Second Battle of Bull Run. He was honorably discharged from the service at Pittsburgh, Pa., in August 1864 after three years active service.

Mr. Pitzer was united in marriage to Agnes Chambers at Mt. Jackson, July 26, 1873 from which union were born two sons and two daughters only one of which, Hugh Pitzer survives.

In addition to being a member of Battery B he was also a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Central Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Agnes Chambers Pitzer to whom he had been married 55 years and one son, Hugh also two brothers Frank Pitzer of East Brook road and William Pitzer of New Castle and one sister Mrs. Asel Shaffer of this city.

Funeral services will be held Monday December 16, 1929, at 2 p. m. from the late residence, West State street and Grandview avenue with Rev. C. B. Wingerd pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in charge.

Trying Married Man For Alleged Assault

Guiseppi Antonio Villani Denies Charge Made In Behalf Of Rose Monico

Guiseppi Antonio Villani was placed on trial before Judge Hildebrand in court this morning on a serious charge made by County Detective Fleming in behalf of Rose Monico of 218 East Division street. Villani is a married man 35 years of age and has a wife and five children. Rose Monico is 13 years of age and at the time the alleged offense was committed about the first of last December, she was past 12 years of age. She is a plump and pretty girl, rather large for her age.

The Villani's and the Monico's were neighbors and were on friendly relations. The girl claimed that Villani came to her home during the absence of her parents, ostensibly to use the telephone. She was washing dishes when he came in. He went into the living room where the telephone was located and later called her in to look for a number. It was while she was in this room that she claimed that Villani's indecent attention occurred. She also claimed that he had been with her alone on another occasion. As a result of the visits Miss Monico is the mother of a child. Villani denies the parentage. The case is being tried before a mixed jury of men and women.

Directs Inspector To Return Fee

Greer Maintains Inspector Of Plumbing Not Entitled To Fees

City council today during formal session voted favorably on a motion of Councilman Reeves directing Inspector of Plumbing E. S. Stevenson to refund to the city $66.23, fees, collected by Stevenson.

Phil Greer, city controller some time ago had asked the city solicitor and been informed the fees could not be collected. An attorney for Mr. Stevenson said Stevenson was legally entitled to them.

Today the city controller presented a communication to council which said that in Stevenson's report for July, 1927, he found a list of licenses issued from December 31, 1924 amounting to $240.75.

Of this amount $220.75 was for licenses issued before May 23, 1927, for which the commission would have been $66.23. In turning in the report Stevenson deducted the commission as his fee of 30 percent.

The ordinance allowing the commission was not passed until May 23, 1927 and Greer maintained it was not retroactive. Solicitor White coincided with this view but Stevenson's attorney dissented.

Today Councilman Reeves' motion directing the return was passed.

Local Man Escapes Injury In Crash

Car Overturns On Icy Hill On Butler Road; Car And Bus Skid

John H. Templeton, an employee of the Plant Department of the Bell Telephone Co. escaped injury when his machine overturned on the Butler Road yesterday. A wheel was broken from the car.

Mr. Templeton was enroute to New Castle, when suddenly his machine struck an icy spot in the road at what is known as Cramer's hill, the machine hurling into the ditch and upsetting. Fortunately, he was not going at a rapid rate of speed.

Mr. Templeton states that an auto bus and truck, which were following him, also overturned, and a truck which was following bringing ashes to place on the icy hillside, almost crashed into the other machines. No one was injured.

Three Automobiles Are Stolen Thursday

One Of The Number Has Been Recovered And Returned To Owner Of Same

C. R. James, 1001 Winslow avenue, janitor at the court house, had his auto stolen from the alley in the rear of the county jail, where he had it parked, some time between 4 and 5 p. m. Thursday.

It was recovered this morning, when the police received a call stating that it was located in front of 614 Taylor street, where it had evidently been abandoned by the person stealing it. The owner was notified by the police and secured his machine.

Joe Jarone of Youngstown, reported last night that he had his sedan parked in front of 425 Friendship street and that it had been stolen between eight and ten p. m. It bore an Ohio license, was a 1929 model and was dark blue in color.

Ivor Richards, 206 Lawrence Savings and Trust Company building, had his coupe, Pennsylvania license 863-416 stolen last night between 8:30 p. m. and midnight, while parked in the vicinity of the cathedral. It was a 1928 model.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O King of Love, to whom we are indebted for life with all its mercies and hopes and to whom we owe our devoted allegiance, crown our thoughts with clear conception and good motives; thus fortified may we strive earnestly toward the ideals of the Great Teacher. In all this complicated life inspire us by His illustrious example. With prompt efficiency may we fulfill our daily duties. In our moods, in our meditations, and in our communions lift us above temporary pleasure and emotion; yes, Father, lead us above the common currents and make us to dwell above the contagion of earthly conflict. Through Christ our Savior. Amen.

Texas Guinan Is Established In Chicago Cabaret

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—For a long time one of the brightest of Broadway's bright lights, Texas Guinan, is giving New York's night life the run around, it was learned today when it was announced she had purchased an interest in the Green Mill, one of the largest cabarets in Chicago.

The former New York night club hostess is bringing her 18-girl chorus from the show in Detroit which closed out recently. A jazz band from Gotham will also move in with her. "I'm going to show Chicago that there is just as much fun in a lighted room as in the shadows," she said in announcing the venture.

Chellis A. Austin, New York Banker Is Heart Attack Victim

Prominent New York Bank President Is Fatally Stricken; Dies Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Chellis A. Austin, president of the Equitable Trust Company of New York, died this morning of a sudden heart attack.

Austin was one of the youngest of the prominent Wall street bankers. Within a period of 10 years he rose from a vice presidency of the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company to the presidency of that company; then to the presidency of the Seaboard National Bank, and when that institution was merged with the Equitable Trust Company he was chosen as president of the amalgamated institution.

The Equitable Trust recently moved into a new skyscraper adjoining the Morgan banking offices.

Austin was 54 years old and resided at Upper Montclair, New Jersey. Yesterday afternoon he addressed the meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, declaring that the banks were in a strong liquid position.

Plan For Non-Stop Flight In Pacific, Tokio To Seattle

Corporation Financed For $75,000 Will Back Proposed 4,800 Mile Hop

(International News Service)
SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 13.—Formation of a $75,000 corporation headed by Dr. Alexander Frinstein, Seattle physician and aviation enthusiast to finance a proposed Tokyo to Seattle non-stop flight next May in competition for the $25,000 prize raised several years ago was revealed today.

Sponsors for the 4,800 mile flight have contracted with Bob Wark, who landed a plane atop the Bon Marche building here recently, to pilot a specially built Emco cabin type monoplane in the attempt to span the Pacific along the great circle route.

The single motored plane has been ordered and will be delivered in February sponsors of the flight announced. The plane is designed for a cruising range of 5,300 miles.

Boy Scout News

Kiwanis Troop No. 37.
The Kiwanis Boy scout Troop No. 37 held its regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening in the Arthur McGill school. A large attendance was made possible by the perfect attendance of the silver fox, flying eagle and beaver patrols. Scoutmaster Ron McCoy and George McCracken were in charge of the meeting. Senior Patrol Leader George Thornton presided over the opening and closing ceremonies.

After opening ceremonies a patrol relay race was held and the silver foxes defeated the flying eagles and beavers. Plans were made to have a troop hike Sunday afternoon. The scouts will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 1:30.

Troop No. 37 will be well represented at the state teachers convention as 18 scouts have already promised to serve.

"The Pilot" which is the troop paper will be published once a month.

Instructions in first aid were given by Assistant Scoutmaster George McCracken of Troop No. 15. Different scouts were called on to demonstrate the numerous bandages and ways of transporting an injured person. Each patrol has chosen a first aid team and a contest will be held next Tuesday evening.

A course has been started for patrol leaders and assistants. This course will include leadership training, handicraft and first aid instructions. Sessions are held every Sunday evening from 8 till 10 o'clock.

"Christmas Spirit" Has Been Analyzed

At Christmas Time One Has A Feeling That Comes
At No Other Time
Of The Year

Just What Causes This New Emotion Has Been Carefully Studied By Chemists

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Science has made a chemical analysis of "The Christmas Spirit."

"It is the universal solvent sought by the alchemists of old," declared
Dr. Howard A. Marple, of Pittsburgh,
Thursday, in the journal of the American Chemical Society. "It was an article entitled 'The Chemistry of Christmas.'"

The Christmas spirit was characterized as a neutral chemical that builds new compounds and rejuvenates old. It was held a "reversible compound, for Christmas spirit returns to its original state, ready to begin anew."

Capacity Of Mind
"It has an affinity for good and attacks the bad," continued the article. "Large or small quantities of it can be handled, depending on the capacity of the mind that dispenses it."

"Let us analyze the chemical and physical properties of Christmas spirit as we do any chemical element or compound. It has, at times, an odor of frankincense and myrrh, the odor of evergreens or of burning tapers.
That depends on the place and the heat of reaction. On mixing it, it has a tinkling, joyful sound full taste of all good things."

Energy Unbounding
"Its energy is unbounding, dividing itself a million times it becomes more powerful, creating in most all its meets a feeling of light-heartedness;

in some, a wistful sadness. More often it is like new wine—it refreshes, stimulates, makes happiness and smiles, increasing generosity and good nature."

According to the scientist the world is the laboratory of the Christmas spirit and all those who inhabit the planet may use and enjoy its benefits. Its wave length covers the entire scale of the spectrum. It is a force that cannot be measured in meters or tons, and can be transmitted with the speed of light to extreme corners of the earth, using an ether wave as media.

"Christmas spirit is the universal solvent or alkaliest sought by the al-chemists," concluded Marple. "If it were found, they reasoned, there would be no vessel strong enough to hold it. Is it not true with the Chris-mas spirit?"

"Rightly administered, it pervades the innermost recesses of the stoniest hearts and adds new life to drooping, discouraged spirits. Christmas spirit is the elixir of life that materially influences the chemistry of all human life."

Bridge Worker Is Killed By Train

TIPPECANOE, Ohio, Dec. 13.—The

When It Rains It Even Rains Catfish In Wellington, Tex.

Fish Found In Puddle In Road
Following Recent Showers

WELLINGTON, Tex. Dec. 13.—When it rains in Wellington it rains, there's no doubt about that. Why, it even rains catfish.

At least that's the story and the good citizens here intend to stick to it. For weeks the country around here had been needing rain badly. When it finally did rain, eight inches of water fell in three days.

Following the deluge, several small catfish, ranging in size from two to four inches long, were found disappearing themselves in the middle of a road, with not a single claw as how they got there.

Examination showed no hook marks. The place they were found is approximately eight miles from a stream and it seems hardly possible granting that they were caught and dropped there by accident, that any one would go to the trouble of carrying such small fish home for either eating or boasting purposes.

One explanation advanced was that the fish were probably scooped up by wind and finally dropped when the heavy rain fell.

Anyway it's a good story.

Cambridge Prof. Lives In House Made Of Glass

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—The home of Mansfield B. Hobbes, Cambridge university lecturer, is truly a house of glass. The front door is of wired glass, the entrance hall has a silvered glass ceiling, pillars of cut glass sheets and lemon gold-leaf mirrors. The dining room has a dome of cast glass. Above the electrical radiator is a fountain of black glass. The furniture is of metal and glass.

Louisiana's Governor Returns To Baseball

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 13.—Governor Huey P. Long, of Louisiana has returned to his first love—baseball.

Governor Long, a much feared hurler in his sandlot days, has again turned player, this time as a pitcher in the Ten Can League. The league is made up of old time pros and semi-pros.

Since joining the league, the chief executive has gone into the box several times for his team and on each occasion his teammates were victorious.

English Women Marry At Age Of 23

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 13.—Twenty three is the most popular marrying age among Englishwomen, according to the Registrar-General's review for 1928. In 302,228 marriages in England and Wales 30,664 brides were of that age.

Fifty seven girls married at the age of 15, 440 at 16, and 2,499 at 17. A feature of the year was the large number of men who married women much older than themselves. Twenty-one women of 30 married youths of 20. Seventeen women between 30 and fifty married men of 22.

To Seek Funeral Music Over Radio

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 13.—Radio music for funerals is being sought by New Jersey undertakers. A resolution, presented to the State Funeral Directors' Association today, proposes to establish special programs, which may be used in at funerals. The resolution would have the program broadcast every afternoon at a fixed hour. Undertakers would plan services to fit in with the music.

Sidi Weds Again

For her fourth matrimonial partner, Sidi Wirt Spreckels, above, colorful San Francisco figure, has chosen a youthful army aviator, Lieutenant Roger Alan Gardner, despite reported objections of the youth's parents, who had him transferred from California to Langley Field, Va. Her last husband, Prince Suad Chakir, of Turkey, divorced her when she refused to return to Turkey with him.

Tax On "Laziness" In French City

(International News Service)
DINAN, Dec. 13.—It will not pay to be lazy in the near future when the city council proposes to tax all the lucky ones who are not obliged to work.

This tax which is the first of its kind was proposed by a Socialist member who finds it unjust to tax the incomes of workers in the same proportion as the incomes of those who can be lazy. The bill was passed unanimously urging an immediate "luxury tax on laziness."

Separate Capes To Cover Spring Gowns

By ALICE LANGELEIR
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Capes come in every conceivable cut and combination these days and mean the climax of chic this winter in Paris. More than that, smart dressmakers whisper that little separate capes are going to cover many a pretty spring frock and form a charming ensemble with others.

A slender cape of invisibly-striped brown woolen is heightened by storied folds applied on either side and has nonchalant self scarf. It is worn over a frock matching in colors and graduating in texture.

Short fur capes are very smart worn over tweed and broadcloth coats. In some cases, they are detachable and may be kept around the shoulders when the coat is removed in some of these "coolish" French houses. Lady Aldy is wearing a short broadtail cape about the shoulders of her broadtail coat.

One house is advocating capes and making a lovely black broadtail coat with rounded cape bordered in grey fox. Any length from the hips up to the barest full around the shoulders is very good. Generally speaking, the capes are not cut so very long.

One of the couturiers is making a hip-length cape for evening wear with an ensemble of white velvet. It is colored with white fox. A very fancy cape sewed fast to the coat comes in a dull diagonal woolen. A series of radiating bands cross each other at the back and end in points that rise from the neckline at the center-back to the elbows at the sides where they are attached to the sleeve. The collar is a shawl one in grey fox.

Very snug capes come on tweed coats making a wrap that is not bulky. They are cut short and not full, with only a big collar of fur to top them off.

Death Of Explorer Recalls Discoveries

(International News Service)
PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 13.—The death of Frederick Monsen, explorer and archeologist, today had recalled his discovery of evidences of the fabled "seven cities of Cibola," for which Spanish adventurers penetrated the desert of the southwest early in the 16th century.

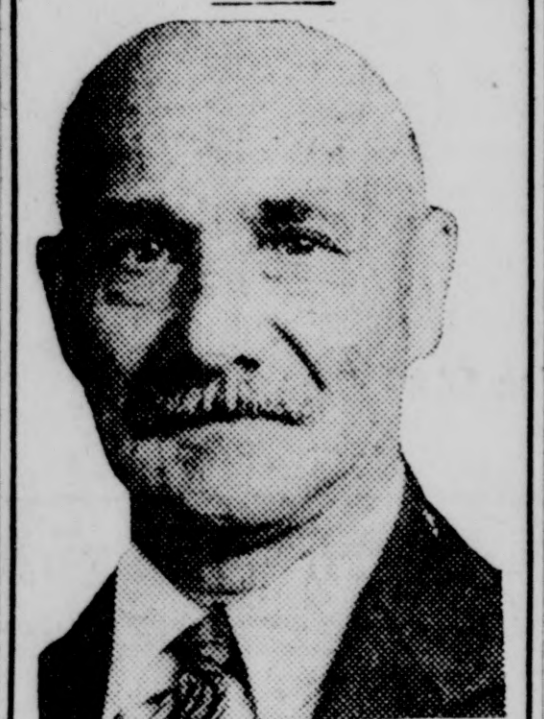

Monsen went to Arizona and New Mexico as a soldier. He remained to become one of the leading experts on the ancient life of the pueblo-builders.

One of his remarkable discoveries was a cave full of Indian skeletons, showing how the Spaniards, incensed at the squalor of the mud villages where they had hoped to find cities of wealth and splendor had massacred the natives.

Watching the ticker wasn't scriptural anyway. "Six days shalt thou labor."

MODERN KONJOLA SCORES ANOTHER FINE VICTORY

Years Of Suffering From Stubborn Ailments Ended When New Medicine Gets Its Chance

MR. MARTIN BOWERS

"I am thankful for what Konjola has done for me," said Mr. Martin Bowers, of Saxonburg, Pa. "For several years I had suffered from stomach and kidney troubles, and from rheumatism. Gas formed on my stomach, and bloating and a pain in my chest were some of the consequences. My kidneys also caused me quite a lot of trouble. Rheumatism was a constant source of pain and I was discouraged over my inability to find any relief.
"But Konjola helped me wonderfully. I can now eat a hearty meal without that distress that used to bother me. My kidneys are in a much better condition and the rheumatic pains have been wonderfully relieved. Knowing what I do about the powers of this new medicine I am glad to recommend it to all who suffer as I did."
Konjola is sold in New Castle, Pa. at McGowan drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Texas Gas Line Runs Into Mexico

(International News Service)
ZAPATA, Texas, Dec. 13.—The first international natural gas line in America has just been completed here, linking Zapata gas fields with Monterrey and giving industries in that city their first opportunity to employ the fuel on a large scale.

2 12-inch pipe line from the Jennings field in Zapata county, crossing the Rio Grande River near here, extends for 146 miles through the states of Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon to supply the Mexican city of nearly 100,000 persons.

Millions of cubic feet of gas daily are to be used in the Mexican city. It is planned to establish other international pipe lines in the near future.

Pipe lines from Texas natural gas fields now extend as far east as Georgia, as far west as California, and as far north as Kansas and Nebraska.

Find Corn Grows Planted In Water

(International News Service)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 13.—Corn will grow in water with only a culture of ingredients corresponding to earth to hold the roots. Dr. F. M. Andrews of the Indiana University botany department says he has demonstrated.

During an experiment corn was "planted" in water contained in half gallon vessels from which light was excluded, but which permitted air circulation.

Dr. Andrews said the demonstration proved that land plants will grow in water if necessary substances are supplied. He said he also discovered that an element missing when the seed is first placed can be added later. Iron was omitted in one case, and the corn plant lost color, which was restored when the iron was added.

Triplets Added To Family Of Nine

Poincare Soon Able To Return To Old Activity

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 13.—Will Raymond Poincare again lead in the governing of his country?

Recalling that a fortune teller more than thirty years ago indicated that the lucky line in his hand would bring him a lifetime of success, admirers are wondering if the present uncertain political situation will force him into the premiership for the fifth time.

The seance with a fortune-teller, a story that "defies contradiction," was revealed by the "Revue Bleue" in 1897 when Poincare quit public life after participating in three cabinets.

The fortune teller lacked precision, according to the story, but she gave Poincare unlimited success on the basis of his lucky line.

History so far justified her. Poincare returned to the government as Minister of Finance in 1906 and became President of the Republic in 1913, after a brief term as premier.

In recent years he forced three ministries and "saved the franc." At the age of sixty-five he is reported to be recovering finely from the effects of two major operations and his published views are hailed by partisans as wise counsel for France's future.

The road has no longer any attraction for small French boys who run away from their homes, as small boys are wont to do since time immemorial. Inspired by the feat of their countryman Alain Gerbault, who circumnavigated the world alone in his "Firecrest," they now prefer the sea instead.

Two Parisian youths, Roger Vermet and George Villars, are the latest to come to grief in an attempt to "do a Gerbault." They made their way to the Mediterranean coast, where they commandeered a fishing smack and set out on an ocean trip which they planned would carry them to the Congo, 5,000 miles distant.

Unable to manage their small craft in the rough sea, they were thrown onto an island, where a fisherman rescued them and brought them back to the mainland. A parental spanking was the net revenue of their adventure.

George Biset's face might have been his fortune if he had bothered to grow a beard.

With a smooth, opulent visage Biset advertised prosperity for his own brokerage business in Brussels.

When the till was well filled, police allege he emptied it into a valise and came to France.

That was eighteen months ago. Today Biset sat down at a cafe terrace on the boulevard. Everything was fine with him and he had been shaving regularly.

His face was easily recognizable and a former client who happened to be at a nearby table instantly recognized the familiar features.

American doctors who studied in Paris thirty years ago can shed a tear in memory of the Taverne du Pantheon. Their Latin Quarter rendezvous has just been put up at a sheriff's sale.

The famous cafe of the "Boul Mich" was patronized largely by "medics" and the starting point of notorious processions to Montmartre in the days when an automobile was a freak.

Students who call a halt for beer in their pursuit for knowledge now go a few blocks beyond the Taverne to Montparnasse where "medics" are lost in the mass of visiting collegiates, long-haired cubists and commonplace whoopee-makers.

Corporations Lose Charters In New York

(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 13.—Approximately 90,000 business corporations in New York state will lose their charters during December because of failure to file an annual franchise tax return during the last five years.

Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn said:

"The wiping out of these companies will not only serve to rid the files in the corporation bureau of much deadwood, but at the same time the way will be opened for the use of tens of thousands of names, many particularly well adapted to various lines of business, but which have been tied up for years even though the company was inactive."

BIRTH RATE IS SHOWING MARKED DROP IN STATE

Figures Indicate Poor Record
For 1928; Native Born
Rate Is Low

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—The number of births registered so far this year with the Bureau of Vital Statistics is so far short of the number registered at this time in 1928 that it seems likely that the birth rate will fall below 20 per 1,000 population for the first time in the history of birth registration in Pennsylvania. In spite of a large increase in population there are no more births in the commonwealth than there were 20 years ago.

The fall in the birth rate has been particularly rapid since 1921. One of the chief causes of this decline in the birth rate is the rapid decrease in the number of foreign born women of child-bearing age.

The birth rate in the native born population has been low for many years but the general birth rate was kept high by the high rate among the foreign born. There have been few additions to the foreign born population in the past 15 years and as most of the foreign born women who were here before 1914 are now past the child-bearing age the general birth rate is now practically equal to the rate in the native born population.

All these persons will be represented by actors of the country in question.

The film begins with the first meeting of Bismarck and Wilhelm II, and ends with the latter's flight to Holland and the proclaiming of the Republic. The manuscript sticks strictly to the historical facts and is to be an objective representation of the Ex-Kaiser's rule. It also takes into consideration the present political situation in Germany.

It was stated that Berthold Viertel, now in Hollywood, might be the director. For the production of the film a special company will be founded with German and foreign capital.

It is expected here that the film will be a sensation in Germany as well as in foreign countries and that it will cause protests from the ranks of German nationalists.

Burial Ground Near Paris Is All For Pets

Island In Seine River Contains Queerest Cemetery In World

CAMEMBERT CHEESE PRODUCTION SHORT

By GEORGE AXELSSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 13.—If there be a dog's heaven somewhere with plenty of bones for the strictly he-dogs and perhaps a profusion of silken cushions for the effeminate pokes, the canine denizens of the Asnieres animal cemetery will have to make the journey in strange company.

For this picturesque burial ground tucked away on a poetical island in the Seine River, extends its hospitality to all sorts of animals, from chickens to tigers.

There is an expensive tombstone with a touching epitaph dedicated to a chicken.

Two young tigers have been laid away here by an appreciative circus owner.

Cats, birds, turtles, monkeys, rabbits, squirrels and guinea pigs are some of the other species who draw flocks of bereaved mourners to this cemetery every day in the year, rain or shine.

Most of these mourners are women. An elderly lady can be seen every day dissolved in tears before a grave containing two doves. The epitaph discloses that they were her only friends for twenty years. Another woman, veiled in black crepe, kneels on the tomb of a cat. She prays continually, plants flowers and weeps.

Plots do not come cheap in this cemetery. $120 is the minimum cost. Yet, many of the plot owners are people apparently in modest circumstances. The place is laid out like a miniature cemetery. Tombstones, wreaths, shaded, well kept alleys, even the flowers seem reduced to Lilliputian size.

"Ching Ling Foo, my best and devoted friend; he loved only me." This is a typical epitaph on a dog, and dogs, all breeds and varieties, are still in the majority out here, as befits his place as most beloved of man's animal companions.

Those who do not like cheese will take heart in the announcement that next year's output of the Camembert variety promises to be seriously curtailed. This is due to the action of French dairy farmers who have just decided that the cheese makers are not paying them enough for their milk. Consequently, the farmers now keep the milk for other purposes.

At the present time the strike included only the Bray district, but it threatens to spread to the Neufchatel country. If it does, the gourmets who appreciate the succulent, savory Camembert and the delicate cream cheese, are due for a sore disappointment in the spring. Unless they want to drown their sorrows in Limburger.

Although France produces some of the best wines in the world today, she is a sincere advocate of temperance. In her colonies, France is fighting alcoholism with much success, as will be revealed in a series of exhibits at the International Colonial Exhibition, to be held at Vincennes in 1931.

In French Occidental Africa, the consumption of alcoholic beverages was more than a pint per person sixteen years ago, according to statistics. In 1927 this figure had dropped to less than 2-5 of a pint.

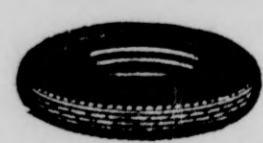

The Colonial exposition will also feature exhibits showing how the French doctor builds an efficient hospital on the African jungle's edge, how the teacher conducts his classes in the wilds of Madagascar, and the missionary erecting a chapel among the tropical verdure of the forests of Indo-China.

Americans living in Paris would like their letters from abroad delivered to them more promptly. To this effect, the American Chamber of Commerce has sent out questionnaires to a selected list of American business houses asking them to examine their incoming mail for a period of fifteen days to see just how long it takes a Paris postman to make his rounds.

It is not unusual to wait as long as 48 hours after the ship has reached the French port for mail to be delivered. The fault sometimes lies with the post-office clerks who work in shifts.

When sufficient evidence has been obtained, it will be submitted to the French postal authorities in an effort to ameliorate the situation.

It is estimated that America now has 17 distinct dialects not counting the new Hollywood British.—The Buffalo Evening News.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Marie G. wants to know why it is that older women, "especially widows", take every beau she gets away from her. She never lost a beau, sezshe, that she didn't lose him to an older woman not nearly as pretty as she is.

Marie should take inventory. Not of the men or the older women, but of Marie. If she isn't too selfish she will find the answer. But in case I'll tell her as she begs an answer. A young woman makes demands. She thinks her youth and beauty entitle her to rule men.

An experienced woman gets a great deal more and never demands anything. She wheedles, connives, suggests, promotes, but the male doesn't know what she is doing. He is quite as mystified as Marie about how it's done.

Demands breed resentment. Men often go all the way through life, blindly happy and not knowing they are being wheedled. But what's the difference? The big idea is to be happy and they are.

You have to please the people with whom you want to surround yourself or you find yourself not surrounded.

The older woman who gets Marie's beaux doesn't try to get compliments from a man. She tells him how nice he is. Just the kind of eyes she adores. She loves his black hair. She thinks bald-headed men always have the best dispositions. She likes them short. She thinks that men who wear glasses are invariably smart. If he wants to read once in a while she doesn't think it's because he doesn't love her any more. A man can't endure the queen of all beautiful women if she dogged his footsteps and ran after his every thought.

I'll make you a bet that when her beaux smoked in the house Marie choked and wished out loud that they wouldn't. Of course she doesn't smoke. Then probably puts the things that are socially correct FIRST. She expects to stand still and let him run all the distance after her. Older women meet them half way. That's one of the secrets.

Perhaps tries to make him jealous.

That gets dreadfully monotonous. Any woman who loses the man she loves is wasting time when she complains. Post mortems won't bring them back. Either he was not the one for her, or she fell down on her job.

I know what Marie is going to say to me in the next mail. But she asked for it. I can hear her tell me that older women trick their prey. Not at all. They put themselves out to make the men they want happy. A perfectly legitimate procedure. But a selfish girl, no matter what her age, could never do it. The unfailing rule that people get out what they put into life, makes the selfish girl a luckless person.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The Panama Canal
Part 5—The French At Suez And Panama

IN 1859 A FRENCH COMPANY, HEADED BY THE FAMOUS ENGINEER, FERDINAND DE LESSEPS, COMPLETED THE SUZ CANAL CONNECTING THE MEDITERRANEAN WITH THE RED SEA.

THE SUZ CANAL
LENGTH—104 1/2 MILES
WIDTH—150 FEET
DEPTH—ORIGINALLY 26 FEET—NOW 240 FT.
COST—ABOUT 127 MILLION DOLLARS

THE CANAL OFFERED A DIRECT ROUTE BY SEA FROM EUROPE TO INDIA AND THE FAR EAST, ELIMINATING THE LONG VOYAGE AROUND THE CONTINENT OF AFRICA.

HAVING ACCOMPLISHED THIS FEAT, DE LESSEPS SOUGHT TO DUPLICATE IT IN AMERICA. HE PICKED THE ISTHMUS OF PANAMA AS THE BEST ROUTE FOR AN INTER-OCEANIC CANAL, AND SOON A FRENCH COMPANY WAS ORGANIZED, WITH DE LESSEPS IN CONTROL, TO UNDERTAKE THE PROJECT.

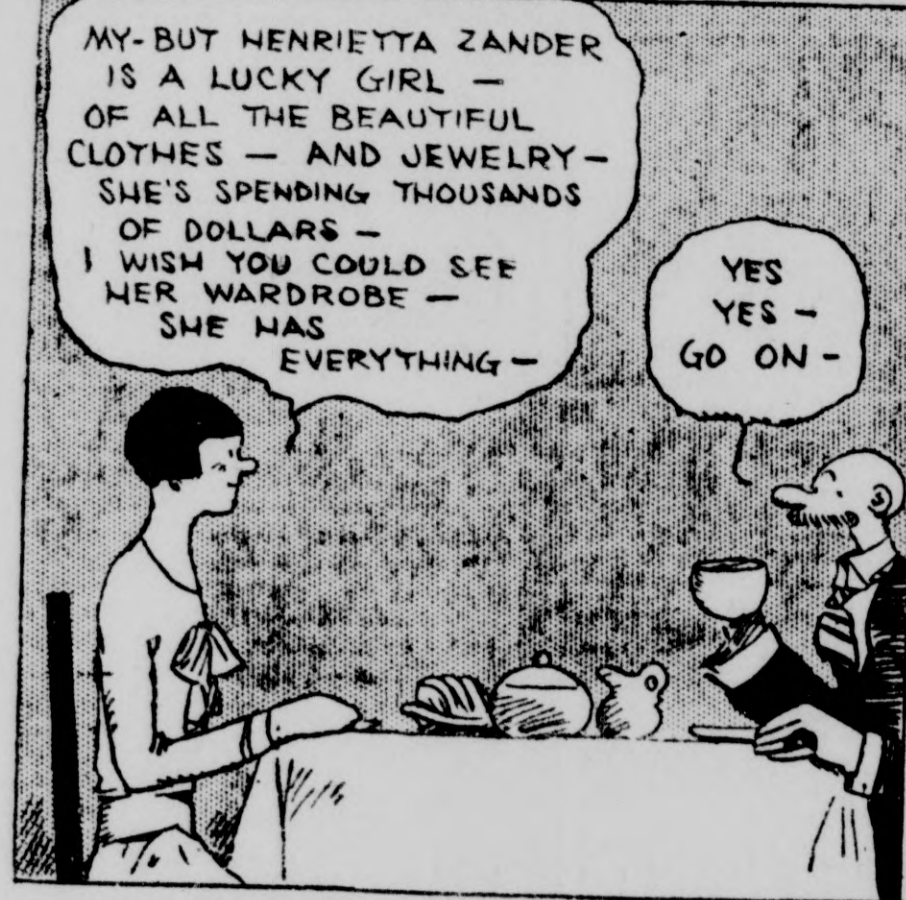

THE FRENCH COMPANY TOOK OVER THE GRANT TO A RIGHT OF WAY ACROSS PANAMA WHICH WYSE, A FRENCH ENGINEER, HAD SECURED FROM THE COLOMBIAN GOVERNMENT IN 1878, AND THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE CANAL WAS BEGUN IN 1883.

Basketball Season To Open Here Tonight

New Castle To Play Wilkinsburg

Locals Prepared To Open Floor Season With Wilkinsburg At High Gym

CAME TO START AT 8:00 O'CLOCK

By CHARLES LANDOLF
NEW CASTLE High School basketball team will inaugurate the 1929-30 floor season tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the senior high gymnasium with the Wilkinsburg High quintet, as their opponents.

The locals are not losing much time in getting started with the floor campaign. This game along with three more scheduled 2 with Washington High and another with Wilkinsburg are to get the Red and Black cohorts in shape for January 13 when they start the W. P. I. A. L. grind.

Coch Brudenbaugh drilled his "baseballers" for two and one half hours last night and appeared to be satisfied.

The first team smothered the second stringers in a practice game yesterday. The second stringers caged but one field goal. Coach Brudenbaugh spent several weeks developing the offensive and defensive part of the floor game and appears to have it now.

Francis Wanio a new comer with the squad this year looked impressive in the workout last night. Alexander also played well at center. The positions are not yet cinched by an individual.

Just what kind of a team Wilkinsburg is bringing to New Castle tonight is not known but Coach Elmer Carroll former W. & J. star has been giving his floormen plenty of work-outs and he will more than likely bring a team that will give the Red and Black warriors plenty of opposition. Wilkinsburg has been known to have some good teams for the last two or three years.

On December 20 the locals will travel to Wilkinsburg to open the season at home for the Wilkinsburg team.

The lineup tonight will probably be Nick Uram and Ralph "Red" McAuley at the guard position, Arthur Alexander, at center, Francis Wanio and Russell Hannon at the forward posts, Luther Rowe, Winter, Merle McIntosh, Dick Thomas, and Di Thomas on reserve. Faculty manager Ralph H. Gardner has everything arranged for the game. He stated that the game will start promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

Jackie Fields Will Box Gorilla Jones

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Dec. 13.—With no fear for the "Friday the 13th" jinx—because his title is not at stake, Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, world's welterweight titleholder, tries to crack a hard nut when he clashes with Gorilla Jones, clever Akron negro, at the Boston Garden tonight.

It was to be the second meeting of the pair, Fields having won a decision in their first meeting last October.

MIDGETS WIN GAME

The Shenango Motor Midgets defeated the Carnegie Midgets, 18 to 14, in a basketball game played last night at the Carnegie auditorium.

NOT A TOTAL LOSS

Central Christians Trim Evergreen M. E.

Youngstown Church Team Subdued By Locals; Meet St. John's Team Tonight In Church League

The Central Christian church basketball team defeated the Evergreen M. E. team of Youngstown, O., 34 to 13 in a floor game. The Christians also defeated the Jacksonville Indies recently by a score of 25 to 20 at Jacksonville. Tonight the Central open their quest for another church league title by meeting the newly organized St. John's Lutheran team at the "Y".

The Christians have a well balanced team as shown by their two recent victories. In the game at Youngstown the locals led at the half 12 to 10, and in the final half scored 22 to 10, while the visitors could only tally but three points. McClure, E. Bauman and Vago led the offensive attack for the Christians. Schultz was the best for the losers.

The following are members of the Central Christian team this year: E. Bauman, A. Bauman, A. Cowmeadow, Fred McClure, Dave Vago, L. Smith, Johnny Watson, Mike Paulini, W. Porter, M. Smith, Wylie Schick and several others.

On Monday night of next week the Christians meet the Y. M. C. B. class of the First Methodist church of Sharon on the Sharon court. On Wednesday, January 1, the Christians are billed at Butler. During the month of January the Centrals will play in Ellwood City, Youngstown, Sharon, Beaver Falls and Butler.

The lineup and summary of the Evergreen-Christian game at Youngstown:

Evergreen M. E. 13	Cen. Chris. 34
Schultz 3	Hall, Harrison 3
Vago 3	McClure 6
Bauman 4	Paulini, Cowmeadow 5
Smith 1

Field goals—Schultz 3, Hall, Harrison, Vago 3, Watson, McClure 6, E. Bauman 4, Paulini, Cowmeadow 5. Fouls—Evergreen M. E. 3 out of 12, Central Christians 0 out of 2. Referee—Jones.

SEEKER MUST WEAR TIE

FITCHBURG, Mass., Dec. 13.—You can't become an American citizen without wearing a necktie—at least not at the naturalization session over which Chief Justice Walter Peirley presided. When Evangelist J. Ghemes appeared in quest of citizenship papers the judge noted that he had no cravat. The candidate was obliged to go out and procure a tie before being passed.

It Was Grit That Chip Displayed In His Quest Of Pugilistic Fame

By ED. FRITZ.

Tales of yesteryear are never out of season, especially when the tales are woven about public characters such as George Chip, middleweight who reached the highest pinnacle in his profession. Time and again, during boxing bouts, we have paused and tried to decipher psychology, inasmuch as on innumerable occasions some fans have vented their hysteria on George Chip, as a referee.

Knowing George for many years back, it may not be amiss for us to mention a few incidents in his career after which it is probable that some of the boys who are so unkind as to hurl unwelcome remarks at him will ask themselves: "Have I treated that man right?"

George was a coal miner in his teens and later he took to boxing. He was considered of the "plodding type" which some claim to be the backbone of our nation and the type which arises to great heights when the occasion demands. He was not of the "in-and-out" or erratic type. A consistent performer was he.

Long before he received the chance to make the most of his opportunity he had been successful. True he was hammered around but inevitably it was George who came through before the finale with the knockout. And then came the big opportunity, a chance to fight Frank Klaus, then considered the 158 pound champion.

A few hours before he was to leave New Castle to meet Klaus at Pittsburgh he was called to the bedside of a sister on what proved her deathbed. Realizing his sister had had a relapse George wanted to call off the fight; cast away what proved his golden opportunity. He was ill at heart, depressed.

But his sister then nearing the end of life's span spoke bravely: "No, George. You can do no good. Go, box and may success crown your attempt." It was with tearstained eyes and a heart heavily-laden that he boarded a train to oppose who then was considered the world's best 160-pounder.

His mind was at home when he crawled into the ring and it was grit that carried him out to the center when the bell clanged for action. The fans yelled, stamped and the hysteria of the mob was evident in many ways. For several rounds, Chip the contender, was buffeted about like a blade of grass.

And then came the closing rounds of the six sessioned affair. Chip had braced and Klaus was being outfought at close range. Frank was amazed. Never before had an opponent stood and walloped, blow for blow, to head and stomach and then finally... the blow! It stretched Klaus out.

As his frame heaved with the stress of battle George Chip was crowned the champion of the middleweights. He had enjoyed success, pugilistically, but the shouts were mere babble. His heart was at home, likewise his thoughts, all for the sister.

He hurried home on the next train. It was not long after that that they laid the sister away but it was her command and Chip's grit that carried him through. Later he fought Klaus a second time and the result was the same, except quicker.

And then came another blow. Joe Chip, a brother had been matched to box a second time with Al McCoy, almost an obscure middleweight of the east. Injuries incurred in the initial fracas had incapacitated Joe and George, as the champion of the world, agreed to substitute.

McCoy, the unknown and Chip, newly made king, stepped into the ring at Brooklyn and before Chip had properly got his bearings he was knocked out. He took the count of ten, prone on his back and when he awakened Al McCoy had been awarded the championship.

This dampened George but that undying grit carried him on and a few nights later he met Knockout Brown, the husky Greek lad and perhaps one of the toughest middleweights in the world. They fought at Akron and what a fight it was!

That was Chip's second start. He travelled from coast to coast, lake to gulf and across the wide Pacific to the Antipodes where he met Les Darcy, perhaps the greatest middleweight of a score years. Without waiting to be rid of his sea legs or within three weeks time, Chip and Les were up and at it.

Until Chip crossed the Pacific the Australians had never seen anyone stand toe to toe and slug with the Great Darcy. Of course Chip was on the wrong side, but his unquenchable desire to provide a fight and his undiminished grit carried him on toward the middle of the 20 round bout.

Along about the ninth Darcy got home the blow he had been expected to deliver long before it was delivered. Chip was counted out. The news went across the ocean and to every clime where the cable and telegraph wires reached—"Les Darcy scores another victory; puts Chip away."

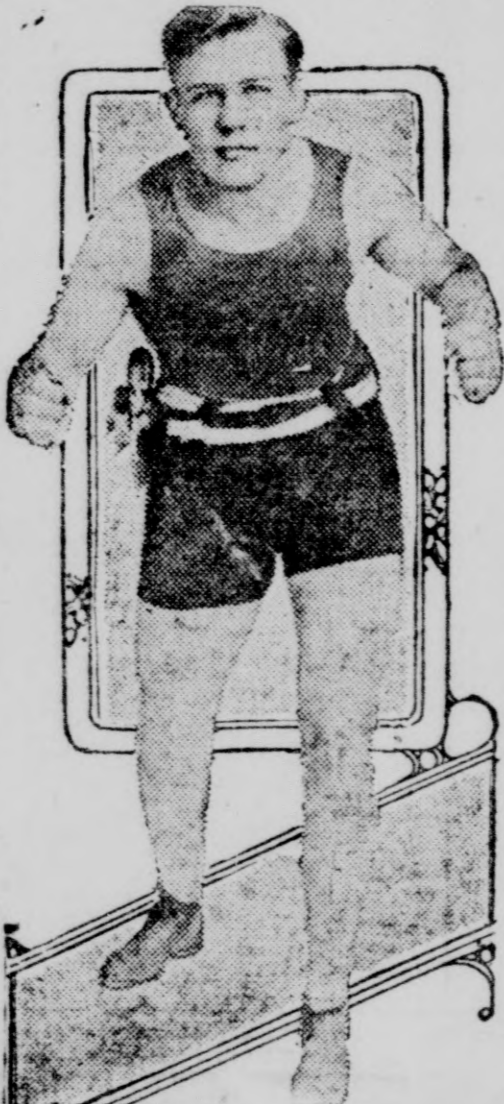

Not Discouraged
George came home, defeated, but proud and he carried on. Into every big city he carried the banner of New Castle. While others had paraded as New Castle exponents of Hit and Miss he was the one who more firmly than any other gave New Castle a name in the world of boxing.

He fought 'em all, the Gibbons brothers, Clabby, Dillon, McGorty, Murray, the sailor, Petrosky, Martin Burke, et al. He never asked mercy, never gave mercy. He was 'in there' to make the fight should his opponent fail to meet him half way.

Finally Old Man Nature came along and his day sank into night insofar as his pugilistic prowess was concerned and like the fame of the great thespians, it flickered like a candle and has subsided. Today he is a referee at Jolly bowl where some forget the part he had in helping to make the "Fight game."

But the world hustles along. As a referee the mob that once sang his pugilistic praise now hysterically yells: "Break 'em! Whadaya let 'em hold for?" But Chip, as consistent as ever, plods along, tries to please the crowd some of which evidently has forgotten him as "Chip the Gritty."

Injuries incurred in the initial fracas had incapacitated Joe and George, as the champion of the world, agreed to substitute.

Westminster Quintet Trims Slippery Rock

Coach John Lawther's Titan Five Look Impressive In First Game Of Season

Score Is 39 To 18; Kocheran And Delehanty Lead Attack From Field

Look out for the Westminster basketball team in the tri-state district this year.

Such was the warning broadcast from Slippery Rock last night as Coach John Lawther's big "Titan" quintet posted a 39 to 18 defeat on the Slippery Rock Teachers' College five in the kick-off of the 1929-30 schedule. The game was played at Slippery Rock.

It was the first endeavor of the season for the Blue and White passers, yet they worked with a smooth running and passing attack not unlike mid-season form. Lawther used the majority of his reserves in the game to see what they could do. He was rewarded by the subs scoring 14 points, mainly through the efforts of Kocheran and Brownlee, who had seven buckets between them.

Clicked Smoothly
As for the first team, of the team that started, John might not call them regulars yet, but they worked like a well oiled machine, clicking nicely in their passing and uncanny ability to locate the hoops. "Scats" Delehanty started right in where he left last year by sinking the big inflated ball five times. Captain "Babe" O'Donovan tallied three times, "Bill" Crowell had two baskets, and so on.

At the end of the first half the score favored Westminster, 22 to 7. Slippery Rock had a forward named Campbell who only scored 10 of their 18 points, via three field goals and four fouls. He was the works for the Teachers.

Have Fine Team
Professor "Gurk" Graham said today that this first one was "in the bag" and "Bob" didn't have to exercise very much prerogative to make such an assertion. The Westminster team, varsity and subs combined, gave a pleasing demonstration of their ability. They are going to be hard to beat.

William "Bill" McLaughlin, a former New Castle high boy, played a forward post for the Teachers, and while he was held scoreless from the field, made up for it on the foul line by caging two out of three chances.

Westminster, for the opening game of the season, looked very good, which augurs well for a good year in district competition.

The summary:
Westminster 39 Slippery Rock 18
Hamas ..... F ..... Campbell
O'Donovan ..... F ..... McLaughlin
Crowell ..... C ..... McClelland
Delehanty ..... G ..... Bark
Rice ..... G ..... Morris
Subs—Westminster: Kocheran for Hamas, Brownlee for Crowell, Blamer for Rice, Seifert for O'Donovan, Conidine for Seifert, Newton for Hamas, Hamas for Kocheran, Fisher for Delehanty, Slippery Rock: Capaio for McLaughlin, Fehrenbach for Bark, Westlake for Capaio. Field goals: O'Donovan 3, Crowell 2, Delehanty 5, Kocheran 4, Brownlee 3, Campbell 3. Fouls: Westminster, 5 out of 11; Slippery Rock, 12 out of 20. Referee: Cal Bolster.

Football Fan Picks All-Time City Team

Unknown Writer Sends His All-Time City Football Team To News; It Is Good One

A letter reached the sport desk today from an ardent football fan of New Castle, picking an All-Time City football team. The writer says that this being the season for selecting All-Americans and winter overcoats, that it was only fitting and proper to name a few New Castle players of the past who would make a good strong team if combined in one group. Here is the way the writer of the anonymous letter has the players listed:—

Ends—"Tal" Bevan and Jim Vogan, Tackles—"Toots" Custer and "Miz" Dart.
Guards—Alec Fox and Kemp. Center—Harry Robinson. Quarterback—Ralph Day. Halfbacks—Hen Larson and H. Patton. Fullback—"Bunny" Rosenblum.

There is not much hope for the person who makes work the last expedient for getting along.

Baseball Moguls End Meeting In New York City

Annual Conflab Of Major League Baseball Managers And Officials Over

SEVERAL CHANGES ARE RECORDED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Their annual pow-wow over, owners and representatives of the two major league baseball clubs today were homeward bound, no sadder, perhaps, but certainly no wiser.

The joint session of the two leagues under the watchful eye of Commissioner Landis which was expected to result in the settling of several important matters, produced little.

The developments were: Approval of a motion made by Colonel Jacob Ruppert of the Yankees to increase the number of options players from eight to 15 and the right to send purchase players out for three years instead of two.

Further discussion of a committee of four to go over major and minor league matters for the purpose of making a report and appropriation of a total of $65,000 to three enterprises.

The league owners also adopted two resolutions from the Baseball Writers' Association of America. One provided for the appointment of an official scorer in each city by the president of the league instead of by the individual clubs.

The other provided a committee of four to go over the scoring rules to make them uniform in each league.

The Brooklyn situation remains the same. From the fans' point of view the most important accomplishment of the sessions was the agreement by both leagues to shorten the playing season.

McLarnin Battles Goldstein Tonight

New York Fans Will Pay $90,000 To See Boxers Match Punches

GOLDSTEIN NOTED FOR ECCENTRICITIES

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—There will be no great prize fight between Jimmy McLarnin and Ruby Goldstein at Madison Square Garden tonight, provided two prize fighters are on their feet when the prize fight starts, there being a certain amount of natural doubt on this point, owing to Mr. Goldstein's eccentricities. These are very whimsical. In fact, the only thing absolutely certain about tonight's program is that 20,000 spectators and one prize fighter will show up at the appointed hour.

However, there is a rumor that Madison Square Garden is a place where prize fighters fight, and so New York, determined to confirm this, is sending its second $90,000 of the current week on a tour of investigation. The gate tonight, as a matter of fact, very likely will beat $100,000. Apparently the only smart sap is the kind that runs out of a tree. The kind we have around here never runs out on anything. It was the latter species that provided $50,000 for the finale of the six-day bicycle race on Saturday night, $40,000 for two hockey matches in the interim, and $66,000 for the Scott-Von Porat affair on Monday.

May Get Break
Maybe he is due for a break tonight. It all depends on Mrs. Goldstein's little boy, Rubin. A great blither, perhaps the greatest, pound for pound, of the generation, he seems to be like the average practical joker. Of all the world's best punchers, he likes his own best. Another thing he insists upon is that the man he hits must remain hit for the evening. If he doesn't Rubin is liable to swoon right away from sheer astonishment or something. Most of them do stay hit, which is one of the reasons that $100,000 worth of New York money is going to the Garden tonight. The other is Jimmy McLarnin. He may go down but, if he does everybody knows that he will get up.

Of the 66 fights Goldstein has had as an amateur and professional this happened only twice before, and both incidents were ruinous to the young man. He had Hudkins on the examination the first time the Ace showed in the East, but Hudkins arose, much to Rubin's chagrin. They were counting the latter out five minutes later.

Fell Before Tervis
It took him a year to recover his assurance after that one, then he went forth to do battle with Sidney Tervis, another piece of rare porcelain from the East Side. Sidney also forsook the perpendicular in the first minute of play, but speedily resumed his stand and discontinued Rubin with a punch. This incident so disconcerted Rubin that he went about for a time making matches and forgetting to fight them. This didn't pay. Anyhow, Rubin has fought his way back into the $100,000 class and, throwing out the Hudkins and Tervis fights, it may be that he belongs there. Certainly he has the most impressive knockout string of them all—54 in 66 fights. That's hitting in any man's league. McLarnin, of course, is a puncher in his own right, with knockouts to show for it in at least 50 per cent of his fights.

Therefore, if Rubin remembers to attend, there undoubtedly will be $100,000 worth of prize fight tonight. It is Friday, the 13th, McLarnin is 18 to 5 to win and he is even money on a knockout, yet you can't keep them away. Why? Because the punch is mightier than all else.

Missouri U. Girls Save Their Stockings

(International News Service)
COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 13.—A new wrinkle in the stockingless fad among women has been introduced here by the appearance of two University of Missouri co-eds on the streets of Columbia with brightly colored slippers and water proof hats, but without hose—and it was cold, too.

"Mud-splattered silk hose don't look best on girls nor are they comfortable," one of the girls said. "It is much easier to remove mud from our bare ankles than to wash our hose."

"There out to be a law against walking on the streets without stockings," countered a merchant.

Among Hockey's Heroes

Now that our cities have brought the outdoors indoors by building refrigerating rinks, hockey is establishing itself more popularly than ever as America's great winter sport. A strenuous game for you, full of spectacular action—speedy and thrilling in every particular! To play big league hockey even the less agile players must be whizzes on skates and know how to handle the stick in hard-bitten physical combat. Its body-checking details are as muscle-jarring and as important as the technique of good line play and "take-out" assignments in football. The game is far faster and fully as rough as gridiron embroilment.

Hockey has its hall of heroes, fully as imposing as those of other sports. Take "Ching" Johnson of the New York Rangers, for example. He's as colorful as baseball's Babe Ruth and almost as important in his chosen game. Watch "Ching" on defense, at which he is a master. Note his body-checking if you care to see expert demonstrations of what that detail of hockey is. When a swiftly violent body-check is needed during a vital moment in the game and "Ching" is near the zone of action you'll think the historic "Tack" Hardwick of Harvard football "take-out" fame is on skates when you see Johnson body-check 'em!

The big league ice battlers have a score of other defensive marvels but "Ching" Johnson comes close to being the best all-around body-checker that ever donned skates.

What "Ching the Checker" is to defense, "Ace" Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs is to offense. He was 1928's high scorer with 22 goals and 10 assists. A crack goalie's supreme test in his ability to fend off most of Bailey's shots that zip towards the cage from all angles. Despite the aid of the flashing "Ace" the Maple Leafs got off to a bad start in the International league race. With competition so keen Toronto may need at least two other "aces" to win consistently. And they don't produce that many Bailey-style aces in a decade.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Chuck Taggart, promising though inexperienced light-heavyweight of Butler, Pa., last night lost on a technical knockout to Ike McFowley, veteran light-heavyweight of Johnstown. Taggart was dropped twice in the second and again in the third. The towel was tossed into the ring to save him from further punishment. Persons who know how the pugilists compare will not rave over McFowley's feat or the brilliance of the match, as it was uneven. Taggart is game but outside of that lacks lustre.

Frank Taberski, defending champion, captured his second game in three starts and moved into third position by winning from Joseph McCann in the second game of the world's championship pocket billiard tournament at Detroit. He won 125 to 31 in 12 innings.

It is not yet known if Bill Jolly wants to run a boxing show Christmas afternoon. He may decide to keep the bowl dark until next spring.

An affidavit sworn to by Leo Houck, former middleweight now a referee, charges Chairman Frank Wiener of the Pennsylvania Athletic commission directed him to "take care of" boxers Weiner "favorable." The chairman has not been located and Philadelphia scribes have not yet secured a reply to Houck's charges.

Fred Russell, southpaw of the Pirates, has been released to Buffalo.

Johnny Rich and California Joe Gans meet in a 10-round bout next Monday night at New Brighton.

Ruby Goldstein and Jimmy McLarnin are expected to attract $100,000 worth of cash customers when they box in Madison Square garden tonight.

RITTICISMS

By WILLIAM RITT

The big leagues held their annual meeting in New York and the main topic discussed was how to keep warm.

The playing season was shortened to keep the world series from becoming frostbitten.

Connie was at the American league meeting and received congratulations three months late. The other managers wished him less luck in 1930.

It was said that the Cubs might have won the last classic if they had been allowed to wear skates. But that remark cut no ice with Connie Mack.

At the National league contest it was reported that over 4,000,000 paid to see what team was to be allowed to lose the series.

After the meeting it was discovered the lively ball was a dead issue.

Next year's meeting may be more lively if only some one remembers to bring a checkerboard.

Of course intolerance will end when at last we separate Church and State. Look at Russia.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Heavy Market Trading Recorded Early Today

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Bears in the stock market in the first hour today paid part of the price of yesterday's victory over the bulls, as prices of the leading industrial shares were jerked up 3 to 9 points in a brief period of furious trading. Thursday's final selling wave crowded the short side of the market and the professionals who put in bids for large blocks of stock at the opening found little available at current prices.

Transactions in the first half-hour totalled 772,000 shares, double yesterday's first period volume.

United States Steel jumped ahead to 172 for a gain of 5½ points. Standard Oil moved up about 9 points to 123, Dupont 7 points to 120, American Can 9 to 121½. Radio started the year's lowest price at 37, for a block of 20,000 shares, rallied sharply to 44.

Consolidated Gas sold up 5 points at 99½ and Columbia Gas 4½.

With the bulk of the short covering out of the way, the bears started a new attack on some sections of the market. Fox Film A was again under fire and dropped off 6 points to 17. General Electric and Westinghouse failed to hold their gains, and "drives" against the pivotal stocks netted the bears a few points. The coppers and oils were steady, with narrow price changes.

After reaching a price of 237, General Electric old stock fell away sharply to 222. Selling orders piled in, the stock tape fell behind 20 minutes and the bears were again in control, in some sections of the market.

A $33,000,000 increase in brokers' loans this week signaled to these professionals the return of weak margin traders to the market, many of whose stocks were purchased at or near the peak prices of the rally. For that reason a further break in prices was thought possible, a conclusion which was justified by the sharp drops in values in the second hour.

United States Steel turned backward all the way to 165½, down 1½ from Thursday's close. New York Central was down 3 points at 171. General Electric down 11 at 221, Fox Film A down about 8 points at 35½.

Johns Manville down 6 at 115, Columbia Graphophone down 1½ and Westinghouse down 1½, measured from the level of Thursday's prices.

General conditions in the business and financial world were unchanged with call money at 4½ per cent and over-the-year-end time money firm.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Not much wonder the weather is out of step when the calendar says Friday the 13th. According to those master minds of mysticism this is the day when black cats have the center of the stage, hard luck is supposed to have the edge and the safe and sane man stays in bed. And then he takes a chance on the gas stove going hay wire.

The street car operator said this morning he figured this was just the preliminary to an old fashioned January flood with both rivers climbing like a wildcat stock.

Road driving last night was hardly a pleasure, for the warm air and the cool ground produced a fog that held you back. And between here and Sharon there was plenty of fog. Reports from Franklin were that the rain froze to the roads up in that country, and a lot of Franklinites who were due in New Castle last night never got here.

Sharon has its Christmas lighting decorations turned on, in State street. After seeing theirs I'm hoping that New Castle gets as pretty a layout. Not only are the buildings decorated profusely, but the street itself has many odd combinations. One unique piece is a shower of colored lights that seems to rise from the girders of the bridge.

Up at the Cathedral the Caliphs of Bagdad were making whoopee until nearly midnight, and trying to park a car in that neighborhood was like trying to find room for a piece of mince pie after a turkey dinner.

From the number of green fezzes around the building you might have thought that a convention of Orientals was in progress, but the number of dinner jackets made it appear something like a conference of waiters.

Motorists using that end of Hazel-croft avenue near the Wilmington road have a genuine complaint. The improvements to the road have left a hole just off the concrete which is the finest trap you can imagine for holding cars. Some of the neighbors are thinking of establishing a community towing service to pull cars out of the mud. The work needed to fix the trouble is small, and it is hoped that the supervisors of Nesham-nock township will have a few minutes some afternoon to fix it up.

In the past few days I've done a little roaming around the streets downtown and after looking at the window displays of the stores here, and seeing what is inside, about the only reason for shopping outside New Castle would be the need of a ride. The stock here this year seems heavier than usual, the quality of the goods is high and the prices are right. Even if you forget that shopping in New Castle is good business for everybody you can still remember that you can't beat the prices here.

Snapshots of a department store. Ten people trying to get waited on at once. A youngster crying his weariness at being dragged around all day. Another one endeavoring to pull the tail off a hobby horse. Still another one trying his hand at train wrecking. A cautious lady wanting to know if she can change it for a larger size if the necktie doesn't suit. A couple of mere men trying to compete with lady customers. What a life. Sales-girls holding their tempers in spite of provocation that would call for a sock in the nose down on the south side. The whirr of cash cars or whatever you call those little boxes that get your change. No lady, we don't have any size 58. And aside to a neighboring salesgirl, "what she needs is a surcingle."

Bride Of Few Weeks Is Dead From Burns

WASHINGTON, Pa. Dec. 13.—Mrs. Annie Olenick, 17, bride of a few weeks, died in the hospital here early this morning, from burns suffered in a powder explosion in her home at Penowa, near Avela, on November 29. Her husband, Joseph Olenick, 22, is a patient in the hospital suffering from burns but will recover, it is stated. They were married only a few weeks ago. They were engaged packing a can of blasting powder which Olenick intended to use in his work in the mine. A quantity was spilled on the floor. The young bride swept it up and threw it in a coal stove.
